ATTORNEY THOMAS FOUND DOCUMENT

Had Been Missing for Several Years, While the Estate Involved Has Been Subject of Interminable Litigation.

Seth F. Winch's long lost will has been found. Attorney E. E. Thomas brought it to Judge Sears Wednesday afternoon, saying he had found it among some papers in his office. The paper was at once sent to the county court.

It will be recalled that at hearings in the county and district courts in cases involving this will Mr. Thomas admitted that he was the last man who had it before its disappearance. He came into possession of it as assistant county attorney several years ago, and afterward appeared in the courts as counsel for those who were opposing the probating of the will and the carying out of its provisions. In the last trial involving the will, Judge Sears upheld the Thomas side of the argument and later overruled motion for a new trial. Now the attorneys for the proponent of the will, Mrs. Miranda J. Steen, at one time the wife of Winch, asserts that the resurrection of the instrument puts a materially different aspect on the case and that there will be a new trial. In the former trials, while a copy admitted to probate was in evidence, the testimony was contradictory as to the terms of the Nervous Debility, Loss of Strength and will, and there was a contention that Winch had made two wills,

The will of Mr. Winch is dated Novem ber 20, 1891. Accompanying it is the cerfineate of Dr. Peter von Lackum, testuor's physician, setting forth that he was then of sound mind and body and competent to make a will. There is also a provision in the instrument itself to the effect that any devisee who should contest the provisions of the will was not to participate in the property, Sarah M. Winch, the first wife, was to have all the property in Providence, R. L, during her life, and at her death the three daughters were to have it. They were also left $50 a year for pocket money. Each grandchild was also to have $50 Mrs. E. M. Anthony of Chicago, a sister of Winch, $3,000; a like sum was to be invested for the benefit of Sally Pamsey, wife of a brother; a niece, Mrs. Hannah Alden of Boston, $2,000, and $50 to her daughter, Hazel.

Following these bequests is the portion of the will which has given rise to all the litigation that has made the case locally famens-the provision for the benefit of Mrs. M. J. Mitchell, Winch's housekeeper for several years, who afterward was married to him. It is provided that his executors, A. L. Reed and Frank W. Foster should pay her $30 a month during her lifetime, and should also hold in trust the buildings on the property where Winch resided, so that she could occupy his rooms during her life, and the household furnishings and personal property of every kind except notes and accounts.

Estate Badly Complicated.

Mrs. Mitchell-Winch-Steen afterward nortgaged some of the Winch property and Insurance company, which is the latest several foreclosure suits are now pending. SOUTH OMAHA, Nov. 8 .- To the Editor of The Bee: The defeat of the sewerage bonds in South Omaha on Tuesday was au open, honest expression of the taxpayers, many of whom are strenuously opposed to increasing the present heavy indebtedness of the city, while many others sincerely believe the construction of a main sewe should be done by the stock yards company No doubt many took advantage of the op portunity to display their malice and prejudice against a rich corporation; on the other hand, a great many who have no property interests in the city worked and voted in favor of the bonds.

The business men and fair-minded citizens of the municipality justly thought they were voting for their own interests in dividually and collectively by opposing the stupendous issue of $150,000 for the special enefit of the packing houses and stock yards company. Let the opposing factions, the citizens and stock yards company, get together and effect a conciliating comproaise and have the whole city seweraged next season. BACK STRIKES A NEW POSE Now Thinks Fourth Ward Can Do Without Councilman Until Next Spring.

Councilman Pete Back seems to have struck another attitude in the Fourth ward vacancy matter. In a conversation with reporter he said:

"What's the need of electing anybody to fill this vacancy, anyhow? Can't we get slong without a Fourth ward councilman until next spring? All the important things are over with and I don't see why the place should be filled at all. The law says we may elect to fill vacancies. Perhaps we have to do it, but if I should vote with the minority, it would be a four to four vote and how could anybody be elected?" Mr. Back did not say so, but the inference was easily drawn that the execution of this scheme will retain for him his old power of being the deciding factor in important legislation. With a majority four and a minority three his vote would mean everything in certain contingencies. Therefore he is urging letting the vacancy remain wide open. Glenn Makes Compromise. After a jury had been empaneled Monday in the case of Arthur J. Glenn against the Union Pacific railroad an adjournment was taken over election day. Wednesday morning when the parties appeared in court a settlement was made and the case dissurfaced. Glenn receives $500 in settlement of his claim for personal injuries. He sued for $1,000. Glenn used to be a blacksmith at the Union Pacific abops. He was injured while at work there.

