Washington Intoduces President. President Booker T. Washington then presented the president in the following words: This is a great day for the Tuskegee normal and industrial institute; too great to be described by words. We have gathered to hear but one voice, to see but one face.

In presenting our guest to the students, teachers and citizens, I must not omit to express the gratitude felt by the people of the Tuskegee institute and by the people of the Tuskegee institute and by the people of both races in this section of Alabama for the honor which has been conferred upon them. The chief magnatrate of our beloved republic of $0,000,000 people deemed it good and wise to include Tuskegee institute in his trip, through the south and spend a few hours seeing the work we are doing here, brings to the heart of every man and woman of our race in this country a degree of encouragment and inspiration, which it is impossible for any American citizen, not of our race, fully to appreciate. My friends, without further words of mine, I have the pleasure and the honor of presenting to you the president of the United States. Hon. Theodore Roosevelt.

Address by President. The president was given an ovation as he rose to spoak. He said: that the pagro be encouraged to make him-self a citizen of the highest type of useful-ness. It is to the interest of the white peo-ple that this policy be conscientiously pur-sued and to the interest of the colored peoole that they clearly realize that they have opportunities for economic development here in the south not now offered elsewhere. Within the last twenty years the industrial operations of the south have increased so tremendously that there is a scarcity of labor almost everywhere, so that it is the part of wisdom for all who wish the pros-perity of the south to help the negro to become in the highest degree useful to him-self and therefore to the community in which he lives. The south has always de-pended and now depends chiefly upon its native population for its work. Therefore, doubly important to train every available man to be of the utmost use by developing his intelligence, his skill and his capacity his intelligence, his skill and his capacity for conscientious effort. Hence the work of the Tuskeges Normal and Industrial Institute is a matter of the highest practical importance to both the white man and the black man and well worth the support of both races alike in the south and in the north. Tour Life students are not only being elevated in head and heart, but also trained to industrial efficiency, for from the beginning Tuskegee has placed especial em-

Training in these three fundamental directions does not embrace all that the negro or any other race needs, but it does cover in a very large degree the field and the negro can at present do most for himself and be most helpful to his white neighbors. Every black man who leaves this institute is better able to do mechanical or industrial work and adds by so much to the wealth of the whole community and benefits all people in the community.

The professional and mercantile avenues to auccess are over-crowded, for the present best chance of success awaits the worker at some mechanical trade or on the farm, for this man will almost certainly achieve industrial independence. I am pleased, but not in the least surprised, to learn that many among the men and women trained at Tuekegee find immediate women trained at Tuskegee find immediate employment as leaders and workers among their own people and their services are generally sought by white people for various kinds of industrial work, the demand being much greater than the supply. Viewed from any angle, ignorance is the costlest crop that can be raised in any part of this union. Every dollar put into the education of either white man or black man in heart yields rich dividends to the entire community. Merely from the economic standpoint it is of the utmost tone entire community and the economic standpoint it is of the utmost consequence to all our citizens that institutions such as this at Tuskegee should be a success. But there are other and even poort. In the interest of humanity, of institutes and of self-protection every white man in America, no matter where he lives, should try to help the negro to help himself. It is in the interest and for the protection of the white man to see that the negro is educated. It is not, the duty of the white man to see that the negro is protected in property, in life and in all his legal rights. Every time a law is broken, every individual in the community has the protection of the white man to see that the negro is protected in property, in life and in all his legal rights. Every time a law is oroon, every individual in the community has the protection, and there is oroname to any one section, and there is oroname to any one section, and there is no continued to any one section, and there is no continued to any one section, and there is no continued to any one section, and there is no continued to any one section, and there is no continued to any one section, and there is no continued to any one section, and there is no continued to any one section, and there is no continued to any one section, and there is no continued to any one section, and there is no continued to any one section, and there is no continued to any one section, and there is no continued to any one section, and there is no continued to any one sect employment as lenders and workers among their own people and their services are gen erally sought by white people for various kinds of industrial work, the demand being

Appreciates Tuskegee.

I heartly appreciate what you have done at Tuskegee, and I am sure you will not grudge my saying that it could not possibly have been done save for the loyal support you have received from the white people round about; for during the twenty-five years of effort to educate the black man here in the midst of a white community of intelligence and culture, there has never been an outbreak between the races, or any difficulty of any kind. All honor is due to the white men of Alabams, to the white men of Tuskegee, for what they have done. And right here, let me say that if in any community a misunderstanding between the races arises over any matter, infinitely the best way out is to have a prompt, frank and full conference and consultation between representatives of the wise, decent cool headed pien among the white men and the same of the colored men. Such a conference will always stand to bring about a better understanding and will be a great help all around. Hitherto I have spoken chiefly of the obligations existing on the present white man. Now let you renember on the other hand that no help can permanently swall you save as your lives develop capacity for self help. You young colored men and women, educated at Tuskegee, must by precent and example, lead your fellows towards sober, industrious law abiding lives. You are in honor bound to join hands in favor of law and order and to war against all crime, and especially Appreciates Tuskegee.

