REFORM WIN IN QUAKER CITY.

looked on and shouted. The voting place was then opened with the new board under the protection of a cordon of police. Many organization Republicans refused to vote. One of the incidents of the Fifth ward struggle was the arrest of Harbor Master Samuel G. Maloney on the charge of conspiracy to hold an illegal election. He is the republican leader of the ward and his followers were ready to storm the police station if he was not released. He secured bail and will be given a further hearing.

Police Magistrate Fealy was also arrested for interfering with a policeman and was released on bail.

Five Hundred Arrests.

Similar scenes were enacted in the Seventh ward, the honor of David W. Durkin, the leader of the organization, and in the Eighth, where United States Senator Penrose resides. The polling place where the senator voted was closed for several hours because the election officers claimed the police interfered.

Outside the centrally located and thickly populated wards the city was comparatively quiet. The number of arrests made up to a late hour tonight for election frauds was about 500.

Police magistrates were on duty in all parts of the city, giving the prisoners hearings. The scene at the central station in the city hall was without precedent. More than 300 prisoners were given hearings there for alleged fraud against the ballot.

All day several hundred persons were gathered in the court yard watching the prisoners arriving in wagon loads. Every batch of prisoners were hissed or hooted as they were led into the city hall. The hearing-room was crowded with party workers, lawyers, bondsmen and others.

As quickly as a prisoner was brought in he would be given an immediate hearing, held in ball for a further hearing and promptly released by a waiting bondsman. The men were then ordered back to their respective election divisions. Among the prominent men arrested were Senator William H. Keyser, floor leader of the state senate, who was charged with interfering with a voter, and John R. Hammond, deputy coroner, who was accused of vouching for an illegal voter. A deputy sheriff was arrested on the charge of stuffing a ballot box while the election officers were not looking. More than ninety per cent of those arrested today were men claiming to be workers of the republican organization.

Supreme Court Hears Cases.

While the minor judiciary was taking care of hundreds of election cases, Judges Carr, Davis and Wood, Moench, of the criminal court held an all-day session, for the first time in the annals of the local courts, and settled innumerable disputes between members of factions who brought their troubles before them. The judges also issued dozens of writs of habeas corpus for prisoners who had been arrested upon sending them to jail. The heaviest vote ever cast was polled for the local candidates, notwithstanding the fact that 5,000 alleged fraudulent names were stricken from the voting lists by the police. In some of the divisions, where the names of the candidates were stricken from the lists, the total vote cast falls far below that polled at former elections. In other divisions the vote was so great that the ballot boxes proved too small to hold the ballots. As early as noon additional boxes had to be sent to several polls, and boxes were used up the meantime to hold the ballots.

The heavy vote caused great jubilation among the reform managers, as it indicated to them that the stay-at-homes were coming out and voting the fusion ticket. The heavy vote also indicated that the day had nothing to say beyond the statement that they were satisfied with the way things were running. Toward evening, when reports began coming in, the reformers began to waver in their confidence and many of them admitted that the day had been a failure. A sign of the way the election was going was the thousands of blue and gold buttons, the city party colors, that appeared on the streets. Hundreds of women wore the colors.

Contest for Treasurer.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—State treasurer was the only office for which there was a contest at today's election in Pennsylvania. Judge John W. Stewart, an appointee of Governor Pennypacker, was re-elected associate judge of the supreme court for the full term of twenty-one years.

President Judge Charles E. Rice and Justice George B. Grady and James A. Beaver, of the superior court, were elected for a term of ten years. John B. Head, democrat, was also elected a superior court judge to succeed Judge Peter P. Smith, the minority member of that body who failed of re-election.

Under the law no elector is entitled to vote for more than three candidates for judge of the superior court when four are to be elected, as was the case this year. Mr. Head was the only democratic nominee for the office who practically made his nomination equivalent to an election. Homer L. Castle, who was brought into prominence by his attacks on the state treasury management following the development of the case.

TAKES TIME.

Some Years Getting There, and What Happened Then.

The poison in coffee does not always work its mischief swiftly—sometimes it fastens its hold upon the victim by slow degrees that are not noticeable for a while. But once it begins, the day will surely come when the coffee drinker will be "up against it" and must have relief.

A lady writes from Cal: "We were great coffee drinkers in our home, using it at every meal and frequently drinking it in the evening with friends, and it was not until after the lapse of years that we began to realize that it was doing us harm."

"My symptoms were not so bad, although my health suffered in many minor ways, but my husband became afflicted with a most painful stomach trouble. He could not eat anything, and I began to feel that he was giving me great distress. We were slow to suspect the truth, but we now see that it was caused by the use of coffee."

"At last he determined to quit using coffee altogether, and, like a good wife, I did so, too. We were drinking for a month without any hot taste beverage, till one day a friend happened to say to me, 'I am using Postum Food Coffee now and feel so much better for it.' I told her that we had tried it and did not care for it, and she said it must have been because it wasn't properly prepared. We strictly according to directions. We were astonished and delighted at the result."

"We have been using Postum Food Coffee for a year now, and I rejoice to be able to tell you that it has cured my husband of his dyspepsia. This is a statement that does not seem to have the significance it ought to have. If I could make you understand how intense his sufferings used to be, you would realize what a deliverance Postum wrought for him."

"My own health has also greatly improved, and the credit for all must be given to Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

BLAIR, Neb., Nov. 7.—(Special Telegram)—The election passed off quietly today with the exception of the contest for county clerk, which was the most hotly contested for that office of any for many years and today's record as to election of county officers is unprecedented in this county. LOUIS FITZGERALD KILLED
Son of the General Struck by Train at Great Neck, Long Island.

GREAT NECK, L. I., Nov. 7.—Louis Fitzgerald, son of General Louis Fitzgerald, was killed this evening by a train at the station here. Mr. Fitzgerald, who had been riding in the steplike chairs at W. Gould Brook's place in the afternoon, came down to the station on foot, and he did not wait for a conveyance, and started to run for the train, which was about to pull out for Long Island City. As he ran across the track he did not notice an east-bound train which was coming up to the station. He stepped in front of the locomotive of this train and was run over and killed before it could be stopped.

Information of the accident was telephoned immediately to Mr. Brook, who, with Harry C. Shields and Payne Whitney, hurried to the railroad station and took care of the body.
