In regard to all equipment purchases, both for the canal and the railroad, it should be stated that the gauge of the Panama railroad being wider than the standard gauge in the United States made it impossible to use second-hand rolling stock of any kind; all locomotives and cars had, therefore, to be built to order. After the supplies reached the isthmus we had to contend not only with the lack of terminal facilities and mechanical appliances already mentioned, but also with an inadequate equipment with which to distribute it to its destination or the force to liandle it. These obstacles have been largely surmounted. The elimination of yellow ferer and the establishment of better systems of housing and feeding the employes have enabled us to recruit our working forces till those assigned to the material and supply division now number over 2,100 men.

To the various causes of delay mentioned is to be added the requirements of law that all bids for materials used in government work shall be advertised for. This compels a delay in all cases of from ten to thirty days.

Furthermore, in addition to the purchases for the canal, the following have been ordered for the Panama ratiroad: Five hundred box cars of forty tons each, twelve caboose cars, ten refrigerator cars, six passenger coaches, twenty-found and the canal will be built—rest assured of that—and it will be built at Panama. Those two phases of the problem have passed irrevocably from the field of debate. There is an industrious and voluble band of hired Ananiases moving to and fro in the land whose mission it is to deny this. The burden of their song is: "The canal will be built at Panama. Those two phases of the problem have passed irrevocably from the field of debate. There is an industrious and voluble band of hired Ananiases moving to and fro in the land whose mission it is to deny this. The burden of their song is: "The canal will never be built at Panama, and everybody connected with the enterprise, including the president, and commissioners, and engineers. president, and commissioners, and engineers, is convinced of it." You can hear the members of this band chanting their song, singly and in chorus, wherever men congregate, and wherever a few reporters are gathered together. They are rehearsing for the grand burst of noise when congress shall have assembled. When they are not rehearsing they are putting the words of their song into bogus interviews and other written forms of newspaper publication, which they are sending forth by thousands from their bureau of publicity in this and other cities. As one contemplates the output of this singular industry, this factory of fiction, he is moved to say of its guilding spirit, as Shakespeare says of Captain Diumain: "He will lie with such volubility, sir, that you would think truth were a fool."

Railroads Oppose President.

Who is capitalizing this industry? What is the bountiful source of this spouting spring of mendacity? Is it to be found among the friends of an isthmian canal? Are these supplying funds for the sustenance of such a campaign of mishiformation? What interests, except those foulishly dreading the competition of an isthmian canal, would put up money to delay and possibly defeat its construction? That there are interests of that kind is not a matter of suspicion or speculation, but of history. They have been fighting a canal for more than half a century, and they fought it successfully till Theodore Roosevelt armed with his "big stick," appeared as its champion. From that moment their efforts have been powerless, but they have not yet discovered the fact. They are wasting their energies and their cash, for behind Theodore Roosevelt stand the American people in solid mass and with determined front, shouting as one man: "Give us a canal that will be adequate to meet the demands of the commerce of the world, and give it to us at the earliest possible moment." That, gentlemen, is the command which the commission, under the inspiring lead of the president, is obeying to the letter. We are building the "Roosevelt canal."

SOUTHERN STATES CONVENTION

Quarantine and Immigration Will Be Discussed by People at Chattanooga Meeting.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 9.-'Almost 00 delegates, representing fourteen southern states, faced Governor John I. Cox | the month. today when he called together the conference on quarantine and immigration. Present at the opening session were the governors of Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisians North Carolina, South Carolina and Vir-

Senators J. B. Frazier and Stephen Ma! lory of Florida, eighteen congressmen from the southern states, Surgeon General Wyman of the marine hospital service and other prominent medical authorities were also in attendance.

Governor Cox, in calling the convention to order, explained the object of the gathering to be to prevent the coming to the south of the pauper and criminal classes from Europe, which now are flooding the west and northwest. Also to provide for uniform legislation by the southern states which should have the approval of national ongress and thus have the force of contitutional law, so that a citizen going to any part of the south in times of epidemic should know exactly what conditions he ish Land Causes Uneasiness. LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 9 .- The development of the island of Madeira by Germans is causing a sharp diplomatic incident. A German company under Prince von Hohenhohe, a nephew of the former chancellor, is making extensive improvements in the island and sought to secure land claimed by a British coaling company which has a contract for the British admiralty to coal warships. Portugal directly and Great Britain, indirectly, opposed the German acquisition of the lands, thus bringing on a centroversy. Herr Kermintz, the German charge d'affaires, declares there has been no ultimatum but it is understood he intimated his intention to depart unless the German position was upheld.

Engineer Has Presence of Mind to Steer it Into Pile of Sand and Rock and Jumps.

A ten-ton road roller belonging to the Barber Asphalt Paving company broke loose on a steep grade on Davenport street near Twenty-first Thursday morning and was going to take much real and personal property with it in a swift journey to the Missouri river.

The presence of mind of the engine sent the big hulk crashing into a pile of sand and rock in Twentieth street. There was much life and motion in the vicinity when the roller started down hill and the engineer found he could not check it.

The roller was packing paving material up the grade when a pinion snapped under the strain and annihilated any check on the bevel gearing. Gravity did the rest Pavers Barely Escape.

The pavers were soaking their shovels and irons in the firepan of the roller and when the machine started to back up they were badly frightened and velled loudly in getting out of the way. A little further down the street a wagon with horses attached got in the way of the roller and was carried along for some distance. At the corner of Twentieth street the englneer took a vote with himself, found a lack of confidence existed, threw the steering gear over and jumped. The roller was turned into Twentieth street on another down grade and proceded to eat up two lengths of paving. Then the big pile of sand and rock, belonging to a sidewalk contractor, was encountered. As the roller swung very low it was checked, due to the craftiness of the engineer Little damage was done, considering the circumstances and other rollers took up the work that the ten-tonner had been

ROAD ROLLER RUNS AWAY OLD SORES SAP THE VITALITY AND UNDERMINE

Old Sores that refuse to heal are a constant THE HEALTH menace to health. They sap the vitality and undermine the constitution by draining the system of its very life fluids, and those afflicted with one of these ulcers grow despondent and almost desperate as one treatment after another fails. They patiently apply salves, washes, plasters, etc., but in spite of all these the sore refuses to heal and eats deeper into the surrounding flesh, destroying the tissues and growing to be a festering, inflamed and angry mass. The source of the trouble is in the blood. This vital fluid is filled with impurities and poisons which are constantly being discharged into the sore or ulcer, making it impossible for the place to heal. It will not do to depend on external applications for a cure, because they do not reach the real cause, and valuable time is lost experimenting with such treatment; the most they can do is keep the ulcer clean. Any sore that will not heal is dangerous, for the reason that it may have the deadly germs of Cancer behind for a brief period it looked as though it it. A cure can be brought about only through a remedy that can change the quality of the blood, and this is what S. S. S. does. It goes to the very bottom of the trouble, drives out the poisons and germs with which it is filled, and purifies and builds up the entire cir-
