

ESTABLISHED JUNE 19, 1871.

OMAHA, TUESDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 26, 1905—TEN PAGES.

SINGLE COPY THREE CENTS.

DAY AT WHITE HOUSE

President Spends Christmas Quietly with Members of His Family.

SPENDS BRIEF TIME IN OFFICE

He Attends to Few Urgent Matters and Goes for Horseback Ride.

NO CABINET MEETINGS THIS WEEK

Chief Executive Expects to Make Season's Real Holiday.

DINNER AT FAIRBANKS RESIDENCE

Vice President and Wife Leave for Indianapolis in the Evening—Business Generally Suspended in Capital.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—Official Washington celebrated Christmas by a general suspension of government business. Only matters of urgent importance were considered, no routine business being taken up. All of the government departments were closed, but some of the cabinet officers were at their desks for a time attending to important mail and telegraphic advice.

President Roosevelt appeared at his office for only a brief time—just long enough in fact to dispose of a few matters of importance which demanded his attention. He did not attend church service, remaining during the morning hours with the members of his family. Intimate personal friends called at the White House in the morning hours, but for the most part no visitors were received.

During the morning there was a general gift giving at the White House. This exchange of presents was confined practically to the members of the family. The president's third son, Archie, as usual, had a Christmas tree in his own room and from that he distributed his gifts to the family and the household people. Mrs. Cowles, the president's sister, entertained the members of the family with a gift-giving at her home.

During the forenoon the president and Mrs. Roosevelt went for a long ride. A family dinner was given at the White House later in the day. Among the guests were Representative Nicholas Longworth, fiancé of Miss Brewster.

No Cabinet Meetings This Week.

The president has notified the members of his cabinet that during the present week there will be no regular meetings of the cabinet. He will take up during the week only matters of the most urgent importance and will receive no callers or visitors unless their business is imperative.

It is his purpose to make this truly a holiday week and he will spend as little time as possible in the transaction of routine business.

The vice president and Mrs. Fairbanks entertained a party of friends at their home today, but it is their purpose to spend the holiday recess at their home in Indianapolis. They expect to leave for Indianapolis tonight.

The members of the cabinet, after disposing of such business in their departments as required immediate attention, passed the day with their families and friends at their homes.

Throughout the city generally business was suspended and the day was very much like a Sunday in the national capital.

Celebration in the Navy.

Admiral Dewey's Christmas greeting to the officers and men of the navy, bespeaking a united stand for the good of the country and the service, was communicated today to the officers and men aboard the vessels throughout the world, wherever they could be reached by telegraph.

To the men of the navy along the Atlantic coast there was also sent a Christmas greeting in the form of a wireless telegraph, which incidentally served as an elaborate and practical test of this auxiliary of the naval service. The wireless messages were sent by direction of Admiral Manney, chief of the bureau of equipment, and the results were most satisfactory to him. The messages containing the greetings were sent out last night from the wireless station at Washington navy yard and were relayed from place to place.

Early responses came from the officers nearest Washington, but before midnight many of the stations had replied, including New Orleans and Colon and San Juan, the Colon reply coming by way of Guantanamo.

Only necessary work was done today on the ships everywhere.

Liberal shore leaves had been granted to the officers and men, while the dinner served aboard ship was under the usual custom characteristic of the Christmas season. On many of the vessels the captains joined with the crew in the ward room in celebration of the day.

Miles Relieved from Duty.

Secretary Taft has granted the application of Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., retired, for relief from further duty with the organized militia of Massachusetts and the necessary orders to that effect will be issued tomorrow.

Since January 1 last General Miles has served as military adviser and inspector general on the staff of Governor Douglas of Massachusetts.

Pardon for Lieutenant McDonald.

Because of the prisoner's good military record, the president has issued a pardon in the case of Paul H. McDonald, formerly first lieutenant, Tenth infantry.

