VICTORY FOR THE HOMEOPATHS Board of Health Exceeded Its Power

in Vaccination Case. Advocates of the homeopathic method of vaccination won a decided victory in the district court yesterday in the case brought by Edward Canning and other patrons of the public schools of this city against the local Board of Health, which last spring promulgated an order to the effect that every pupil attending school be required to show a certificate of vacsination by scarification.

The matter came before the court on a Injunction issued by Judge Green, restrainng the Board of Education from admitng to the schools all such pupils who had failed to obey the order of the local Board of Health relative to being vaccinated by the scarification method, which is the method prescribed by the State Board of Health.

Two points were raised in the case. One was that there was no need at this time for compulsory vaccination, as there was no epidemic of smallpox, and the other point was that neither the State board nor he local Board of Health had the right to Miscriminate against any method of proved by any standard school of medicine.

Judge Macy dissolved the injunction is requisition sued by Judge Green on the grounds that there was no epidemic or threatened ept. The controversy has attracted wide attention and interest among homeopaths throughout the United States and a number of prominent physicians of that school were in attendance at the hearing yesterday. The case on behalf of the advocates homeopathic method was represented by Congressman Walter I. Smith terday was occupied in hearing a motion from the defense for the dismissal of the case against Clyde Dunning for fraudulent banking on the ground that the drawing of the grand jury that returned the indictment was illegal. The defense sets up the claim that the grand jury was empanelled on the first day of the term, instead of the second, as the law provides, and therefore that the was fixed at $2,000. Being unable to secure indictment will not hold. Also that four of the members of the grand jury that returned the indictment were depositors in the Day Dunning bank, and therefore prejudiced against the defendant; and also that the box from which the panel was drawn held only eleven names, instead of twelve, as the law provides. For these reasons it is asked that the indictment be declared defective and the case dismissed. The attorneys for the defense this morning and immediately after dinner argued these points before the court.

The court overruled the motion to dismiss and the case went to trial this afternoon, and the talesmen are now being examined with a view of getting the jury to try the case, County Attorney H. M. COLE'S HOT BLAST

AN IMITATED STOVE-GET THE ORIGINAL

MITATIONS of this original Hot Blast are many. None of them has the absolutely air-tight and gas-tight construction throughout which Cole's Hot Blast has by reason of its numerous patents. A patented steel collar connects the elbow draft to the stove body and can not open by action of the fiercest heat. The patented compound hinge on the lower draft can not warp, and the draft door closes air-tight by its own weight. The patented smoke-proof feed door prevents smoke, dust or gas escaping when fuel is put in the stove. Perfect results, therefore, from any fuel. The heavy fire box protects the points where other stoves burn out first, and insures great durability. Read the following letter:

Gentlemen:

Logansport, Ind., January 12,1994,
I am using four Cole's Hot Blast stoves borning Anthracite coal in all of them, and they are cheaper, give better satisfaction, less trouble more heat and are easier controlled than any rowe I ever used. I have tried two imitation Hot Blast stoves, but returned to
