

NEW TEMPLE FOR GOD'S WORK

Corner-Stone of the South Tenth Street Methodist Church Laid.

GOVERNOR AND CONGRESSMAN ORATORS

Large Gathering of People Witnesses the Ceremonies by the Church Officials and Ritual of the Masons.

The floor of the new South Tenth Street Methodist church was not half large enough to hold the people who came to see the laying of the cornerstone Sunday afternoon.

The stone was laid under the auspices of the Methodist Social union and the Nebraska grand lodge, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons.

Rev. William Gorst, presiding elder of the Omaha district of the Methodist church, opened the services with a ritual introduction.

Prayers from the discipline were read by Rev. F. M. Sisson of South Omaha, Rev. J. H. Priest, Rev. William Englin, Rev. J. M. Ledy, Rev. W. D. Stambaugh and Rev. G. A. Luce.

Christ's Kingdom a Great Power. Governor John H. Mickey delivered an address on "The Power of the Word of God."

The teaching of the word of God has been nourished and extended from small beginnings until today the Bible is only second in power to God himself.

Masons Finish the Work. After a prayer by the pastor, Rev. D. W. McGreggor, and an anthem by the Sewall Street Methodist choir, the remainder of the ceremony was given into the hands of the officers of the Masonic lodge.

The articles in the basket placed in the stone were: The Discipline of the Methodist church, 1904; The Bee; the other Omaha dailies, the District Messenger, the Central Christian Advocate, the minutes of the church for 1904, the names of the Sunday school teachers, pupils and superintendent, a photograph of Governor Mickey, a photograph of the old church, a photograph of the new church in course of construction.

Dr. Isham gave the church a brief address. "With you rest the teachings of your church," said Mr. Kennedy, addressing the church members.

REPT TIME TWO CENTURIES. S. S. Peters of Omaha the Owner of a Veteran Among Clocks.

MADE IN ENGLAND IN YEAR 1711. Timepiece Has Been Passed Along Through Seven Generations in Direct Line and is Still Keeping Good Time.

A recent presentation of a magnificent hall clock to a prominent politician in Missouri has started an item on the rounds of the press about a clock owned by a man at Gloucester, Kan., made in Kentucky 180 years ago.

S. S. Peters of 572 South Twenty-eighth street, Omaha, is the owner of a calendar clock which is 184 years old, and still running. It has come down in direct line of descent from the original purchaser through the oldest male member of the Peters family through the two centuries of its existence.

It will thus be seen that the Peters clock has counted the hours of seven long-lived generations of the Peters family. It was kept time when Lexington and Concord came into imperishable history as battlefields.

The body of the Peters clock is of cherry, the works of brass. So well did ancient Peter, Owen, become the owner of the old clock. He was one of the pioneers of Ross county, Ohio, where he lived until 1858.

This old clock was on exhibition at the Centennial exhibition in Philadelphia in 1876, with no other veteran of its kind to dispute its precedence for age. It was then it was exhibited in the Curtis Club room at Columbus, O., for several months, when the Ohio Historical society tried in vain to secure it for the state collection of antiquities.

Persons in Virginia, Philadelphia and New York have repeatedly made flattering offers in money for the clock, and other branches of the Peters family have been anxious to get possession of it. Samuel S. Peters has steadily refused to part with the honored timekeeper of the lives of his ancestors.

He brought the clock to Beatrice, Neb., from Ohio in 1886, and has frequently loaned it for exhibition at gatherings of old folks. For several years, however, this has been stopped for fear of possible injury in moving.
