PRETTY BOOTHS AND PRETTY GIRLS

Attractions of the Highest Order Are Offered and Apparently Are Appreciated by the Patrons of the Fair.

The second night of the Orphans' fair at the Auditorium brought a large attendance, uch larger than is usual for the first ights of the fair. Many of the crowd cayed the entire evening, admiring the pooths, watching the demonstrations of the advertising exhibitors or buying pretty things, which were on sale everywhere. On account of the number in attendance and the general interest taken by the public, he management predicts a very success-

Dimick's orchestra gave a good program of popular music. Instead of the drill which was to have been given by the Counell Bluffs Woodmen of the World, the Boys of Woodcraft repeated their exhibition of Thursday night. They are a thoroughly trained body of youngsters, and the opinon was expressed that it was worth the price of admission to see them drill.

The only part of the fair not in working order is the big side show in the basement, inder the stage. The staging and enclosures were completed yesterday afternoon, but some details of the shows to be looked after made it impossible for the side show to open last night. Dave O'Brien and John O'Hearn, who have charge of this department, state positively that the show will be in full swing tonight. Among the attractions will be the Fantanas, the Illusion, the Loop the Loop and "Emory in an artistic stunt." The nature of the latter show not told, and it is said a pleasant surprise is in store for the public.

Some Beautiful Booths. It was remarked last night that one of the prettiest booths was that of St. John's parish, which presents a front of six large white Grecian columns. Another very artistic one is the booth of St. Peter's church, All its appointments, rugs, curtains and armor decorations suggest the oriental, and these beautiful things, together with the erable animated discussion and were finally sliver and glass displayed, are worth per- adopted. haps $1,500. day. In the afternoon there will be a mati- exclusive jurisdiction over its own organinee, with music by Dimick's orchestra. In zation. the evening the shows will be running and teams from Company E, Woodmen of the World, will engage in competitive drill. There is also a good musical program. The booths not already mentioned and se in charge are:

IRRIGATION FIGHT IN COURT Leavitt Seeks to Have His Case Taken from Federal to State

Jurisdiction.

A motion to remand in the case of Hayward B. Leavitt against E. A. Hitchcock, Nebraska, and the Irrigation secretary of the interior; John H. Mickey, governor of Nebraska, and the Irrigation loard of the State of Nebraska was argued before Judge Munger in the United States circuit court Friday afternoon, and the matter taken under advisement by the court. Isaac E. Congdon appeared for the plaintiff and United States District Attorney Baxter for the defendants.

The suit grows out of irrigation matters in Scott's Bluff county in which the government is interested. Application was the government and by Leavitt to take rigation purposes and permission to de so was granted to the government, but denied to Leavitt.

Leavitt appealed the case to the district

The average number of years for which back taxes were due was eight, extending as far back as 1863. On the treasurer and is assistants devolved the whole task of preparing the books, and perfecting all the details for the sales. It was, as Mr. Fink says, a colossal piece of work, and yet in the carrying out of the provisions of the law there was not a hitch of any kind in the office of the county treasurer.

In pursuing the duty thus imposed upon him Mr. Fink was called upon to decide numerous questions of procedure, and in every case taken into the courts he was upheld all along the line. No official duty made to the State Board of Irrigation by of such dimensions was ever carried through with the completeness and satiswater from the North Platte river for ir- faction to all concerned, for the reason that every bidder and every taxpaver was treated exactly alike. No favoritism was shown to any person or corporation, and county officials from all parts of Necourt of Scott's Biuff county and the case braska have taken the Douglas county system, inaugurated and perfected by Freasurer Fink, as their model.

Protection and Prosperity.

Protection and Prosperity.

You can say as much as you will and you can theorize as much as you choose to the contrary, but the fact remains that the desire to make money and get ahead in the world rests with us all. It is the inspiration that carries us forward whether we are day laborers on the street or in professional or mercantile business. It is an honorable desire, unless pushed to excess. We strive because we want happiness and comfort and safety for those dependent upon us and ourselves, and because we wish to leave our families well provided for. The promotion of this purpose by any political party is an honorable one. Those politices of a political party which assist us in bettering our condition, in furnishing renumerative labor and business are worthy policies and those we can well stand for.

