

A DANGER THAT THREATENS US ALL

A large part of the poison created within the body, or separated from the food we eat, is passed off by the kidneys through the urine. It is very important that this filtering work of the kidneys should go on undisturbed, otherwise the body cannot remain in a condition of health.

Very little causes are likely to set the kidneys wrong, and kidney diseases come on so quietly and at first they are not noticed. There is little pain, other than backache, and few outward signs besides irregularity of the passages of the urine. If the trouble is continually neglected, however, it soon reaches a stage of constant backache, pain and distress, and there is no more serious affliction than Bright's disease, which may be the final outcome.

It is very necessary to keep the kidneys well, and there is one remedy that can be always depended on—Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy begins its work first by cleansing and toning up the kidneys, arousing them to action and increasing the flow of urine, so that urea, uric acid and sediment are washed from the kidneys and bladder and driven out of the system. This treatment rebuilds and invigorates the kidney tissue, assists in filtering of the blood and dissolves crystallized poison. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially and solely for the kidneys; they are made from pure roots and herbs that in a natural way heal and tone up the delicate kidney organism and so cure the cause of disease.

It is not difficult to detect kidney trouble. If you suspect you have it. The common symptoms are backache, dizzy spells, aching in the loins, stiffness of the joints, lame back, languor, depression, frequent sick headaches, watery swellings in the ankles or beneath the eyes, nervousness, irritability, rheumatic pains, sleeplessness and irregular action of the heart.

"IF YOU WOULD KEEP WELL, KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL."

When you first notice any of the above symptoms, especially backache or any irregularity of the urine, begin using Doan's Kidney Pills, and you will find quick relief.

NO MONEY FOR ENGINEER

Funds for Department Exhausted and Council Has to Act.

ROSEWATER THREATENS TO CLOSE OFFICE

City Engineer Says He Will Not Attempt to Conduct Work Unless Special Provision is Made.

Addressing the council in a formal communication, City Engineer Rosewater called attention Thursday morning, at a special meeting held to pass the October salary appropriation ordinance, to the fact that his department practically is without funds and must suspend activity unless money is provided. He said verbally if special appropriations were not made he would close his office at once.

Employees are not paid not only with the prospect of being unable to cash pay warrants with the city, but brokers have refused to discount them. In view of the strict charter regulations the engineer felt he had no authority in attempting to retain the men.

The councilmen announced they would respond to the appeal at once by appropriating $1,000, or the amount that can be projected to the engineering department fund from back taxes received to April 1, when the new charter took effect and changed this application of delinquent tax receipts.

The arrangement has the approval of City Attorney Brown, who plans to make up the balance needed by reimbursing the engineer's fund for money paid out to inspectors on contracts in special improvement districts. These costs can be taxed up against the districts. Owing to the fact that the call for the special meeting did not enumerate the matter, it was decided to hold another meeting at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon to transfer the $1,300 by resolution.

Text of the letter.

In his letter Engineer Rosewater said: Your attention is respectfully called to the fact that funds provided for the engineering department of the city are exhausted. It will require at least $2,000. Delay in providing the same will result to an extent of 50 per cent. reduced the service, and unless funds are immediately secured, I cannot justify the retention of those who have remained.

The salaries paid to experts in the department have been notoriously inadequate several years, and the best evidence of this is that within the past two weeks, owing to higher salaries, five have resigned to serve elsewhere.

The efficiency of the engineering department depends not alone on the competency of its employees, but also upon their familiarity with the city blocks, streets, the location and condition of the underground and surface public works. Some of them are also required to be familiar with the records of all details of city affairs and how and where to find them. This takes years of training and personal contact with the city work. We have already lost the service of a number who have worked for years in the department and unless I can assure them of their salaries every one of the remaining employees will leave the service. The provisions for the department this year have been notoriously inadequate. The estimates, though based on last year, were arbitrarily cut down, with the promise that at least the estimates of the Board of Public Works and the Park board were added to that of the engineering department, while the money provided for the board was taken away and placed in the general fund.

