AMERICAN LEAGUE MEETING

Magnates Decide that Postponed Games Must Be Played on Next Trip.

WARM SESSION IS EXPECTED TODAY

Proposed Consolidation Scheme that Will Leave Several Clubs Out in the Cold May Come Up.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The American Baseball League met in annual session here today and despite the annual statement of Charles Comiskey, president of the local club of the organization, two days ago, that the American league was on the verge of disruption, today's session was as harmonious as a family reunion. Business sessions throughout the day of the magnates at today's session and another meeting will be held tomorrow. What business is to come up for consideration tomorrow is problematic. All the members of the league tonight seemed averse to discussing the affairs of the organization. There was an apparent feeling of unrest among the magnates, however, and the general belief tonight is that the proposed amalgamation of the American and National leagues will come up for consideration. Should this proposed scheme be sprung upon the managers tomorrow's session will be a warm one, as, according to reports of the proposed plan, should the deal go through it would leave several of the clubs of which the American league is composed out in the cold.

Plan of Amalgamation. The plan of amalgamation, it is said by those in a position to know, is for a combination of the two present major leagues into a major and a minor league. In Boston, Philadelphia and St. Louis the teams of the American and National leagues are to be consolidated, and in the other cities where the two leagues remain the National league clubs are to be taken into the new National league, and the American league clubs are to be thrown back into the minor league, which is to take the name of "American league," but which is to belong to class A of the minor leagues. In this plan should be carried out it would leave Comiskey of the Chicago club and Farrell of the New York American league out of the consolidation scheme. A knowledge of the proposed scheme came to Comiskey only a few days ago, and this is said to have caused his attack on President Johnson Monday night. According to the proposed amalgamation plan, the new National league would be made up of eight of the best cities in the country, with President Johnson of the American league as the president of the new organization. One of the principal arguments against the proposed amalgamation scheme is that the American league last year enjoyed the most prosperous season of its existence. Nearly all the members of the league attended today's meeting. The board of directors first held a meeting in President Johnson's office and went through the formality of awarding the pennant to Philadelphia.

Playing of Postponed Games. It was nearly 2 o'clock when the magnates got together to take up the business of the league. The first matter considered was a change in the constitution. After considerable discussion, it was agreed that postponed games on the first trip must be played on the second trip and that postponed games on the second trip must be played on the third trip.

Another matter that was definitely settled was that in the future the annual meetings of the league will be held on the first Wednesday after the second Tuesday in December each year.

T. W. Somers of Cleveland was elected vice president of the league, and Chicago, Washington, New York and Cleveland were chosen to represent the league on the rule committee, which will meet a similar committee of the National league some time before the opening of the playing season next year and remedy any defects in the present rules.

Those present at today's meeting were President Ben Shibe, Manager Mack, and Secretary Hough of the Philadelphia club; Frank Farrell of New York, F. J. Nevin of Detroit, President J. F. Killeyle, Secretary W. Bernhard, and Charles W. Somers of Cleveland; President R. L. Hughes and John E. Bruce of St. Louis, Hugh McBrean of Boston, Manager Jacob Stahl of Washington, and Charles Comiskey of Chicago.

Talking of New Ball League.

NORFOLK, Neb., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—NORFOLK, Grand Island, Kearney, Hastings and Wahoo. Mr. Roberts has replied to Mr. Foley that he will take the matter with Norfolk business men and learn what can be done toward the organization. It has been several years since the Norfolk ball was played in Norfolk. Joe Wilkins, with an Iowa team, came along during Norfolk's last season, beat the locals and were then purchased bodily by Norfolk. Wilkins and his team remained in Norfolk the summer and fall of the following winter. Jack Dwyer of Ponca was perhaps the star and easily the favorite on that team.

WITH THE BOWLERS.

Last night's match on the association alleys was the most exciting and spectacular so far seen this season. The first game ended in a tie. It was up to Captain Dinger Reed to make two strikes and he delivered the goods. Someone said his second strike was lucky, but the Dinger said he played it that way. The second game was the best of the season. The third was another half-raiser, with the score practically a tie to the last frame. Then the Commodore, the local favorite, and the Armour dropped into second place in the league race. Conrad carries the lead next with 535, and 230 for the best single game.

Deaths.