While serving with his regiment at Fort Lawton, Wash., McDonald was convicted by court martial about a year ago of the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses and was sentenced to be discharged from the army and to two years' confinement in the military prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

CHRISTMAS DAY IN NEW YORK

Generous Outpouring of Public and Private Charity in Gotham.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—Christmas day in New York was marked by the customary suspension of business and the usual family reunions and generous outpouring of public and private charity. Fully 200,000 poor persons partook of the bountiful Christmas fare provided in all the city hospitals and asylums, in missions and other benevolent institutions supported by private charity and at the annual distribution of dinners by the Salvation army and the Volunteers of America.

At the Grand Central Palace the distribution of Christmas dinner baskets by the Salvation army began early in the morning and continued until the needs of nearly 6,000 families had been relieved. In addition to this, numerous bundles of clothing for children and adults were distributed. At the Bowery mission more than 2,000

PRESIDENT MORALES MISSING

Head of Dominican Republic Disappears and People Are Excited at Capital.

SAN DOMINGO, Dec. 25.—President Morales has left the city and his destination is unknown. The city and surrounding country is in quiet, but considerable unrest and excitement is shown at the unexpected departure of the president.

POPE GRATULATES CARDINAL

Expresses Concern Over Attempt to Spanish Prelate.

ROME, Dec. 25.—The pope today expressed concern over the attempt made in Barcelona to stab Cardinal Serbelloni, archbishop of Valencia. His holiness discussed the incident at length with Cardinal Merry del Val, papal secretary of state, and with Cardinal Vives y Tuto, bishop of Barcelona, who is here. Later he sent a message to the cardinal congratulating him on his escape.

The pope today received in private audience Harry St. George Tucker, president of the Jamestown (Va.) Exposition company, who is in Rome with the object of interesting the Italian government in the exposition.

BARCELONA, Spain, Dec. 25.—The anarchist who last night attempted to stab Cardinal Salvador Casanueva y Pages, bishop of Urgel, as he was leaving the cathedral, committed suicide by taking poison soon after his arrest.

SULTAN OF MOROCCO BALICES

His Majesty Refuses to Agree to Holding Conference at Madrid.

MOROCCO, Dec. 25.—The sultan of Morocco refuses to agree to the holding of the international conference on Moroccan reforms at Madrid, instead of at Algiers.

Portuguese Cabinet Resigns.

LISBON, Dec. 25.—Luciano Castro, the premier, and the members of his cabinet tendered their resignations today. The resignations were accepted by King Charles, who requested his ministers to retain their portfolios until the new year.

INSANE MAN AT HIGH SCHOOL

Climbs Up Outside Wall to Second Story and Is Captured Inside Building.

The actions of an insane colored man giving his name as George Matthews and his address as Atlantic city, furnished amusement for a crowd of curious people at the high school building yesterday afternoon. The man was first discovered throwing stones and bricks at the cannon on the school grounds, and continued the bombardment until the school bell struck 1 o'clock.

He then abandoned his line of attack and, as if caught with another idea, attacked the building in person, running up to the stone wall and in some manner managing to scale the perpendicular surface, digging his fingers into the crevices and making his way to a second-story window, which he succeeded in opening and entering. At 2 o'clock Patrolman Murphy appeared and telephoned the station for assistance in securing the man. Emergency Officer Rinn and Detective Mitchell responded in the wagon and the three men located Matthews in the armory of the High School Cadets making an inspection of the rifles.

He offered no resistance to the officers and explained to them that he had been sent from Lincoln by President Roosevelt to inspect the artillery and arms at the White House on Christmas day, that day being chosen as the soldiers would then be off duty and away. He was locked up in the insanity charge and proceeded to his cell quietly, giving the police or prisoners no trouble.

TRAIN STRIKES STREET CAR

One Man Killed and Three Injured in Grade Crossing Accident in East St. Louis.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Dec. 25.—One man was killed and three injured in an accident to the railroad yards today, caused by a freight train backing into a street car.

JOHN DAUGHERTY, St. Louis, was killed. He was struck by the rear of the freight train. He was 40 years of age, single, and was employed as a laborer.

