CONVENTION AT CALVARY CHURCH

Dr. E. E. Chivers of New York Says Heresy of Delegating All Religious Work to Ministers is Perilous.

The first session of the Baptist evangelistic conference was held Wednesday morning at Calvary Baptist church. Addresses were made by Rev. E. E. Chivers, D. D., of New York, field secretary of the American Baptist Home Missionary society; Rev. Cornelius Woelfkin, D. D., of Brooklyn, general evangelist of the society, and Rev. James A. Francis, state evangelist of the society for New York. Owing to a mistake in the printed program, which stated that the meetings would begin Wednesday night, only a few ministers from out of the city were present.

Dr. Chivers presided at the meeting. He explained the nature of the work, how the society which he represented sought to spread the influence of the church by instructing pastors in proper evangelistic methods. He told of conferences similar to the one at Omaha, from which the pastors in attendance had gone away strong in new courage and strength, exemplified in the results of their work immediately after.

Aim is Two-Fold.
"The aim of the conference is two-fold," said Dr. Chivers. "First, it seeks to restore to its proper place the importance of the evangelistic note in the ministry of the preacher. The gospel is primarily a message and not an argument. Second, it seeks to quicken in the membership of the churches the large, the evangelistic spirit. More pernicious and demoralizing than any theological heresy, is the practical heresy which delegates religious work entirely to the ministry."
"We don't care for much advertisement."

MAKE SURE OF CERTIFICATE

Two County Superintendents Qualify Themselves to Retain Office.

MOST OF OFFICIAL ELECTION RETURNS IN

Douglas and Eight Other Counties Have Failed Up to Date to File Official Abstracts with State Officials.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Nov. 15.—(Special.)—State Superintendent McBrien has learned that two of the county superintendents-elect, who were already in office, qualified themselves by issuing first grade certificates required to make them eligible, before election. This is contrary to the ruling of McBrien in which he held that superintendents who were candidates for re-election must qualify by going before the officials of other counties to secure their certificates. Today Attorney General Brown told him that he had taken the proper stand and he is determined not to allow these two superintendents to enter on new terms. He does not believe that any official can rightfully qualify himself, and condemns the practice resorted to by the two under consideration in issuing certificates, especially where examinations are required and they pass on their own grades.

The state officials refused to give the names of the counties or the men concerned, but he intimated that they were located in the thickly populated section of the state. He takes the view that the county boards will have to fill the vacancies by appointment when the present terms of the two disqualified officials expire.

He fully anticipates a suit to test the validity of the law from some of the candidates affected by his rulings. It is believed that it will proceed from the two candidates, who have been declared ineligible because of the lack of grade certificates. They have a right to take the examination in the branches in which they failed under the ordinary practice.

It is believed that a suit would test the validity of the entire statute, which has been alleged to be unconstitutional. In this connection it is pointed out that there was considerable controversy in the house between Speaker Rouse and Representative Warner, one of the introducers of the measure, as to the regularity of the amendments made.

The measure makes great changes in the educational system, and will have many teachers who do not come up to the high standards which it carries into effect gradually. It met with much opposition from certain sections of the teaching population, but had back of it the weight of the state educational department's influence, together with that of the State Teachers' association.

Says Malone is Trying to Even Up.
W. A. Bentley, the former city detective who is now charged with blackmail and graft in connection with O. M. Rutzman, the former chief of police under the administration of George A. Adams, has issued a statement that he is a victim of the desire of James Malone, the present city detective, to even himself on the former administration. He declares that Malone, in his present situation, has such power over the class of witnesses complaining that he could secure an acquittal for a man. Chief Cooper, the present head of the police department, declares in reply that Malone has no such power over the inhabitants of the red light district and Mayor Brown disclaims all connection with the prosecution. Cooper declares that he cautioned the women before the suit was started that they must not swear to false charges.

Pleased with It.
Governor Mickey, who inspected the institution for deaf and dumb at Omaha yesterday, said today that he found it in good condition. He will make an extensive tour of state institutions during the fall. It is his policy to visit them at intervals in order to confer with their officials and see that they are properly conducted.

Many Official Abstracts In.
With the exception of nine counties, all of the official abstracts of the election of judge and regents of the State university at the recent election are on file in the office of the secretary of state. Fred Miller, deputy secretary of state, expressed his surprise that County Clerk Drexel of Douglas county had not yet returned, since it is understood to have been completed. The eight other counties from which returns have not been received are Boone, Cedar, Colfax, Deuel, Greeley, Loup and Valley.

Under the provisions of the statutes the abstracts from the counties were to be received at the office of the secretary of state by the second Monday after election, or he may send a messenger to the clerk of the delinquent county, at the expense of the latter, to secure them. The State Board of Chiropractors met today to meet on the third Monday after election to canvass the vote. Before that time the secretary of state usually has the votes tabulated.

Gait Makes Value of Horse.
Today in the Lincoln testimonial suit of Dr. Wente against the Burlington and to recover for the loss of a valuable animal in transit, said that the value of a horse is determined by the number of gait he has. He testified that this is especially true of saddle horses, who are a prominent breed here. A prominent promoter, who is a prominent democrat, wants $2,000 for the loss of the animal.

Culver Sails for Philippines.
Adjutant General Culver has received word that the Third Cavalry, in which his son, C. C. Culver, is lieutenant, will sail for the Philippines on Tuesday, Buford December 15. He has also learned that the Twenty-fourth infantry, in which W. H. Oury is captain, will sail for the eastern islands on the Thomas January 5, instead of going to Alaska, according to the original orders. Both commands have been stationed at Fort Assiniboine, Mont.

Pardon for Sarpy County Man.
The friends of James Dillon, a Sarpy county man convicted of burglary in October, 1904, and sent to the penitentiary for three years, have applied to Governor Mickey for a pardon. A hearing will be granted soon. It is asserted that Dillon has conducted himself properly and has earned a pardon.

State's Wards May Have Turkey.
Members of the State Board of Public Lands and Buildings say that the inmates of most of the state institutions will be given turkey and cranberry sauce on Thanksgiving day, despite the high price demanded for the fowl. At some of the institutions the whole, or at least a partial supply of turkeys is produced. The purchases are made under special contracts for fresh meat and do not specify the kind to be bought. Warden Beemer of the state penitentiary has already entered into a tentative contract for enough geese to supply the 300 prisoners in his charge with Thanksgiving provisions.

No Locomotive in Heart of City.
Today H. H. Wilson, counsel for the Lincoln, Omaha & Beatrice Interurban railway, quieted the fears of the Lincoln people with the assurance that no steam locomotives will be run down Fourth street to the heart of the city. For several days the owners of property along the thoroughfare have been filing injunction suits against the new line, fearing that its operation would bring the noisy steam trains past their property, greatly to their damage. Mr. Wilson stated that the charter does not provide for the use of locomotives.

Several of the injunction suits which were to have been submitted before Judge Cornish of the district court this morning, have been postponed until next Tuesday.

Mr. Wilson stated that an effort had been made to secure a traffic arrangement with the Lincoln Traction company to use its O street tracks from Twenty-seventh street to the heart of the city, but it had demanded 5 per cent of the receipts and an agreement not to engage in local passenger traffic. The attorney said that the officials of the line were not particularly pleased with the idea of hauling the cars on O street, because of the constant and heavy freight traffic which they expect to handle.