In addition to all these duties the preparation of plans, erection and supervision of an asphalt-paving plant, were also added to the requirements, and to all this the services of the engineer and his department were called in to aid and advise the Water board in matters relating to the approval and control of the water works plant and its service.

Other Demands to Meet.

The department has also quite recently been called upon to prepare tax levies for all heretofore adjudged illegal levies of past years in addition to all tax assessments for boulevard acquisition, pavements, sewer grading and other work. For doing all this $12,000 was provided, to which $1,000 more has generously been provided by the Park board. For the public work departments in 1905, when the total contract work aggregated less than one-fifth of the work of this year, over $2,700 was provided and the result was a deficit of $1,000, a highly economical. Yet, with fully triple the amount of office record work to do and over fifteen times the field work with a higher rate of wages prevailing and forty odd contracts spread over at one time, the city is expected to do the work of this year with the same amount of money as was used in the year 1904. It is the purpose to destroy or abolish the Engineering department, then the failure and prostration in providing funds is proper and justified.

The city comptroller proposes to deal generously with the engineering department by recommending a $1,000 allowance which he has based upon the appropriation of $1,000 to the appropriation for the other department funds. This is not a proper basis for engineering department. Assuming that the engineering department had been allowed what was estimated last February as a requisite, viz., $1,000, before the extensive increase of public works, it would still be less than the amount of the appropriation under the law enacted after the appropriation had been made. It should be necessary to appeal to your body to protect public interests by making prompt and adequate provisions for a department placed in charge of the public works of the city, their maintenance as well as the keeping of the only records available to the public of the streets, public grounds, sewer, pavements, sidewalks, etc.

In connection with the matter of providing for the engineering department I also ask that some provision be made to pay the wages of the inspectors employed by the city. The charter clearly provides that money may be advanced temporarily out of other funds whilst work is going on and provides for the reimbursement of such amounts out of the special funds after the levies are made.

A Reliable Remedy for Croup.

With the dry, cold weather of the early winter months, parents of croupy children should be on the alert for ominous symptoms. There is no cause for anxiety when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is kept in the house. If this medicine is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the croup cough has appeared, the attack may be warded off. Mrs. S. Rosenthal of Turner, Mich., says: "We have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for ourselves and children for several years and like it very much. I think it is the only remedy for croup and can highly recommend it."

Omaha Council No. 45, Knights and Ladies of Security, will give a dance Monday evening, November 6, at Barch's Society hall, Nineteenth and Farnam streets. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Announcement of the Theaters.

Wilton Lackaye's part of Curtis Jadin in "The Pit" is in many ways the strongest he has ever been called upon to portray. It, like the play, is essentially American, the incidents being those of real life. Jadin is a grain broker, a man whose prototype is met on 'change every day and who does things just as his fellows do. His participation in the wheel corner, his defeat, everything is put on in the most natural way. In studying for the part Mr. Lackaye went to the fountainhead and had some amusing experiences on the Chicago exchange before he acquired "the atmosphere." He got it, though, and has added another triumph to his career. It has been pronounced better than his famous creation of Svengali in "Tribby." Omaha people will have a splendid opportunity to judge of this, for Mr. Lackaye will be seen here in both roles. On Sunday and Monday nights at the Boyd he will present "The Pit" and on Tuesday at a special matinee and on Tuesday evening he will play "Tribby." Seats for the entire engagement are now on sale.

The last matinee of "The Little Minister" will be given at the Burwood on Saturday afternoon. This fine piece has drawn crowded houses to every performance this week and will doubtless make a record for receipts at the house. For next week the bill will be "Innocent," the fine comedy made famous by Charles Dickens.

Rialto Well Lighted.