Three other men were injured. One was seriously injured and two were slightly injured. They were all taken to the hospital.

The street car was badly damaged. The freight train was also damaged. The accident occurred at the intersection of the railroad tracks and the street.

The street car was carrying several passengers. The freight train was carrying coal. The accident occurred at about 10 o'clock.

The railroad company is investigating the accident. The police are also investigating the accident. The city is mourning the death of John Daugherty.

The railroad company is offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car. The police are also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car.

The railroad company is also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car. The police are also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car.

The railroad company is also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car. The police are also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car.

The railroad company is also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car. The police are also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car.

The railroad company is also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car. The police are also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car.

The railroad company is also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car. The police are also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car.

The railroad company is also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car. The police are also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car.

The railroad company is also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car. The police are also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car.

The railroad company is also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car. The police are also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car.

The railroad company is also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car. The police are also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car.

The railroad company is also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car. The police are also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car.

The railroad company is also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car. The police are also offering a reward for information leading to the identification of the driver of the street car.

DAY LIKE ONE IN SPRING

Christmas the Mildest Omaha People Can Readily Remember.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—Hundreds of tenement babies and their toy-laden Christmas trees were carried into the street before daylight today during a fire which threatened to obliterate several blocks of the city in the vicinity of Fifty-eighth street and Eleventh avenue. A six-story factory building at 634 and 636 West Fifty-eighth street was completely destroyed with a loss of $200,000.

NOTHING LIKE YULETIDE WEATHER

All Day Sky Is Clear and the Sun Shines Brightly Upon the Happy and Prosperous City.

No fairer Christmas day ever dawned on Omaha than that of 1905. But for being the winter solstice one could easily imagine it to be an ideal day in spring or early autumn. There was just the crispness in the clear morning air to suggest the conveniences of an overcoat, but there were venturesome ones who discarded even that garment, and the day continued with unvarying temperature, with scarcely a breath of wind stirring. The sky was cloudless from the greater part of the day, a few scattering fleecy ones appearing during the later afternoon, but brought with them no portent of a change from the mild 43-degree temperature that prevailed.

Omaha people enjoyed the calmness of the day all the more, reflecting upon the severity of the weather of one year ago, when the blizzard which ushered the old year out and the new one in, made its debut.

The day was as quiet as it was beautiful. A few belated Christmas shoppers were to be observed on the streets, the forenoon gathering up some overlooked remembrance. The stores were, however, about all closed and the day had a Sunday air.

The hotels all served special Christmas feasts to their patrons, but there were few transfers in the city than for many days. Most of the patrons of the hotels were the regular local boarders, though at two or three of the hotels special dinner parties were entertained. It was in all respects a home Christmas, and most of Omaha dined at home and enjoyed the day in family gatherings.

Expressmen Are Busy.

The hard work of the express companies' wagons and the various messenger service boys who were delivering packages from belated trains or favors from local donors.

The street cars did but a light business during the morning, only a few carrying hordes of worshippers to the Catholic churches where Christmas services were observed. In the afternoon many took advantage of the fine weather for rides to Council Bluffs, Florence, Benson and South Omaha.

The band performances at the theaters were liberally patronized by both local and out-of-town theater parties.

At Fort Omaha the signal corps boys were entertained with a grand Christmas feast, as was the garrison at Fort Crook. Several of the department of military officials were observed in the city to participate in the Christmas festivities there.

In brief, the day in all its appointments of fine weather was a fitting finale to the general prosperity prevailing in Omaha. Its observance was in full keeping with the spirit of good will that has been the good fortune of this city to be citizens of Omaha, and will be remembered as one of the happiest and most pleasing ever passed in this growing metropolis of the central west.

NO PICNIC FOR THE POLICEMAN

Holiday Jubilation Means Extra Work for the Bluecoat.

