experienced particularly in the Kaffir murket. A few stale bull accounts had to be arranged. The tone was generally flat, the spread of the Russian strike movement causing an uncomfortable feeling. Russians were particularly weak on continental sell-ing, leading to bull realizations in many stocks. Consols and kindred securities were depressed by fears of a high rate for money at the coming settlement. Home rails de-clined moderately on profit-taking, but closed with a better tone. Americans opened weak on the rise of exchange and New York selling and sagged to well below parity. The operations were restricted and the market closed dull and unsettled with some stocks above the lowest quotations of the day. Foreigners were weak. Japanese receded. Kaffirs were depressed by liquida tions. Japanese imperial is of 1904 were guoted at 102.