Boyd's theater has hung an immense illuminated sign which will assist greatly in lighting the Rialto, as Harney street in the theatrical neighborhood has come to be called. The sign, to give the name of the production, similar to the sign on the Burwood has been hung across the sidewalk so that all looking west may read the play that is on at the Boyd. Each theater now has a large lettered sign which makes Harney street the best illuminated in the city.

RALLY AT FONTANELLE CLUB

Nears. Wattles and Greene Speak to Large Number at the Open Night Session.

Guardon W. Wattles and Charles J. Greene were the speakers last night at the smoker of the Fontanelle club. Both eulogized President Roosevelt as the most attractive and commanding figure in the history of the world, and the republican party as the agent of good government for the last fifty years; both urged the voting of the straight republican ticket next Tuesday, and both urged republicans to hustle their friends to the registration booths Saturday.

"Since under the primary law the ranks of the republican party have had a chance to name their candidates, I believe they ought to stand by the choice of their party and vote for the ticket," said Mr. Wattles. "I have studied the character and the records of the candidates and I think this is the strongest ticket the party has ever put in the field in Douglas county. You hear a rumbling now and then which indicates that some are working against a few of the candidates, but I feel sure there is not a single man on the ticket who will not be elected."

"The republican party is just as much on trial today in this local election as it ever was," said Mr. Greene. "It has stood for all that is right in government for fifty years. What principles in all these fifty years have the democrats advocated that they have not immediately discarded? Yet by scratching the ticket are you going to assist them in such principles and overturn the glory of your own party? Vote the ticket straight."

Mr. Wattles made his speech short that he might address a meeting of the Second Ward Republican club.

Part of the instructions.

This is paragraph 3 of the instructions to census enumerators of 1904: Enumerate all persons between 5 and 21 years of age, including private and parochial schools. Call at all stores, mercantile houses, manufacturing establishments and offices and obtain the names of all persons employed therein between the ages of 5 and 21. If the names of all between 5 and 21 who are temporarily out of town, but who are residents of the city.

The difference in the instructions produced a marked decrease in the school census for 1904.

For the school year ending June 30, 1904, $43.98 was received by the school district of Omaha from the state school money. The school census was 2,702, meaning about $1.77 for every person down on the census rolls. The following year the state appropriation went about $5,000 better.

Members of the present board say they are trying to change the system so it will include no duplications, but every person who properly should be registered. They are hoping no parent living in Dundee or elsewhere out of the city, and who is paying tuition for his children at the high school at the rate of $47 a year, will "start anything."

STATE ASKS LINCOLN BOARD TO DO IT

Change in Method of Taking Census Here Makes Decided Difference in Number of Pupils and Fund.

If the proposed suit at Lincoln to make the local Board of Education turn back to the state all money received for non-resident students at the State university enumerated in the school census is successful, the Omaha school board may have a little worry of its own on hand.

The state school money, raised by taxation, is apportioned to the various counties and by the counties to the school districts on the basis of so much per individual of school age, which is between 5 and 21 years. It is the financial interest of every school district to make its annual census as large as possible, as this is the basis used for compiling the amounts. To incite to diligent effort in Omaha it has been the custom for years to pay the census enumerators in proportion to the number of persons they enrolled, the price being 3 cents per capita. It thus became the effort of every enumerator to swell his lists just as much as he could, under the instructions given him by the board.

System Has Changed.

Up to this year it has been the practice of the school district authorities to seek the enrollment of every person in Omaha within the school age, regardless of duplication or genuine residence. All colleges, private and parochial schools and all business houses, factories and offices were visited, as well as the homes and boarding houses. Enumerators were instructed to pay no attention to statements of enumeration elsewhere. Simply to take the names and all the names possible. Last summer colleges, private and parochial schools were cut off the list, but the business houses and factories were ordered visited just the same.

Members of the board, as a justification for this course, always have pleaded the number of mistakes missed probably reduced the duplications to about what was right, and, therefore, if a good approximation was accomplished this was all that was necessary to satisfy conscience and the law. At any rate, it was argued, the lists were sent to the state authorities and if there were duplications the latter could check them up just as well as the local school board.

