JUVENILES SUCCEED ADULTS Children at Detention House Will Receive Donations of the Y. The local Women's Christian Temperance union will give its Christmas treat to the children of the Douglas county detention home this year instead of the prisoners of the county jail, as has been their custom for many years. Wednesday afternoon, after a spirited discussion, in which it developed that the majority of the members had long been opposed to taking sweemeats to the jail and had only continued the custom out of respect to Mrs. Jardine, who established it years ago. The general opinion was-that too much sentiment was wasted upon cailoused lawbreakers that might be expended with profit upon juvenile offenders, and that, as Omaha and Nebraska have fallen into the line of progress with a juvenile court and probation system, it is the business of such organizations as the Women's Christian Temperance union to give their aid to a work of prevention rather than to the reforming of adults, many of whom, according to Sheriff Power, preferred staying in jall to earning a living for themselves and family. The men at the jail will not be entirely overlooked, and Christmas morning the union will give to each prisoner a spray of holly with some appropriate sentiment of Bible verse attached by a white ribbon, the emblem of the Women's Christian Temperance union, instead of the fruit and candy that have been sent in the past.
