menced on an addition to the lard refinery be six stories. Manager Edwards at Swift's says that the business of the plant demands an increase in the lard department addition to the lard refinery, which is being erected just east of the present lard department, completed not later than Jantuary I. A good deal, of course, depends upon the weather, but every effort is to be made to get the new building under roof in six weeks' time. Large quantities of material are now on the ground and more is due to arrive every day until the structure is finished.

The Union Stock Yards company is also making some improvements. This company is constructing a heavy cement retaining wall on the private road between Cudahy's and the Omaha Packing company's plant. This wall was started yesterday. It will be seventy feet in length and twenty feet in height. The width is to be six feet at the base and two feet at the top. This wall is being constructed to prevent dirt from the roadway washing down onto the railroad tracks where cars are loaded.

W. G. Keefer has just started the erec tion of a fine dwelling to cost not less than $5,000, at Twenty-third and B streets. Permits for these improvements were secured yesterday.

Hotel Changes Hands. L. H. Greer has purchased the Ritchhart hotel, Twenty-fifth and L streets, and

There is to be a general overhauling of the entire build-The many friends of Mr. Greer extend to him their best wishes for his success in this venture, Payers Working Hard.

Parks, Johnson & Parks commenced laying brick on Twenty-fourth street yesterday. The start was made at E street, and before night the east side of the street had been payed as far north as D street. It will not take long to lay the brick after force has been increased and every man who wants work at 20 cents an hour can get it by applying to Jim Parks. Another week of good weather and the paving will be laid from A to I street. The old asphalt pavement is now torn up as far south as Business Conditions Improving.

South Omaha merchants report that business is picking up considerably. While there is no great rush at any of the stores there is a steady trade and an increased showing in sales over the fall months. The recent statement made by the three national banks doing business here shows an increase in deposits. South Omaha people placed in his cell. are nearly all employed at present; in fact, it is a hard matter to find an idle man. Those who are working are either purchasing homes or else depositing their savings and a large increase in business next year.

"Cousin Billy" is not worth the pains put on it. It is Clyde Fitch at his poorest, and that's saying a good deal, for Clyde Fitch has been guilty of a lot of things. Its action never gets above the farcical, and it is not broad enough at any point to become uproarious. For the most part it almost bores the audience. At no time does the star have a real opportunity. If designed to wean Mr. Wilson from buffoonery set to music, it may do, but if for any serious purpose it is a failure. Still, "The Little Father of the Wilderness" repays one for sitting through the three inane acts of "Cousin Billy?"

In Mr. Wilson's supporting company is May Robson, who has not been seen in Omaha in a long time now, but who is the same sprightly, energetic, capable actress and clever comedienne. Her contribution to the evening is a most thoroughly appreciated bit. The rest of the cast is good. Boyd's theater was filled last night to welcome Mr. Wilson in his new departure, but it would be stretching the truth to say the people waxed enthusiastic over "Cousin Billy." "The Little Father of the Wilderness" received a merited recognition. The double bill will be repeated this after noon and evening.

GILLAN ON THE FLOWER SHOW Manager of Auditorium Goes Kansas City to Get Ideas for Omaha.

Manager J. M. Gillan of the Auditorium went to Kansas City this morning to visit the flower show there for the purpose of getting pointers for the flower show which will be given in Omaha next winter. Mr. Gilian has, been assured that the flower show for Omaha is a certain thing and he is acting accordingly. Today is the last day of the show in Kansas City. Monday morning Manager Gilian will put a force of carpenters to work laying the new maple floor in the Auditorium, preparatory to opening the big building for the gowns cost money when bought ready made winter's roller skating. Cows Burn Up in Barn. A fire last night destroyed Herbert C. Goodwin's barn at 2812 Hamilton street. The fire was discovered at 7:20, but it had then gained such headway that the entire building was ruined and in it three cows and about 100 fine chickens were burned. The loss in money was estimated at $500. Mr. Goodwin had been in the stable about 5 o'clock and had then gone down town to his work. He can give no explanation as deliberate act of some careless boys or else a tentions. An effort was made to rescue the cows, but it was too late. I. J. Dunn, a neighbor, had his hands hadly burned in this effort. The fire company at Twenty-fifth and Cumings responded, but the run was so long that most of the damage had been done by the time the firemen arrived.

Be Superintendent of Douglas County.

The action of E. J. Bodwell, superintendent of Douglas county, who Thursday was unanimously elected superintendent of the Norfolk city schools, created much surprise in Omaha. Some are surprised he should throw up a position to which he had just been re-elected for two years which pays $1,800 a year for one of less salary, while others insist it is his desire to get into city work through this means.

The place will be filled by the Board of County Commissioners. The only announced candidate for the place so far is Principal Speedie of the Benson schools. He has held the position at Benson for five years and before that was for three years superintendent of Sarpy county schools. There are other candidates, in a tentative sense, but as they do not look for the appointment to be made before the beginning of the new year they are laying low. In the meantime Mrs. Lois J. Caldwell, Superintendent Bodweil's deputy, is likely to be allowed to conduct the office, as she knows its duties thoroughly.
