THE TWENTIETH CENTURY FARMER

as a high class weekly agricultural magazine is an exponent of up-to-date soil culture and in fulfilling its mission it and keeps him abreast of the times in all the varied departments of agricultural activity.

MAKES THE FARMER INTELLIGENT

HOW DOES IT DO IT

By posting its readers every week on modern methods of cultivation and improved stock raising.

By keeping them constantly in touch with the latest achievements of experimental agricultural science.

By procuring answers from practical farmers to questions on any subject connected with work on the farm.

By instructing and entertaining the women and children and advising them in matters of household economy for the farm home.

By reporting fully yet concisely agricultural society discussions, farmers institute work, agricultural fairs and stock shows.

By giving accurate and prompt information of current changes in market quotations on what farmers have to buy or to sell.

ST. LOUIS CALLS FOR LABOR

Appeals with Flattering Offer of Wages in Vain to Omaha Workmen.

LATTER BUSY AND SATISFIED AT HOME

Here Work Here Than Can Be Done by the Time Freezing Weather Stops Building Operations.

High wages offered laborers and plasterers for construction work at St. Louis have not succeeded in luring workmen away from Omaha up to the present, according to statements of men well versed in the labor situation.

Advertisements appearing in the Omaha papers offer $4.50 a day for building laborers and $6 a day for plasterers. This is more than laborers are getting in Omaha, but some plasterers are earning as much and none receive less than $5 a day. Laborers on buildings are drawing all the way from $3 to $7.50 a day. Every man in town who wants to work and can has a job, and there is plenty to do in sight until hard freezing calls a halt in construction.

Omaha Men Satisfied.

"The laborers and plasterers in Omaha are pretty well satisfied," said a Omaha labor man. "Other tradesmen feel the same way. While there has been no increase in the minimum wages during the summer, yet the maximum has gone up. Contractors have frequently bid for skilled labor, and as much as 70 to 75 cents an hour has been made to the best artisans. A very small proportion of the floating class is in Omaha, and most of the men who are capable of working on buildings are heads of families. The St. Louis offer does not attract them very much. It is generally understood that more and heavier work is expected of laborers there than here, especially from hod carriers and the like. There is all the work here that can be done and a trifle more. Rather than take chances in St. Louis, the Omaha workmen will remain here. As a general thing, the supply of labor is pretty nearly equal to the demand. The big shortage is in teams. A number of big construction jobs are being delayed because teams cannot be had to haul brick and other material. Since the paving began teams are at a premium. "It is not likely that the St. Louis proposition will cut any figure in the Omaha labor market."

MAN HURT BY STREET CAR

Colored Driver, Whose Wagon is Wrecked, is Severely Injured in Collision.

William Carter, colored, is driver for Joe Levine, furniture dealer of 304-306 North Sixteenth street, was badly hurt about 5 o'clock Monday morning by being thrown from his wagon, which was struck by a street car at Sixteenth and Chicago streets.

Carter was driving a van from Levine's warehouse with a big load of furniture, and in crossing Sixteenth street the van was struck by the car. He was thrown from the van to the pavement, striking on his head and shoulders and rendered unconscious. He was taken to his home on North Twenty-eighth street in a hack by Mr. Levine. Dr. Romm was summoned.

Carter's injuries are regarded as serious. It is feared he is suffering from concussion of the brain. He was also injured about the hips and abdomen.

The wagon, which was thrown over on one side, was badly wrecked, and six sideboards, constituting a part of the load, were completely demolished. The horses escaped injury.
