ESCH-TOWNSEND BILL AGAIN

Proposed Law, Amended to Meet President's Idea, Presented in House.

ENLARGES POWERS OF THE COMMISSION

Seven Members, serving seven years, at salary of $10,000, May Pass Upon Complaint Under the Act.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The Esch-Townsend railroad bill, which passed the house at its last session, has been redrawn and was introduced in the house today by Mr. Townsend.

As explained today by Mr. Townsend, the bill "expresses the idea of the president in his message and will, if enacted into law, amend the interstate commerce law as to matters of essential importance."

"It enlarges the Interstate Commerce commission to seven members, increases the length of their term of office to seven years and their salaries to $10,000. This is done at the president's suggestion, as the increased pay is offered upon the commission will increase its duties and responsibilities and require the best men obtainable."

"It seeks to abolish the so-called midnight rate evil by enlarging the time in which a purpose or scheduled rate can be changed to sixty days, and compels the carrier to itemize its schedules and rates in accordance with the instructions of the commission. This schedule must also show the division of fares or charges between so-called trunk or through lines and terminal or industrial routes."

"It also provides that the commission shall decide promptly and within ninety days after hearing all cases brought before it. It contains practically the same provision of the Esch-Townsend bill, which authorizes the commission, upon complaint filed after full hearing, to determine whether a rate of regulation is reasonable or unreasonable, and, if unreasonable, to substitute the reasonable maximum rate in its stead, and it may order both a maximum and minimum rate in cases involving the classification of rates."

"It also provides for a rehearing upon any order which the commission has made on the application of each party to the case. It also provides for a rehearing upon the decision of the court, whether expressly permitted by the bill or not, would have the power to enjoin any order if the proper showing is made that the order or decree is unlawful."

"The bill also provides for the fullest possible reports from the railroads in every detail of their business and business relations showing receipts and disbursements, all contracts, private or otherwise, and gives the commission power to require specified methods of keeping accounts for making reports. The bill authorizes the commission and its agents to inspect at any time all books of accounts, records, memoranda or contracts, and imposes fines and imprisonment for keeping and reporting anything but true and full records and for withholding any information from the commission."

"The president in his message calls particular attention to three matters which should be included in any measure to amend the interstate commerce law. First, to provide against so-called midnight rates; second, to empower the commission with authority to fix, upon complaint and full hearing, a reasonable maximum rate in place of one fixed by the commission to be unreasonable; and to have it go into effect; third, to compel the widest publicity of railroad bookkeeping and use of the product of the new Esch-Townsend bill fully accomplished."

The report was published tonight that President John A. McCall of the New York Life Insurance company will resign from that company before the next annual meeting of the trustees, in April, and that if he does not tender his resignation at a meeting of the trustees next Wednesday he will refrain only at the request of the trustees, who, the report said, do not wish to have to elect a temporary president. The published report also stated that the presidency of the New York Life Insurance company has been offered to John Cliffin, a trustee of that company and president of the H. B. Cliffin company, and that Mr. Cliffin has refused to accept the office.

FOOD CAN DO THINGS

Real Miracles Worked in the Body. From Manitoba a lady writes her reasons for the faith that is in her as to miracles wrought in the present day:

"I have been a great traveler in this land beyond the sea," she says, "and it is not surprising that my digestive apparatus never very strong, should have become thoroughly deranged from the effect of the starchy, highly seasoned, greasy dishes usually set before wayfarers."

"It became the prey of all the distress and wretchedness that is always attendant upon such a condition of the stomach, when I could eat nothing but merely soft warm milk till I was nearly starved and looked like a half-living skeleton."

"My brain grew sluggish and insomnia punished me till I became a hysterical wreck. My only hope and desire at this time was that I might reach the end of a painful life, and that speedily."

"I heard of the predigested Grape-Nuts food and some months ago, without one grain of faith in it, bought a box. I found to my surprise that after one day's use of it I was already benefited, and by the time I had used all of the first package I became convinced that the days of miracles are not yet over—so great was the improvement that had come over me. It was the opening of the door, as it were, to good health and energy of brain and body. I gave me new vigor, mental and physical, my digestion was restored, all the distressing symptoms of a disordered stomach passed away, and the nervous, hysterical woman at last began to know what it really is to live. My eyes grew brighter and my body rounded out with returning flesh. In the first three weeks I gained 30 pounds in weight and 100 in strength and energy."

"The indescribable relief that came when I realized that I could discard the nauseating drugs with which I had been so long dosing myself and use in their stead a food so delicious and strengthening as Grape-Nuts, may be imagined."

"I write this in simple gratitude, for I feel that Grape-Nuts food has brought back to me all the joy of living." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason.