You have made real and great progress. According to the census the colored people of this country own and pay taxes on something like $300,000,000 worth of property, and have blotted out out over fifty per cent of illiteracy. What you have done in the past is an indication of what you will be able to accomplish in the future under wise leader accomplish in the future under wise leader-ship. At the capitol the president was welcomed on behalf of the city by Congressman Wiley. Governor Jelks delivered the W. address of welcome for the state and addressed the president. The president spoke briefly and said in part:

briefly and said in part:

I cannot sufficiently express the pleasure I feel in being here and being greeted with more than a lavish warmth of hospitality. Oh, my fellow citizens, think what a privilege is ours, think what it means for this nation, that there is no place in the union where the president of the union can feel more at home, can feel more that he is indeed the president of the union, of a reunited and indissoluble union, than speaking here under the shadow of the first capitol of the confederacy. In speaking to all of age and younger still, you will not grudge me saying a special word of greeting to the veterans of the great war. Here is no other people of which history tells as having passed through such a war as we have passed, now after forty years finds not only that the flag which had been rent asunder is once again whole, without a seam, but finds all her people challenging as theirs the right to claim their part in the heritage in the glory bequeathed to every American allike. As the governor pointed out, the greatest and most important single export of our people is the export of cotton. The whole nation is concerned in the welfare of the culton growers. It is the cutton crop which determines the balance of trade as being in favor of this nation, the trade of the entire nation and the national government are bound to do everything possible in the interest of the cotton growers. Probably no state in this union is more interested in the building of what is to be the greatest engineering feat the world has yet seen, the building of the isthmian canal. The cotton crop largely goes to Asia, and, of course, the canal greatily shortens the route to Asia. Our influence in the orient must be kept at such a pitch as will insure our being able to guarantee tuir treatment to our merchants and manufacturers in the markets of China. We must insist upon having fair treatment and as a step toward getting it we must give fair treatment in return. I would demand that on ethical grounds alone. I would demand it also on grounds of self interest.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 24-The govrnment resumed railroad service on few roads today, but under great difficulties. and say in no uncertain way that a bank shall be like Caesar's wife, absolutely above auspicion, before it shall have the endorsement of the association. There is nothing more serious than a bank failure. There may be a multitude of failures in other lines of business and the public takes but little notice of them, but let a bank fail, however small and insignificant the institution may be, and it is embiazoned to the world in the biackest headlines. In a measure confidence is shaken and all banks, however ably, bonestly and conscientiously conducted, suffer. Unjust as this may seem to be and is to those who are conducting their institutions, whose honor and integrity are as sacred to them as their own family, yet it is not wholly without reason when one calls to mind that about every so often a defaination or failure occurs which startles the world.

I cannot see any reason why the bankers of a state cannot organize along the same lines as the clearing houses in our great cities for their own protection as well as the protection of the aposition, and I firmly believe this will be the uitimate end and object of bankers' associations. Every good bank welcomes publicity and feels that the money paid the examiner is well spent if the examiner only does his duty and is rigidly conscientious in his examination. association of this kind will necessarily be slow, but it will surely come if every step taken is for a closer union of bankers, not a combination of banks to scheme for greater profits, but a union of bankers who realize above all else that confidence, absolute honor and integrity is their chief asset and represents far more than the capital and surplus or big totals as shown in their published statements.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 24.-The an-

Count Witte is said to have informed the emperor, in his usual fearless manner, MOSCOW, Oct. 24.-The strikers have that he could accept the position only on the condition that he would be a real premier, with a working cabinet, and not the mere figurehead of an irresponsible body. ## WOMEN'S NEGLECT

SUFFERINGTHESUREPENALTY

Health Thus Lost Is Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compoun How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong? hear every day the same story over and I do not feel well; I am so tired all the time!"

More than likely you speak the same words yourself, and no doubt you feel far from well. The cause may be easily traced to some derangement of the female organs which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything backache, bearing-down pains, flatulency, nervousness, sleeplessness, leucorrhiga. These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result. The never-failing remedy for all these symptoms is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Miss Kate McDonald, of Woodbridge, N J., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I think that a woman naturally dislikes to make her troubles known to the public, but restored health has meant so much to me that I cannot help from telling mine for the sake of other suffering women.

"For a long time I suffered unfold agony with a uterine trouble and irregularities, which made me a physical werek, and no one which made me a physical wreck, and no one thought I would recover, but Lydis E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me, and made me well and strong, and I feel it my duty to tell other suffering women what a splendid medicine it is."

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write to Mrs Pinkham, Lynn. Mass. for special advice-it is free and always helpful.