In all times in the history of the world there never has been a time of such tremendous progress in the material development of any country as we have seen right here in the last lifty years. You may study the geography and history of the earth in vain for a swifter and better development than ou can find in Nebraska.

I sometimes hear of people who propose to leave Omaha and Nebraska and go to some other place, where they believe conditions are better, My advice to them is the advice I have always acted upon personally. It is that there are more gold mines and more silver mines right here in the last ten years Nebraska has produced farm products to the total value of $2,000,000,000, about the size of our mational debt at the end of the war of the rebellion. These statistics I obtained from the Department of Agriculture by personal investigation and they are true. The value is double that of all the gold and silver mines in the nation during that period. In Nebraska are the possibilities of the greatest commonwealth in the union and room for twenty times more population than we have.

No Time for Tariff Tinkering.

Colossal Task Accomplished by Treas nrer Fink During His Term.

Some idea of the work accomplished by County Treasurer Fink in inaugurating and carrying out the scavenger tax sales can be had from the following figures:
The total number of tracts on the delinquent list was 33,953.

Of these 17,948 defaulted, 12,621 were paid and canceled and in 3,348 cases answers were filed in court.

Through sales to individuals 5,234 certificates were issued, covering 11,178 pieces.
Sales by certificate to the city of Omaha, city of South Omaha, county of Douglas and state of Nebraska numbered 6,770, making a total of 17,948 separate pieces so disposed of Cowell Supports the Ticket.

Robert Cowell, like Mr. Wattles, was greeted enthusiastically. Said he, after detailing his early associations with the I came tonight to place myself on record

I came tonight to place myself on record as being in thorough accord with the result of the primary election and of being an out and out supporter of the ticket which was elected at that time. When I was about to resign as chairman of the republican county committee there were some whispers that I did so because some candidates of the opposite faction were chosen as nominees. When I retired I stated that I was in accord with the primary returns and would support the ticket from top to bottom. If it could be shown to me beyond peradventure that there was any man on this ticket who would be a discredit to the office and who is unqualified to fill the place because of dishonesty or incompetency. I would feel that my obligations were released. But as I look over the list I can say that in my knowledge of local politics I have never seen a more satisfactory or better ticket, take it all in all.

He then went down the ticket, from the the first candidate to the last, told of the qualifications and record of each, announced that each man had his personal support and vote and urged his hearers to ollow his example.

Mr. Leslie and the other speakers spoke of the necessity of registering and said that they did not believe the registration on primary day would be found valid by the courts. In this case registration must be made over again in order to qualify for participation at the November election and in the municipal primaries next spring

Altman is Out a Watch.

Joe Altman, 1312 William street, lost a watch and chain as a result of the quarrel with Nisborg, which occurred Thursday night at Joe Pezdirt's saloon. This Altman sets in addition to a severe scalp wound inflicted by a beer bottle in the hands of Nisberg. When Altman threatened to whip Nisberg he stripped off his coat and vest and threw them on the floor, after which he started around the bar. Someone picked up the coat and vest and laid them on one side out of the way. Altman's sister was sent after the coat yesterday and discovered that the watch and chain were missing. Altman had left the coat in Pezdirt's saloon when he ran out with the blood pourling from his head. Nisberg and Pezdirt deny having touched the coat or having seen anyone else near it during the day. If the watch was stolen it was probably done during the excitement. Some of the police officer seemed to think that perhaps some of ... 'man's friends took the watch tor safety and will return it to him; others, that in that case they would have taken the cout and vest also. Detectives were detailed or the case.

Injunction Against Union Pacific. Injunction Against Union Pacific.

An application for an injunction was filed in the United States circuit court Friday afternoon by Theodore Fredihoff to restrain the Union Pacific railroad from trespassing on his property in Flatte county near Columbus. Fredihoff's property lies adjacent to the Union Pacific right-of-way, and he alleges in his petition that the railroad company is taking more than its share of the right-of-way and that his property is being damaged in consequence. The case is transferred from the district court of Platte county.