OMAHA AS A GRAIN MARKET

Two and One-Half Times as Large as It Was One Year Ago.

Omaha is two and a half times as big a grain market as it was last year. This is shown in plain figures in the report just made by Secretary Merchant of the Omaha Grain exchange to the department of Commerce and Labor at Washington.

From January 1 to October 31, of the current year, total grain receipts were 2,442,230 bushels, as compared with 1,539,200 bushels for the same period of 1904. Thus far in 1905 grain to the amount of 2,570,200 bushels has been shipped out. In comparison with 1,411,000 bushels for the same period last year. This growth in the market is for the month part due to the enormous increase in corn receipts, an increase of 10,530,700 bushels, out of a total grain increase of 14,622,500 bushels. It is almost incredible, but the figures prove it, that the increase in corn receipts alone amounts to just 796,000 bushels less than the total inbound movement of all grains last year.

The following table shows the comparative grain receipts to October 31 for the two years.

Table with 2 columns: Year, and various grain types (Wheat, Corn, Oats, Rye, Barley) with their respective quantities in bushels.

CAT TURNS ON GAS AND DIES

Pass in Catching Mouse Creates Mischief Which Might Have Been Fatal.

The local mortality record came near being seriously affected Thursday morning at the home of Attorney E. F. Morearty, 2113 Grant street, where a cat turned on two jets of a gas stove which sprang for arising, he awoke and detected a strong odor of gas. He gave the alarm, rushed downstairs through the dining room and into the kitchen, where he discovered a dead mouse on the floor, a cat breathing its last and a cooker panelled dog unconscious. The feline died, but the dog recovered.

Mrs. Morearty and the children hurried to the open air and suffered no worse effects from the experience than nausea. Mr. Morearty was nearly exhausted after turning off the stove jets and opening the windows and doors.

That the accident occurred when it did was a most fortunate circumstance, in the judgment of Mr. Morearty, who states he sleeps the lightest about 5 or 6 in the morning and is easily awakened at those hours.

The two jets turned on were loose ones and the indications were plain that the cat had moved the jets in her spring for the rodent.

Emma Eames is Coming.

The people of Omaha and vicinity will be given an opportunity next Wednesday evening to enjoy a musical feast—a program of vocal and instrumental gems rarely equalled on any stage at any time. This program will be presented by the great Emma Eames and her superb company at the Auditorium. Madame Eames is just returning from a remarkably successful tour of California and the west, where she and her company have tested the capacity of the largest auditoriums and theaters. In San Francisco, it is said, people were turned away unable to secure seats. The beautiful quality of Madame Eames' voice and her magnificent personality assure for her a complete triumph wherever she appears.

Mr. Emilio DeGogorza, the great baritone, always comes in for a liberal share of applause and the dust work by Madame Eames and Mr. DeGogorza is said to be truly thrilling.

Joseph Hollman, the celebrated 'cellist, is probably without an equal in his line, and Amherst Webster, the pianist, stands among the very best pianists of the day. All in all, the Eames Concert company is one capable of not only pleasing but captivating the most exacting audience and that they will meet with an enthusiastic reception in Omaha seems to be a foregone conclusion. The seat sale opens at the Auditorium on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

The ladies of the First Presbyterian church will serve lunch Friday noon at Seventeenth and Dodge streets.

Wants City to Pay Him.

Frank Bogus of 225 Franklin street has asked the city and A. S. Joseph and J. Van Cleave to pay him $500 for injuries to his back, shoulders and intestines, Omaha, claimed to be permanent, which he sustained on the evening of October 25, by being jolted out of his wagon on Twentieth street, south of Paul. In his notice Bogus claims that Van Cleave hit a pile of brick, dirt and other material from one to four feet high, stand on the pavement, striking ten feet from his wagon; that no lamp or warning was up, and he ran into it and was thrown to the pavement and badly hurt.
