HOGS—There was a moderate run' of hogs this morning, 133 cars, about 8,850 head, being rejorted in up to noon. There has been a good-sized run this week, it being the largest since the last week of July. The receipts for the week total 31,498 head, as against 30,172 the previous week. But for all that the run this week is large it is still smaller than that for the same week last year, when 55,452 head were rejected.

TURNIPS—Louisiana, per doz bunches, revived.

Trading on hogs opened rather slow this morning and the market was inclined to frag with prices generally 25c lower than resterday. It was thought that as the trading progressed things would pick up a little, but the expected failed to happen, and the market closed slow and week to a nickel lower. The bulk of the sales today were made in the neighborhood or $4.8.5.7 feet lower than yesterday.

The market has been in fairly good condition all this week, but has been subject to rather violent fluctuations. Thursday the market was steady with last week's close, but the last two days of the week in hogs closes with a loss of about $6. The market for the week on hogs closes with a loss of about $6. GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Wheat is Purely Lecal Affair Responding to Operators' Changes.

PRICES FIRM ON CLOSING OF FRIDAY

December Corn Deliveries Easy Relative to the May More on Account Than Any Particular Pressure.

OMAHA. Dec. 9. 1966.

OMAHA. Dec. 9. The wheat market was purely a local affair, responding to changes in attitude of local operators. Prices firmed early on buying by yesterday's close, and eased off toward the close on realizing. The news of an indifferent character had but little effect upon the trend of values. Manitobas was reported in better demand at seaboard and thirty loads were worked yesterday at New York. Northwestern receipts were light. Cables were off fractionally in sympathy with the decline here yesterday. Argentina advices are of continued favorable progress.

CORN-The December deliveries were easy relative to the May. The May displayed considerable firmness at times with commission houses good buyers. Local arrivals over-ran the estimate, but large sales for shipment for this month create a good demand for anything arriving unplaced. Liverpool closed 'gc lower.

Oats were dull with professional selling on every indication of weathysase in other pits. No material change in pirce occurred, however. Receipts are light and the situation sound.

In the provision market it is the cash buyer that is making provisions strong. The demand for nearby deliveries continues persistent. December lard today soid at $7.55. The only product for sale was for May delivery. For this reason that month has not advanced recently.

Broominali cabled: "World's wheat shipments for Monday next will be about 12, 409,000 bushels, of which quancity Europe will take about 11,000,000 bushels. The good bushels, against 2,28,000 bushels. The good bushels, and talk of continued liberal exports from Runsia. Some steadiness developed, as sellers were scarce and shorts nervous. Corn opened easy and unchanged Later there was some selling on forecast of large American shipments and prices eased from '4634d."

Chicago reports say that it looks as though Patten was the buyer of corn this morning. Local opinion seems to be that he is around on the long side now.

Australian wheat shipments this week were 10,000 bushels, old and 2,000,0 vorable.

A wire from Minneapolis says that the Great Northern delivered 1,800 empties Friday to points west of Larimore. They cannot get to Minneapolis for several days. Clearances were 121,200 bushels of wheat. 288,000 bushels of corn. 272,000 bushels of oats, 49,000 bushels of wheat and 14,000 barrels of flour. outs, 49,000 hushels of wheat and 14,000 barrels of flour.

Primary wheat receipts were 656,000 bushels, to 947,000 bushels last year, and shipments were 647,000 bushels, against 253,000 bushels last year, com receipts were 739,000 bushels last year, and corn shipments were 399,000 bushels last year, and corn shipments were 399,000 bushels, to 434,000 bushels last year.

Chicago estimated receipts for Monday; Wheat, 17 cars; corn, 402 cars; outs, 179 cars.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

George H. Broadhurst wrote "Why Smith Left Home" to be funny, and it succeeds with a vengeance in the hands of the Woodward Stock company. The farce was received rapturously by two of the usual large Sunday audiences, and besides giving nearly every person in the company a chance to make a hit, permitted several successes of respectable proportions to be achieved by actors who have not heretofore had the opportunity so to do at the Burwood. In the comedy the one of the characters that gets a straight, clear field with the greatest | possibilities is that of the cook. In the hands of Miss Currie Clark Ward it was worked like a new South African diamond mine. This was Miss Ward's first work on the Burwood stage, and from the time she came on see made good. Her brogue, her acting and her make-up were rich and ludicrous and she carned big sheafs of applause.

For the first time Miss Marie Hudson was alloted a part that permitted something approaching range and she demonstrated no little ability as a character actress. Her old maid was excellently done, and without groping too far she extracted a whole lot of humor out of the role. strated no little ability as a character

Miss Lang was dainty and attractive as hickman, Washington...

Hartsel, Philadelphia... Mrs. Smith. In the personation of Smith, the man with the griefs, Mr. Morrison again showed his marked ability in light comedy, executing scene after scene in a way that deserves nothing but praise. Mr. Owen's funmaking seemed all the more pronounced by way of a departure from his classic creation of Richelleu the week before. He has a let to do and does it very well. Mr. Schoffeld is a very funny German. As Robert Walton Mr. Simpson Killan, Detroit. Yeager, New York. is thoroughly at ease and gets the best out of the role. Miss Hill is a remarkably forbidding and terrifying aunt. Miss Davis has a maid part which she plays demurely and with individualism and a touch of wickedness. The twist of the mouth in Mr. Fulton's make-up is a work of art. Miss Marion Snowden, an Omaha girl, made her first appearance on this stage and made a hit as Rose Walton.

The production is put on with the customary sumptuous scenery and attention

Vaudeville at the Creighton-Orphenm. For genuine artistic merit, nothing has been offered on the Orpheum stage in a long time that equals "The Queen's Pan" In this three daintily sketched Watteau figures, two maids and a page, come to life, and for a few moments live and move and sing their sentiments. The maidens show their femininity by falling in love with the page, and he shows his immature masculinity by undertaking to make love to both of them, with the result that he pacifies neither. The music is quite as quaint and delicious as the picture, and as each of the three young women who enact the roles has a sweet and well trained voice, the whole is made delightful. The sketch ends with each being restored to the picture and becoming merely a sketch on a cars.

Captain Bloom's demonstration of wireless telegraphy is quite interesting as far as it goes, but the captain could easily add to its interest by increasing his apparatus so as to show a spark, such as is used in practice, and by explaining a little more explicitly the theory of the electric impulse. His remarks on this topic are a trifle too vague and do not convey to the listener any very definite notion of what he is driving at.

It doesn't seem to grow old, this piece of Dancy's. It would be hard to find any one who doesn't know it backward, and yet its presence is always sure to fill the theater. It has about it an indefinable something that brings it support. It may be the simple, unaffected was in which it tells a story that has no bad taste in it anywhere; it may be the realistic touches of the horse race and the pickaninny performance, or it may be any one of several of its distinctive features, or it may be all of them together. Whatever it is, it has a hold on the public. and is still bringing a golden stream into the coffers of its owners. When the police arrived Boston had made his gut-away. Much broken glass was discovered around the place, but nothing of the chief actor. There was much mirth in the jail office when the captain solemnly warned South Omals and Council Bluffs to be on the lockout for a short, black negro by the name of Boston Green. In