There was not quite as much of the peace on earth and good will among men in that portion of the earth's surface included in the limits of the city of Omaha on Christmas day as that day of all days demands. It is not surprising, of course, that there should be an unusual amount of petty lawlessness at holiday times, as every man with a tendency toward dissipation, and even many without such tendency, ceases all restraint and takes occasion to go out with his friends for what he terms a "good time," which means the taking into the system of more of the liquid that cheers him will allow him to observe the laws of the city with the result that he is fortunate if he does not spend a portion of the Christmas season behind the bars of the police station, where he is given an opportunity to sober up and later donate a few dollars into the city's treasury.

The annual program for which the police are on the lookout and make special preparations. But it is not the plain, happy "drunk" that gives the real trouble; he is merely put away where he can do no harm to anyone for a few hours. The real trouble is to be feared and watched for in the person of the vicious nature, who uses the day and time as an excuse for riotous action, who not only drinks to excess, but engages in quarrels, and carries dangerous weapons which he uses recklessly, and deals death or injury to those around him and also the thief—the pickpocket and shoplifter, who ply their trades with increased vigor, looting among the crowds in the stores and snatching what they can from the unwary.

These are the ones who are in evidence at Christmas time as a menace to the public, and a source of great trouble to the police. The season of 1905 has not been an unusual one for this class, although not a day has passed or a week during which one or more of these characters was not nabbed by the good will among men in that portion of the earth's surface included in the limits of the city of Omaha on Christmas day as that day of all days demands.

It is not surprising, of course, that there should be an unusual amount of petty lawlessness at holiday times, as every man with a tendency toward dissipation, and even many without such tendency, ceases all restraint and takes occasion to go out with his friends for what he terms a "good time," which means the taking into the system of more of the liquid that cheers him will allow him to observe the laws of the city with the result that he is fortunate if he does not spend a portion of the Christmas season behind the bars of the police station, where he is given an opportunity to sober up and later donate a few dollars into the city's treasury.

The annual program for which the police are on the lookout and make special preparations. But it is not the plain, happy "drunk" that gives the real trouble; he is merely put away where he can do no harm to anyone for a few hours. The real trouble is to be feared and watched for in the person of the vicious nature, who uses the day and time as an excuse for riotous action, who not only drinks to excess, but engages in quarrels, and carries dangerous weapons which he uses recklessly, and deals death or injury to those around him and also the thief—the pickpocket and shoplifter, who ply their trades with increased vigor, looting among the crowds in the stores and snatching what they can from the unwary.

These are the ones who are in evidence at Christmas time as a menace to the public, and a source of great trouble to the police. The season of 1905 has not been an unusual one for this class, although not a day has passed or a week during which one or more of these characters was not nabbed by the good will among men in that portion of the earth's surface included in the limits of the city of Omaha on Christmas day as that day of all days demands.

It is not surprising, of course, that there should be an unusual amount of petty lawlessness at holiday times, as every man with a tendency toward dissipation, and even many without such tendency, ceases all restraint and takes occasion to go out with his friends for what he terms a "good time," which means the taking into the system of more of the liquid that cheers him will allow him to observe the laws of the city with the result that he is fortunate if he does not spend a portion of the Christmas season behind the bars of the police station, where he is given an opportunity to sober up and later donate a few dollars into the city's treasury.

The annual program for which the police are on the lookout and make special preparations. But it is not the plain, happy "drunk" that gives the real trouble; he is merely put away where he can do no harm to anyone for a few hours. The real trouble is to be feared and watched for in the person of the vicious nature, who uses the day and time as an excuse for riotous action, who not only drinks to excess, but engages in quarrels, and carries dangerous weapons which he uses recklessly, and deals death or injury to those around him and also the thief—the pickpocket and shoplifter, who ply their trades with increased vigor, looting among the crowds in the stores and snatching what they can from the unwary.

These are the ones who are in evidence at Christmas time as a menace to the public, and a source of great trouble to the police. The season of 1905 has not been an unusual one for this class, although not a day has passed or a week during which one or more of these characters was not nabbed by the good will among men in that portion of the earth's surface included in the limits of the city of Omaha on Christmas day as that day of all days demands.

