

CONTRACTORS SERVE NOTICE

Boss Carpenters Give Ultimatum to Union for Removing Two Men

THREAT TO HIRE ONLY NONUNIONISTS

Workmen Are Withdrawn from E. O. Hamilton, with Whom Union Says It Has Had Misunderstanding.

The Contractors' Association of Douglas County has served notice upon the Carpenters' union that unless two union carpenters taken from E. O. Hamilton's work by orders of the business agent of the union are put back on the job the association will stop employing union carpenters altogether.

A resolution to this effect was adopted at a meeting of the association. The union is given ten days in which to comply with the demand. Representatives of the employers say the latter wish to bring impending trouble with the carpenters to a focus if a struggle is to be inaugurated sooner or later by the union.

Since the strike of 1903 the carpenters have had no agreement with the contractors. The contractors have employed both union and non-union men. Recently the union's activity has been noted and the two men were ordered off the Hamilton job because the contractor refused to discharge the non-union men working there.

Text of the Resolution. The resolution sent to the union reads: Resolved, That unless the two union carpenters were pulled off Mr. E. O. Hamilton's work November 8, by the walking delegate of Carpenters' Union, because Mr. Hamilton refused to hire non-union men, are ordered back to work for Mr. Hamilton until such date as date of this notice, that the Contractors' association will cease to employ union carpenters.

Robert McKinnon, business agent of the union, says: "The men were taken off the Hamilton job because of a personal grievance the union has against Mr. Hamilton which justified the action. In general his treatment of union men is responsible. It was not directed against any other contractor and there is no right on to compel the employment of union men only. Our executive committee will make no attempt to formulate a reply to the letter from the association. It is not likely the demand will be complied with. Of course, if the association stands by and supports Mr. Hamilton the trouble may spread and cause a general strike or lockout. Speaking for myself I think this outcome is not probable. It is to be understood explicitly that we have no controversy on with the association or any contractor except Mr. Hamilton."

Carpenters Make Reply. The following communication was sent to Secretary Walter Peterson of the Contractors' association, after a meeting Saturday afternoon, by W. O. Chadwell, secretary of the carpenters' organization:

Your communication of the 14th, last, duly received and contents noted. In reply will say that after due consideration of the facts at our command as to E. O. Hamilton's methods and treatment of some of our members, recently in his employment, our organization has voluntarily agreed to discontinue working for the said E. O. Hamilton until such date as we are satisfied that he will accord us just treatment, and not for the reason stated in your resolution.

We do not assume the right to deprive any member of his civil rights by compelling him to work for an employer against his wishes. If your association sees fit to uphold Hamilton in assuming that right we stand prepared, if need be, to submit our cause to public criticism.

TEACHERS ENTER ON SYSTEM

Propose Pushing Their Demand for Higher Salaries from Economical Standpoint.

Omaha teachers have started a systematic campaign to secure the increase in pay which they recently asked for. They have applied to City Tax Commissioner Fleming for a statement of the amount of taxes the large property owners pay and for a statement of the amount of fees paid by the saloons which goes into the school fund. It is presumed that when in possession of these statistics the teachers will call upon the large property owners and show them what amount their taxes will be increased and secure their support in the movement.

NO ANGELS IN NEW CHAPEL

Varied Collection of Statues to Adorn Chapel in Episcopal Cathedral.

Care has been taken by the authorities of the cathedral of St. John the Divine that the angels shall not arise over statues to be erected in the chapel next to be built. The angels are not yet made for the Belmont chapel, now nearly done. The committee on fabric, in charge of the Belmont chapel decorations and other details, did not consider the sex of the angels that were to adorn it.

The new chapel is to stand immediately north of the Belmont, and is to be called St. Colombo. It is the chapel of the British rite, and the committee, partly to leave no doubt about the decorations, and to prevent a second controversy, has selected men only as subjects for the statues. These men, however, are chosen as representatives of the successive stages of the history of Christianity in Great Britain.

On the exterior of the chapel of St. Colombo are to be five figures, St. Colomba, for whom the chapel is named, St. Dunstan, St. Andrew, St. Patrick and St. David; the respective national saints of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

On pillars of the entrance to the chapel are twenty figures, all men, and among those selected by the American committee to stand for the development of Anglican Christianity are: St. Augustine, leader of the Italian mission to the English in Kent, the venerable Bede, an example of monastic piety; King Alfred, Christian law giver; Archbishop Langton of Magna Charta fame; King Wyckliffe, the morning star of the Reformation; Hooker, father of modern Anglican theology; slovenly Jeremy Taylor; John Wesley, leader of the evangelical movement; John Keble of the Oxford movement; Bishop Berkeley, friend of America; Bishop Heber, representing modern missions, and Frederick Denison Maurice, philosopher and prophet.

TALK OF FEDERAL COURT CASE

Report Worrall and Lawyers Want Grand Jury to Act.

Just what effect the dissolution of the Nebraska Grain association will have on pending litigation in the federal courts of this district is difficult to determine at this time. Judge Baxter and Attorney Howell of Jeffers & Howell, were again in conference Saturday morning over the situation, but both were reticent as to expressing any opinions for publication. Judge Baxter was asked if the dissolution of the association would change the status of affairs? He replied:

"I cannot say, but likely it will. However, I am not prepared to make any statement for publication for the present."

It has leaked out, however, that Thomas Worrall, through his attorneys, Jeffers & Howell, is leaving an effort on foot to bring the matter before the federal grand jury and it is probable in that event that witnesses may be summoned from Kansas, Nebraska and other adjacent states to testify as to the grain trust methods. The grand jury will not meet again until Monday and in any event nothing will be done before that body reassembles.

BISHOP EXPLAINS HIS IDEA

Thinks Theological Course at Creighton Would Give it and Omaha Great Prestige.

"Creighton university would draw students from all over the United States and would come to have an international reputation if a strong faculty of theology and philosophy were established," said Bishop Scannell, referring to his speech Wednesday night at the Creighton University Alumni association banquet advocating such a faculty for Creighton. "My remarks were not with the idea that anything of the nature would come to pass immediately, but I say it would be a very good thing for the university and for Omaha. The teaching of theology and philosophy is the secret of the success of many of the great universities. It is to this that the fame of Salamanca, which draws its students from all the world, is due."
