HENNING'S NOT CANDIDATE

Says He Wants to Be Mayor of Omaha and Not Treasurer of State.

HARMONY IN THE STATE NORMAL BOARD

Belief that Mortensen May Be Governor Softens Opposition of the Controlling Faction of the Board.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Dec. 21.—(Special.)—City Treasurer Hennings of Omaha, who is in the city for a couple of days, said this afternoon that he is not a candidate for the state treasurership, because he is a candidate for the mayoralty.

He denied that he had authorized the use of his name in connection with the state treasurer nomination, though he intimates that it might have come from his friends.

"I am anxious," he said, "to wind up my connection with the city treasury on January 4 and am trying to determine some means whereby I can do so and obtain immunity for my bondsmen."

He stated that the Board of Education insists on his compliance with the last clause, while others seek to have him vacate the office January 4.

Good Announces Candidacy

State Senator Ellis E. Good of Nemaha county, who has been in the city conferring with influential politicians, said today that he expects to become a candidate for the next republican nomination to the office of state treasurer. He announced that he does not anticipate any difficulty in securing his home delegation, but is not willing to predict as to the situation in other counties.

Governor Has Hope

Officials close to the governor and in his confidence suggest that the cause of fair railway taxation will not be lost, even should officials without convictions on the subject be elected, since The Bee case of 1932 establishes a precedent for the use of mandamus to compel the compliance of the state board to assess the corporate property at its full value. The precedent established this year will serve as the minimum below which the future boards cannot go, according to these persons.

Sweet Harmony at Kearney

Reports brought from Kearney by returning members of the board of education indicate that the expected clash between State Treasurer Mortensen and his old-time antagonist, C. H. Gregg, failed to materialize. Even Tom Majors and the treasurer managed to work together without manifesting any unseemly irritation.

It is now thought that among the members of the board that the treasurer may yet be governor and the knowledge that he would be in a position to appoint several members of the body which has charge of the two normal schools is regarded as having exercised its influence in softening the opposition to Gregg in the past association of the members.

Neither of the buildings is in such a state of completion that the board felt justified in accepting it. All except $1,500 of the amount due on the Kearney building was allowed, making the payment $4,500. The money withheld is to be used in finishing the interior, which will be completed by the first of the year, and $1,500 is to be used in painting up the exterior and washing the artificial stone with an acid solution in an effort to remove the stains.

When completed the building, according to Mr. Mortensen, will be one of the best owned by the state. The chapel at Peru is also in an unfinished condition, although the contractor is within sight of its completion. In both instances the bonds are kept in full force for the protection of the state until the work is finally completed and accepted.

Board Elects Miss Charlotte Lowe

The board elected Miss Charlotte Lowe a member of the faculty in the model school at Kearney. The new instructor taught for seven years at Liverpool, England, and is a graduate of the Peru Normal. In addition, she has had several years' experience in city school work in Nebraska.

Wants New Trial

Today Attorney General Norris Brown filed a motion for a new trial in the case of the State against the State Journal Company, involving the alleged unauthorized publication of supreme court reports. At the office of that official the statement was made that the suit is an original action in the supreme court, and therefore, the motion for a new trial had to be filed within three days, just as in the district court.

Cornshuckers Cannot Play Yafe

Lincoln basket ball enthusiasts will not be afforded the opportunity of seeing the Yale college team in action against the university aggregation, as the manager of the sons of Eli has decided to take the players on a southern trip instead of bringing them west, as was the original intention. Physical Director Clapp is in receipt of a letter from the manager of the big eastern team, in which the latter states that the Yale men will not be taken farther west than Chicago. Nebraska's schedule, although it is yet incomplete, will include dates for games with Wisconsin, Minnesota and several minor universities. There is a possibility of fixing a date for a game between the Kansas university team and the Cornshuckers.

Ready Up More Than Railways

Governor Mickey has secured a compilation showing the percentage of increase in the assessment of land values in the eastern counties from 1928 to 1934. It shows that some counties advanced more than twice as much as the corporations, whose average increase was 73 per cent. The governor called attention to the fact that the realty values used by the railways in their comparison include the western counties, where land was assessed at more than one-fifth and sometimes as much as one-half before the new law took effect requiring the use of one-fifth. The governor's figures are from counties not affected in that way. The percentages are as follows:

Adams	10	Lancaster	54
Antelope	12	Madison	55
Boone	11	Merrick	56

CROWDS GREET CORN SPECIAL

Some Information Given Visitors as Well as Farmers on Line.

TODAY IS BEING SPENT ALONG BEAVER

Across the Hundredth Meridian People See Bursting Granaries and Live Stock Fine as Any in the State.

BEAVER CITY, Neb., Dec. 21.—(Special Telegram.)

The Burlington seed corn special arrived in Beaver City on schedule time and was greeted by an enthusiastic throng of farmers and town people. At Stamford a number of prominent farmers boarded the special and were brought to Beaver City to receive the benefit of the lectures and will return this evening, being the guests of the Burlington.

Yesterday the special made the trip up the Oberlin branch and thence up the Republican valley to Orleans. At all places the receptions were hearty and farmers and others were eager for the information furnished.

Today will be devoted to the Beaver Valley. To some of the members of the party who had never visited this valley before the sight that presented itself was a revelation. The thousands of acres of alfalfa, droves of cattle, sleek hogs, huge piles of corn, large barns and bursting granaries were a surprise, especially as the special crossed the hundredth meridian, supposed to be the dividing line between the arid and the arid domain.

At 9:30 the train left to visit towns along the St. Francis branch, the Burlington line which will be built in the spring to Pueblo, Colo., and made one of the main lines of that system.