It is not surprising, of course, that there should be an unusual amount of petty lawlessness at holiday times, as every man with a tendency toward dissipation, and even many without such tendency, ceases all restraint and takes occasion to go out with his friends for what he terms a "good time," which means the taking into the system of more of the liquid that cheers him will allow him to observe the laws of the city with the result that he is fortunate if he does not spend a portion of the Christmas season behind the bars of the police station, where he is given an opportunity to sober up and later donate a few dollars into the city's treasury.

The annual program for which the police are on the lookout and make special preparations. But it is not the plain, happy "drunk" that gives the real trouble; he is merely put away where he can do no harm to anyone for a few hours. The real trouble is to be feared and watched for in the person of the vicious nature, who uses the day and time as an excuse for riotous action, who not only drinks to excess, but engages in quarrels, and carries dangerous weapons which he uses recklessly, and deals death or injury to those around him and also the thief—the pickpocket and shoplifter, who ply their trades with increased vigor, looting among the crowds in the stores and snatching what they can from the unwary.

These are the ones who are in evidence at Christmas time as a menace to the public, and a source of great trouble to the police. The season of 1905 has not been an unusual one for this class, although not a day has passed or a week during which one or more of these characters was not nabbed by the good will among men in that portion of the earth's surface included in the limits of the city of Omaha on Christmas day as that day of all days demands.

It is not surprising, of course, that there should be an unusual amount of petty lawlessness at holiday times, as every man with a tendency toward dissipation, and even many without such tendency, ceases all restraint and takes occasion to go out with his friends for what he terms a "good time," which means the taking into the system of more of the liquid that cheers him will allow him to observe the laws of the city with the result that he is fortunate if he does not spend a portion of the Christmas season behind the bars of the police station, where he is given an opportunity to sober up and later donate a few dollars into the city's treasury.

The annual program for which the police are on the lookout and make special preparations. But it is not the plain, happy "drunk" that gives the real trouble; he is merely put away where he can do no harm to anyone for a few hours. The real trouble is to be feared and watched for in the person of the vicious nature, who uses the day and time as an excuse for riotous action, who not only drinks to excess, but engages in quarrels, and carries dangerous weapons which he uses recklessly, and deals death or injury to those around him and also the thief—the pickpocket and shoplifter, who ply their trades with increased vigor, looting among the crowds in the stores and snatching what they can from the unwary.

These are the ones who are in evidence at Christmas time as a menace to the public, and a source of great trouble to the police. The season of 1905 has not been an unusual one for this class, although not a day has passed or a week during which one or more of these characters was not nabbed by the good will among men in that portion of the earth's surface included in the limits of the city of Omaha on Christmas day as that day of all days demands.

It is not surprising, of course, that there should be an unusual amount of petty lawlessness at holiday times, as every man with a tendency toward dissipation, and even many without such tendency, ceases all restraint and takes occasion to go out with his friends for what he terms a "good time," which means the taking into the system of more of the liquid that cheers him will allow him to observe the laws of the city with the result that he is fortunate if he does not spend a portion of the Christmas season behind the bars of the police station, where he is given an opportunity to sober up and later donate a few dollars into the city's treasury.

The annual program for which the police are on the lookout and make special preparations. But it is not the plain, happy "drunk" that gives the real trouble; he is merely put away where he can do no harm to anyone for a few hours. The real trouble is to be feared and watched for in the person of the vicious nature, who uses the day and time as an excuse for riotous action, who not only drinks to excess, but engages in quarrels, and carries dangerous weapons which he uses recklessly, and deals death or injury to those around him and also the thief—the pickpocket and shoplifter, who ply their trades with increased vigor, looting among the crowds in the stores and snatching what they can from the unwary.

These are the ones who are in evidence at Christmas time as a menace to the public, and a source of great trouble to the police. The season of 1905 has not been an unusual one for this class, although not a day has passed or a week during which one or more of these characters was not nabbed by the good will among men in that portion of the earth's surface included in the limits of the city of Omaha on Christmas day as that day of all days demands.

