Present indications threaten "Holy Russia" with the danger of soon becoming "holy smoke."

That Allegheny bank failure came just in time to relieve the minds of people who were watching the Philadelphia situation too closely.

The Real Estate exchange is preparing for its annual election and a request for the loan of a voting machine will be next in order.

Chicago dental college students arrested for rioting will hereafter know better than to infringe on the privileges of students at classical schools.

That "growing question" fake offers the easiest known way to fill up editorial space. That doubtless explains why it is resorted to so frequently.

Now that the republican candidate for district attorney has resigned in favor of Jerome, Governor Folk may reconsider his announced determination not to talk.

The September trade statement of the Department of Commerce and Labor is respectfully referred to as "tariff-rippers" for what consolation they can get out of it.

The incident in the local court where two men of the same name responded to one jury summons offers a fruitful subject for some ambitious comic opera writer.

Congress will be in session within six weeks, bringing in its train Reed Smoot and a number of other problems which the American reading public has almost forgotten.

If half a day can be cut off the trip from San Francisco for Mr. Harriman, it will be only a matter of time when it will be cut off for every transcontinental traveler.

If John D. Rockefeller does not put in liberally to the fund of the popocratic candidates for regents, who promise to return to him his $67,000, he will be an ungrateful wretch.

The opponents of Mr. Roosevelt's rate regulation policy have one satisfaction. If defeated at Chicago they can appeal to the United States senate, where no power yet devised will stop talk.

Stopping the "leak" in the cotton statistics does not seem to have stopped the excitement which follows the publication of the reports. Maybe there is more than one hole in the skimmer.

It is not necessary to say anything against Harry Degel, or his administration of the register of deeds office, except that Frank Bandie is quite competent to perform the duties just as well.

General Gomez is quoted as predicting a revolution in Cuba. The general should learn a lesson from some of our political forecasters whose reputation as prophets is greatest farthest from home.

Secretary Hitchcock's recommendation for the abolition of land office receivers will hardly be popular with the officers affected. If any one is to be abolished the receivers would much prefer to have the registers decapitated.

AGAINST AMERICAN INTERESTS.

Eastern merchants interested in the Cuban trade assert that the pending commercial treaty between Great Britain and Cuba is distinctly hostile to the trade interests of the United States with the island republic.

It appears probable, however, that the treaty will not be ratified. The objections to it submitted by the American minister to Cuba have had the effect, it is stated, to awaken the Cuban Chamber of Commerce and the Economic society to a realization of the false and dangerous policy to which the government has committed itself.

PHILIPPINE DEVELOPMENT.

There are what appear to be authoritative intimations of a movement in congress, with the support of the administration, with a view to promoting the industrial and commercial development of the Philippines.

It is thought that with leading republicans in congress and the administration supporting a bill having these objects it will not meet with very much opposition. At present Philippine products pay 75 per cent of the Dingley rates, so that the proposed legislation would be a very material concession.

THE PUBLICITY PROPOSITION.

According to some reports from Washington, the president's proposition, as announced in his Raleigh address, that officers of the government shall be empowered to examine the books of railroad companies, as bank examiners examine the books of national banks, and that the Interstate Commerce commission be authorized to prescribe the books every railroad company shall keep, has caused some consternation in the whole camp of the railroad forces.

It is pointed out that the proposition is the same in principle as that advocated by Mr. Roosevelt with regard to corporations generally and approved in the anti-trust legislation of the fifty-seventh congress. The bureau of corporations was then authorized to inquire into the affairs of all corporations, railroads included, for the purpose of ascertaining if the laws were being violated.

Stopping the "leak" in the cotton statistics does not seem to have stopped the excitement which follows the publication of the reports. Maybe there is more than one hole in the skimmer.

MONITOR ARE NOW IN THE PENITENTIARY.

Then again some others who never took such advice, but went into Wall street, now own six automobiles and play poker.

It will be just like some enemy of Mr. Bryan to rise up and say that the reported uprising of Minstano Moros came immediately after the announcement that Mr. Bryan was going to visit the Philippines.

EXPANDING THE SQUARE DEAL.

The president is pleasing the south. He is taking the sort of politics to which the people are not accustomed and showing them it is possible for a president to remember he is the head of the nation and not of some particular part.

WHERE WAS THE INSPECTOR?

A mechanical expert in the navy testifies that the boilers of the gunboat Bennington would not have exploded and killed a number of its crew had $20 more been expended in building them.

STILL ROOM FOR SETTLERS.

The series of articles which The Bee has been printing on land conditions in northwestern Nebraska are pointed and timely in explaining to what extent opportunities still remain for new settlers.

FOURTH-CLASS POSTMASTERS.

Some New Restrictions on the Perquisites of Congressmen. Washington Post. Since the president's return to the capital there has been announced a new departure in the appointment of fourth-class postmasters.

RAILROAD LOBBIES IN ACTION.

Sample Instance of Smooth Work as Practiced in Missouri. Governor Folk's Speech at Philadelphia. Let me tell you how the railroad lobbyist operates in Missouri.

Barometer of the Boom.

Railroad business is booming. In forty-one weeks of the present year more freight cars have been ordered than for any previous entire year in the history of the industry.

One Knocker Stunned.

It is safe to say that Governor Vandenberg at Mississippi sees nothing in the president's southern trip to warrant the enthusiasm which it has aroused in the southern heart.

Effect of Good Advice.

A banker has recently given this trenchant advice: "Work hard, live within your income, look cheerful." Nothing wrong with the form of this advice. Many people who formerly flouted just such

BITS OF WASHINGTON LIFE.

Minor Scenes and Incidents Sketched on the Spot. One of the conspicuous features of the scenery in the national capital, especially at night, is an overabundance of whisky signs.

The merry wayfarer with a throat has no difficulty in satisfying his needs. Electric signs blaze the way and tell where particular brands are to be had.

Washington Post reporter, said there was growing disorder and evil in the community as a result of liquor traffic as now carried on. Public opinion has vastly increased in favor of placing heavy restrictions upon the liquor trade.

A bureau chief remarked recently that by a little figuring he would be able to reduce the number of annual reports desired this year by a thousand copies.

Efforts are to be made by the heads of the Treasury, War and Interior departments to drive out the users doing business within those departments and to break up certain organizations formed for money lending purposes only.

One flagrant case that came up in the Treasury department is said to have resulted in the present warfare against the 10 per centers.

Robert Bacon, first assistant secretary of state, was formally initiated into the "kitchen cabinet" a few days before the president's departure for the south.

What has hitherto been considered next to an impossibility will be an accomplished fact next Sunday afternoon in New York city.

A curious phase of the present activity in all branches of industrial enterprise is the scarcity of skilled labor and the resulting shifts to which manufacturers are sometimes put to retain the services of their employees.

When Pinchot got home he was met at the door by the ancient negro manumy who has been in his family for years and who was Pinchot's nurse.

Ex-Governor Hoag of Texas, has sued the railroad for $1,000,000, for personal damages. Herr Bebel, leader of the German socialists, is 66 years old and has been in public life since he was 20.

Tommy Jones—You ask how a boy can best learn to be a lawyer, to his parents and his brothers and sisters. Let him become the greatest lawyer in a great insurance company.

When your child is ill you dislike to make it take bad tasting medicine. Hence it is well to know that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is very pleasant. But it is a medicine, a strong medicine.
