Reading Continues Its Advance, with All Other Shares Weak.
SHARP ADVANCE IN CALL MONEY
Decline Gains Cumulative Force as Day Advances and Closing is Lowest of the Week.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Reading continued its surprising advance in the market today while practically everything else went lower. The volume of the market increased a considerable amount, but this was largely attributable to the numerous dealings in Reading, which had the market to itself for long periods.

The relation of the rise in Reading and the weakness in the rest of the market was puzzling. An upward spurt in Reading usually preceded the rise in the other shares, and the weakness in the rest of the market was usually a result of the excitement of the day elsewhere. Whether the excited advance in Reading awakened unbusinesslike speculation or whether it was due to the fact that the market was pushed up in an effort to sustain prices, while realizing was conducted elsewhere, were different questions. The latter is the choice of observers. The desire and apparent necessity to liquidate stocks other than Reading, however, is not surprising. This pressure was commonly attributed to the exigencies of the money situation, and the contemplation of the results of yesterday's election undoubtedly was an unsettling influence on speculative sentiment in some cases. Taking the results as a whole there was no disposition to discern anything in the market to indicate a permanent or privilege in the advance in Reading.

The course of events during the day emphasized the inferior position of the market and gave a dominant effect in the later trading. The banks are clearly sustaining further heavy cash offerings, and the meager surplus reserve shown by Saturday's bank statement. The outgo from the banks since the start of the week has been estimated at $2,000,000. To-day there were transferred through the clearing house to New Orleans and St. Louis $1,000,000. This was more than sufficient to wipe out the surplus as well as to cover the cash offerings. The call money rate to the interior has risen to 10 per cent, and the maximum in the year at 12 per cent, and the movement to reduce credit offerings by liquidating stocks therefore were not surprising.

Neither was the check to the pressure for withdrawal of gold from the market. New York to be wondered at in view of the urgent need for funds developed here. The foreign exchange market showed no yielding tendency although it did not advance. The money situation in London and in Paris seemed to have been improved. The market evidently benefited from the receipt of funds from the British interior. The effort to reduce the rate on the day left open the possibility of an advance tomorrow in the Bank of England rate. Sterling exchange was liquidated, and further sharp decline today. Besides Reading there were some other points of strength in the market. In the steel stocks, the iron and other steel stocks were largely in the showing. These movements were attributed to the liquidation of operations to a large general demand. The decline in cumulative force in the latter part of the day was due to the fact that the market was weak at the lowest point of the day. The advance in Reading was due to the fact that it was the only stock which was held in the market.

Bonds were easy. Total sales, par value, $2,200,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on call. Following were the sales and closing prices on the Stock Exchange today:

There was a fairly large run of fat stuff in the market today, but the morning was quite liberal for a Wednesday, being somewhat larger than the run for the preceding week and also larger than the run of the same week a year ago by about 13,000 head. About sixty cars were received. Trains were in fairly good season today, so that trade opened quite active.
