Buelington Gets Trackage.

A rumor is out to the effect that the Burlington has completed arrangements of terms whereby the Boulevard and part of , street at the entrance to the stock yards is to be vacated by the city to that company. It is further stated that the road will lay a track from that point in a westerly circle through the yards around and past the horse barns. Up to the present moment the report has not been verified. W. P. Adkins said that, officially, o knew nothing about the matter, but that he had heard some talk to that effect. He intimated that Mr. Her had some such blan in the course of development. Nothing has as yet been brought before the city council nor had the matter been mentioned in an unofficial way. However he thought that the proposition might ome up before long, as he had reason to think there was something back of the persistent rumor. Dan Hannon, when asked concerning the proposition, said that friends. such a plan had been under consideration by the Omaha Land company, of which Mr. Her is a leading member.

> ATHLETIC BREAK IS PATCHED UP Kausas and Nebraska Decide to Resume Contests.

to abide together in peace. The break be-tween the two institutions followed the an-nual foot ball game in Lawrence two years ago last November, in which the Corn-huskers were victorious in a thrilling strug-gle, the fleet footed Johnny Bender turning the tide in Nebraska's favor by pulling off a sensational seventy-yard run for the only touchdown of the game. Prior to the contest bitterness had been engendered by a protest made by Kansas against Bender and Wilson, two of Nebraska's players. The Cornhuskers stood pat and refused to withdraw the players in question until Kan-sas presented evidence in substantiation of the charges, which were of professionalism. The Jayhawkers suiked, but finally waived their protest, only to issue a pronuncia-mento two days following the Lawrence de-feat that relations had been suspended. The rupture had no effect upon the Corn-huskers, who promptly picked up a "Eig Nine" team as an opponent in place of the Jayhawkers but the loss of the game with Nebraska had a decidedly depressing effect upon athletics at the Lawrence institution Dissatisfaction within the student body at Kansas over the summary action of the athletic board took the initiative toward a resumption by appointing abritrators to discuss resumption and at the same time solicited similar action by Nebraska. The Cornhuskers acquiesced, and the arbitrers met in Lincoln today and at once came to terms. Dean Pound of the law school at Ne-

The agreement reached by the arbiters is not final, as the athletic boards of the two schools must meet and approve, but the latter is considered a mere formality. The Kansans also broached the subject of creating a tri-state league to include Xe-braska. Kansas and Missouri. On this the Nebraskans wete not so favorably inclined, pointing out that for the Cornhuskers to play foot ball in Columbia, the seat of
