ENGINEERS DISCUSS HOURS

Locomotive Drivers Say They Are Kept on Duty Too Long at . Certain Times.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 17 .- The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, in secret session here today, "considered plans for reducing the hours of labor for the meinbers of the order. The sentiment prevailed that the hours of locomotive enginears are at times unreasonably long and that there should be such an adjustment of time limitations as would relieve the engineers of long strains at their posts of

At a public meeting in the afternoon the subject of caring for widows and orphans of railroad men killed in service was touched upon. P. H. Morrissey, grand master of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, in talking upon the subject, said that instead of talking about railroad resites, a much more profitable expenditure of energy could be made in advocating that rallroad companies be compelled to pension the widows and orphans of deceased employes who sacrificed their lives in the inerests of the railroads.

CHICAGO. Nov. 17.—While a purty of workmen today were repairing a gas main at the intersection of N — street and Dearborn avenue, the sas became ignited and an explosion followed far-alle infuring two men and burning three others severely. The explosion caused a panic in that portion of the city near to the broken main and for a time there was great danger of fire, as flames shot fully thirty feet into the air from the said of the broken pipe 1 was finally extinguished with much difficulty by throwing mud into the main.

As Captain Kimball of the navy some years ago demonstrated, the most reasonable basis upon which to regulate our naval expenditures is that of insurance. Is it worth while to pay an additional premium to render our position strong enough to deter a rival from attacking us? How much would be necessary, and what would be the effect of our naval increase upon probable rivals?