It is not surprising, of course, that there should be an unusual amount of petty lawlessness at holiday times, as every man with a tendency toward dissipation, and even many without such tendency, ceases all restraint and takes occasion to go out with his friends for what he terms a "good time," which means the taking into the system of more of the liquid that cheers him will allow him to observe the laws of the city with the result that he is fortunate if he does not spend a portion of the Christmas season behind the bars of the police station, where he is given an opportunity to sober up and later donate a few dollars into the city's treasury.

The annual program for which the police are on the lookout and make special preparations. But it is not the plain, happy "drunk" that gives the real trouble; he is merely put away where he can do no harm to anyone for a few hours. The real trouble is to be feared and watched for in the person of the vicious nature, who uses the day and time as an excuse for riotous action, who not only drinks to excess, but engages in quarrels, and carries dangerous weapons which he uses recklessly, and deals death or injury to those around him and also the thief—the pickpocket and shoplifter, who ply their trades with increased vigor, looting among the crowds in the stores and snatching what they can from the unwary.

CHRISTMAS BLAZE IN GOTHAM

Christmas Trees Are Moved Out While Firemen Fight Flames in Factory.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—Hundreds of tenement babies and their toy-laden Christmas trees were carried into the street before daylight today during a fire which threatened to obliterate several blocks of the city in the vicinity of Fifty-eighth street and Eleventh avenue. A six-story factory building at 634 and 636 West Fifty-eighth street was completely destroyed with a loss of $200,000.

With tenement houses on three sides and with the gas tanks of the Consolidated Gas company within reach of showers of sparks, the water pressure partially failed when the fire was hottest. Fire engines were hastily coupled together, pumping in pairs, and this device, together with the bold work of the firemen who advanced almost into the zone of the flames in order to play on the fire with their weak streams, finally saved the hundreds of surrounding homes.

The fire was first discovered when flames burst from the third story and belched completely across Fifty-eighth street with a roar like a discharging cannon. When the fire department arrived and tried to put its compressed air extension ladders to the sixth floor the ladders refused to extend. This delayed the firemen several minutes. Half an hour after the fire started, although it was still long before daylight, the rooms of Roosevelt hospital some distance away were lighted as if by daylight. There was great alarm among both patients and their attendants.

Such crowds rushed out of the tenement houses near the fire that the police from several stations were called out to handle them. At the height of the fire thousands of spectators momentarily forgot the burning building in watching the struggle in the upper window of a tenement house in Fifty-eighth street. A man started climbing over the window sill, preparing to drop to the street in his night clothes. Another man reached out to save him. The two fought in the window above the sidewalk while the crowd below cleared a semicircle. A blanket picked up at hazard from bedding which other tenants were trying to save was stretched directly under the window. It was not needed, however, for the half-dressed man was drawn back through his window by main strength.

The firemen carried the hose from the coupled engines to the roofs of neighboring flat houses where the both poured water upon the factory fire and extinguished little blazes which continually started on the roofs all about them. The sun had risen before the last of the Christmas trees were carried into the tenement houses and the damage was entirely over. One fireman was injured by falling glass.

After the fire was out Fire Chief Croker stated the loss might run up to $200,000. There was a dead dog in the street, a cat in an adjoining building, when the fire started. All of them reached the street without difficulty.

UNIQUE CHRISTMAS BANQUET

Full Dress Affair on Board New Los Angeles Limited Train.

OGDEN, Utah, Dec. 25.—The forty eastern newspaper men who are returning home after their ride on the initial run of the new Los Angeles limited train were entertained in a novel way tonight at a Christmas banquet given on the train by the Pacific coast press.

The banquet, which was given at the hotel in Ogden, was a most unique affair. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.

The banquet was given in the dining car of the train. The train was decorated with Christmas trees and lights. The banquet was given in the dining car of the train.