GUY C. BARTON GIVES $5,000 AS STARTER Financial Report for Past Year Encourages Board to Re-elect Old Officers and Appeal to Public for Subscriptions.

To raise $50,000 in thirty days, less $5,000 already subscribed, is the task which the directors of the Auditorium association mapped out for themselves Wednesday afternoon. This amount will be required to pay off the floating debt on the Auditorium and complete the building. The action of the board was taken in view of the good showing made by the report of the earnings of the house for the fiscal year just ended. It was suggested that the report justified a request to the public to subscribe enough money to complete the building. Guy C. Barton said he would start the subscription with $5,000, payment conditional on the raising of the remaining $45,000 in thirty days. The board jumped at his proposition, agreed to begin the the Milwaukee is building the Pacific campaign at once, and Mr. Barton put down his name for $5,000.

The board authorized President Nash to appoint a committee to organize the campaign. He immediately announced that the board would constitute a general committee, and the special committee having immediate charge of the matter would be composed of the members of the executive nmittee, which is to be appointed at once. About $20,000 of the proposed fund will be required to pay off the debt. This will leave $30,000 for the building.

Old Officers Again Chosen. The meeting was the first one since the lection of the new board and officers were elected, the entire list of last year being chosen. F. A. Nash is president, T. C. Byrns vice president, J. R. Lehmer secretary, Alfred Millard treasurer, J. M. Gillan nanager and T. J. Mahoney counsel.

The financial report laid before the board showed the sum of $3,549.98 on hand after the payment of all operating expenses and fixed charges for the fiscal year just ended. This represents the earnings of the Auditorium for only ten months, as it was closed through November and December last year while the heating plant was being put in.

Roller skating will not begin until about November 25, says Mr. Gillan. It was the intention to open the rink today, but there has been a delay in putting down the new complete sewerage system established and floor and the work cannot be done until rest assured the enterprising citizens of after the exhibit of implement manufact

PRESIDENT EARLING INNOCENT

Chief Officer of the Milwankee Would Not Talk of Oblect of Trip to Portland,

President A. J. Earling of the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad passed through Omaha Wednesday afternoon, c route to Portland, Ore. He arrived in his private car "St. Paul" on the Milwaukee road and left at 4:20 on the Union Pacific He was met at Council Bluffs by F. A. Nash, general western agent of the Milwaukee, who was with him during his stay in the city, the time being spent mostly in looking over the improvements at the union station

Mr. Earling was asked as to the significance of his visit to Portland at this time but he said that he was simply looking over the country with no special aim When asked as to the action of H. R. Williams, he said that he knew nothing about the matter.

H. R. Williams was formerly general manager of the Milwaukee, but resigned to take the position of president of the Pacific coast line, said by some to be a part of the Milwaukee. It was given out at the time that Mr. Williams had resigned in a huff and that he was at outs with the Milwaukee. This was considered by many as a blind and many think that route.

In Chicago it is considered one of the huge jokes of the season in the railroad world how the Milwaukee is branching out without the knowledge of any of its staff officers. There is no doubt that the road is extending itself to the Pacific coast, and yet neither President Earling or any members of his staff know anything about it, at least that is what they say, Presidents of other western roads which are building and which take their officers and the public into their confidence, are wondering how much longer the Milwaukee will be able to conceal from its own officers the fact that it is building rallroads in the great west. The Milwauke extensions are being constructed by the Pacific railroad, which will build from Seattle to Wallula Junction, on the Columbia river.

Where this line will join onto the other ines is only known to H. R. Williams and his associates, for the Milwaukee knows nothing about it, but the presumption is that the line will be built on across South Dakota.

A well known railroad man said: "The risit of Mr. Earling at this time to Portland is quite significant, following as it does the reports of Williams going to the Pacific railroad. People can draw their own conclusions."
