As the great stone, weighing five tons was slowly placed in position, under the direction of the contractor, Judge Day stepped to the front and, raising his hat, began the opening remarks in a distinct voice and said in substance: "The erec tion of the memorial was assured by the generous contributions of more than a million countrymen, aided by many in foreign lands, who, appreciating the character of the late beloved president, gave their aid in veneration of his many vir-tues and noble qualities. This assemblage gathered here to see put in place the cor-nerstone of the "memorial" that would be erected upon that spot, in honor of the life and services of William McKinley." While the volume of Omaha's trade last While the volume of Omaha's trade last week was fairly large, it was, on account of the continued warm weather, less than was expected. Farmers will not quit work to buy winter goods and consequently the retail merchants are not yet placing their second orders with the wholesalers. Shos and dry goods houses are the ones which notice the larges frade. The grocery market was featureless in the matter of prices. In dry goods notable advances were made. The local houses held clearing sales all week.

Canned oysters in Good Demand. Canned oysters are in good demand, with the supply at the present time quite inade-quite for the needs of the trade. Coast advices report a very strong position in canned salmon. With only one-quarter of the pack of pinks available that are usually to be had at this season of 5.60 the year, and a very light supply in any 2.00 quarter, it looks us if this line would be closely cleaned up before we have gone 4.00 very far into the season. The near approach of the congressional session calls attention to the question of an import tariff on coffice. unoted at the same neuros runny a week ago. Dried and sait fish are very firm, but no advances over prices of last week have been named. There is plenty of the lower grades of fish, but the better grades of sun fish are scarce and command fancy prices. Most dealers prefer to carry but small stocks of these, not because they expect fish to go lower, but because they expect fish to go lower, but because the demand is limited by the price. Of lower and middle grades of fish, the stocks are fairly large and the demand is good. Dry Goods Clearing Sales. demand is good. Dry Goods Clearing Sales. Omsha drygoods houses have been busy with clearing sales the past week and have sold a large amount of sensonable goods at reduced figures. The number of visitors from country towns has been con-miderable. Yet trade on the whole is rather quiet, as the farmers, on account of continued warm weather, which per-mits them to be in the fields, have not bought very heavily of winter goods at the country stores, and the retail mer-chants are not calling on Omaha to fill additional orders. The market is very firm, especially on cotton goods. Agents have named an ad-vance of ic a yard on the whole list of Pepperall wide sheetings. good trade on them and are now replenishing their stock. Trade in all lines is quite satisfactory. Prices, for the most part, are steady and even, in fact there have been some advances and the trade is looking for further advances on many goods before the end of the year. Jobbers believe merchants would do well to place their orders for shovels, spades and steel goods, such as steel and malleable garden rakes, manure forks and field hoes, that will be wanted early in the spring. If these orders are not placed in advance customers cannot be served promptly. Sugar has been very strong. Raws have advanced steadily during the week and are 3-16 cents higher than a week ago. Refined sugar has advanced 19 cents per 100 pounds. The impression of local jobbers is that higher prices will rule be tween now and the first of the year. Spot stocks of raws are very light, and the new crop will not be available in large quantities until January or February. In the meantime holders of raws expect to realize considerably more money than they have been making lately. Sugar, say the local jobbers, will be a safe purchase on the present basis for a supply of a month or six weeks. Cheese is practically where it was a week ago.