John D. Dodge, Fremont, Neb., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—John D. Dodge, a resident of this county since 1857, died at his home in this city last evening after a long illness at the age of 72 years. He was born in Westport, N. Y., being the oldest of a family of eight, six sons and two daughters, all of whom except himself are now living and three of them besides himself among the first settlers of this vicinity. April 1, 1857, he located on the present site of Ames. Later an attempt was made to establish a town there by the name of Timberlake, but it did not succeed. In 1884 he sold his farm to the Standard Cattle company and moved to Fremont, where he has since resided, but has spent much of his time in Montana. Politically he was a democrat and in the early days about the only one of that party in the vicinity. He leaves one son, W. O. Dodge, of this city, and a daughter, Mrs. Clara Mulkey, wife of E. A. Mulkey, a wealthy stockman of Okalaka, Mont.

TARBELL MAKES SUGGESTION

Former Equitable Official Tells How He Would Amend Insurance Laws.

COMPLETE PUBLICITY AND LIMITATIONS

Would Prohibit Officers from Holding Directorships in Any Bank, Trust Company or Other Corporations.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—After being on the witness stand before the Armstrong legislative committee on insurance investigation for the greater part of three days, Gage E. Tarbell, second vice president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, today testified before the committee and just before adjournment submitted a list of suggestions for the remedy of existing abuses in the management of insurance companies, and for legislation designed to give the state proper control of the members of his family and today and the policy holders. Prominent among these suggestions was absolute publicity. While admitting that wrong had been done by life insurance officials, Mr. Tarbell said he had no apologies to make for any of the things that he hoped they would be punished.

Tarbelle Takes Rebates.

Mr. Tarbell was on the stand the entire day and was questioned as to the system of agencies and the commissions and other compensations allowed them for getting business. Just before the recess the fact was brought out that Mr. Tarbell had taken out insurance on his life and on the life of his family and had received the agents' commission on the premiums as well as renewal commissions. He said that since he became an officer he had taken out $200,000 on his own life in the Equitable. Besides his policies in the Equitable he had taken insurance in the New York Life, the arrangement being made with George W. Perkins, and on this, too, he received the commission on the premiums. He had also a policy in the Aetna and in the Travelers, on which he collected the commissions. He said he carried $100,000 on his own life and $100,000 on members of his family. Mr. Tarbell was emphatic in denouncing the system of rebating by agents and stated that any agent of the Equitable who gave rebates to get business was dismissed. When he took up the same line in the Assembly room he asked if that was not rebating, and Mr. Tarbell said it was not, that he thought he was entitled to it.

Attempts to Justify Conduct.

Later, when Mr. Hughes took up this same subject, the witness justified the taking of commissions as being similar to a merchant who purchased goods of a fellow merchant in the same line, perhaps to fill an order, and got those goods at cost, or of a professional man treating another and charging less than the regular fees. Mr. Tarbell further said if he had done wrong he was sorry, but that he had acted in good faith.

Bank Robbers Felled.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Shortly after 3 o'clock in the morning the residents of Tea were awakened by an explosion, followed in a few minutes by a second explosion. A number of citizens were soon on hand to make an investigation. The building occupied by the Farmers Savings bank was found to have a door open and the interior of the banking room in great disorder. Two unsuccessful attempts had been made to blow the building. The handle had been broken off and some sort of explosive inserted, but notwithstanding that two attempts were made and the hinges were broken the doors jammed so they did not fall out and the robbers were frightened away before they could gain an entrance to the safe. A team of horses belonging to Edward Best, the village blacksmith, and a top buggy belonging to Mr. Bruhn, who conducts an elevator at Tea, are missing.

Mr. Tarbell was on the stand the entire day and was questioned as to the system of agencies and the commissions and other compensations allowed them for getting business. Just before the recess the fact was brought out that Mr. Tarbell had taken out insurance on his life and on the life of his family and had received the agents' commission on the premiums as well as renewal commissions. He said that since he became an officer he had taken out $200,000 on his own life in the Equitable. Besides his policies in the Equitable he had taken insurance in the New York Life, the arrangement being made with George W. Perkins, and on this, too, he received the commission on the premiums. He had also a policy in the Aetna and in the Travelers, on which he collected the commissions. He said he carried $100,000 on his own life and $100,000 on members of his family. Mr. Tarbell was emphatic in denouncing the system of rebating by agents and stated that any agent of the Equitable who gave rebates to get business was dismissed. When he took up the same line in the Assembly room he asked if that was not rebating, and Mr. Tarbell said it was not, that he thought he was entitled to it.
