Prices on Board of Trads.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Threatened total paralysis of railroad traffic in Russia caused a sensational advance here today in the price of wheat. At the highest point of the session the price of the May option showed a gain of 25c compared with yesterday's final quotation. December was up 15c. The market closed at practically the top figures of the day. Coarse grain shared in the bullish enthusiasm, December corn light of the day. Coarse grain shared in the bullish enthusiasm, December corn finishing it up and oats in the bullish enthusiasm, December corn finishing it up and oats in the provisions are up a shade to it.

With the markets of Europe all agitated over the critical situation in Russia the wheat market bere opened amid marked excitement. Clamorous counting by shorts was simultaneous with a big investment demand. The result was an unusual buying demonstration. An advance of 1014c in the price of wheat at Liverpool formed the immediate cause of the opening furore. Offerings at first were exceedingly measure and consequently initial quotations showed radical gains, the May option being up in the consequently in the consequence was up in the consequence of the section of the section of the section of the section of the season white heat. Under cover of the excitement there was heavy selling of the December option by a leading long. There was also liberal selling by commission houses. This arrests the section of the beauty of the commission houses.

run so late in the week it is hardly necessary to state that buyers were acting on the bear side of the deal.

The supply of corn-fed steers was the largest of any day so far this week. There were a number of right good loads of corn-feds, some of them better than any that have been here in some 1.78. Owing to the liberal supply of cattle buyers were inclined to take off a little, but the decline on right good corn-feds was not so marked, perhaps weak to 10c lower would about cover it. Some of the same cattle that brought $5.30 yesterday sold at $5.25 today, which will give an idea of the state of the trade. There was also quite a showing of western range steers good enough for beef, though no great number that could be CHICAGO. Salesmen who happened to be lucky this morning in getting their cows penned in good season and also in getting the right buyers thought they got just about as good prices for their cows and heifers as yesterday. Later on, though, as it became apparent that receipts were going to be large, it became a more difficult matter to get the prices and the market would have to be quoted generally 5610c lower. Owing probably to unfavorable weather which made it impossible for farmers to get their work in shape to begin feeding cattle the demand for feeders from the country has been very small all the week with the result that a good many cattle have accumulated in the hands of speculators and prices gradually worked lower. Today the market was again weak and lower and it would be safe to quote the feeder market as right around 25c lower on everything unless it might be the choice grades, which have not suffered so much.
