BETTER PAY FOR INSURANCE EXAMINATION

Or. Christie Calls Attention to the Fact that Present Fees Allowed for the Service Are Too

The annual meeting and banquet of the Omaha-Douglas County Medical society was held Tuesday night at the Millard hotel, about 100 members being present. President C. H. Peabody acted as chairman of the meeting and toastmaster. Dr. W. H. Christie read a paper on the risks by the medical profession, and the meager compensation allowed for these examinations, arbitrarily fixed by the laws of the insurance organizations. He held that the insurance examination fees should not be less than $6 for ordinary examinations, and that $10 was not too great a fee where microscopic examinations are made neces-

Dr. R. C. Moore, one of the veteran practitioners of Omaha, gave a talk along the line of historical reminiscences of the early physicians of Omaha, their early struggles and experiences. His talk was impromptu and was replete with amusing and droll an-

Dr. J. M. Aikin, secretary of the society, submitted his annual report, which showed that the society had held seventeen meetings during the last year. Three deaths in the society occurred during the year and the present membership is 129. The average attendance at the meetings was fortyfive. The financial affairs in all respects

Dr. Ralph, city physician, submitted and read his annual report, as customary at each annual meeting of the society. The report is a follows:

The additional funds provided permit of an increase in our laboratory facilities, of improvement in our methods of recording statistical data, and of printed matter to be used as educational circulars to be distributed to homes where contagious and communicable diseases exist. Provision, however, has not been made for additional inspectors, and I carnestly ask the profession to co-operate with me in meeting this deficiency. To this end, if reports of diseases are promptly and correctly made, and the department notified of any omission in inspection as it relates to any nuisance that menaces the public health, then we together can make up for the present what another inspector would supply.

The resolution passed by the city coun-present what another inspector would supply.

The resolution passed by the city council January 2 of this year, relating to the appointments of Profs. Langfeld and Crowley to the positions of bacteriologist and chemist respectively, makes a new epoch in the health department of Omaha. No measure affecting this department has ever been passed that transcends it in importance, since by giving the department the services of these gentlemen it places it upon a basis to conduct the health work along scientific lines. It also marks a step forward, in that it places the health work along scientific lines. It also marks a step forward, in that it places the health department in the same category with the largest metropolitan city. The work that the department will do through its laboratories has not been mapped out yet completely; however, this much may be said; besides the diphtheria work as now conducted, the city will examine, free of charge, the spitum in suspected cases of pulmonary tuberculosis, the blood in suspected typhold fever, and such other discharges the examination of which will be of assistance to the doctor and a benefit to the patient or public.

In those cases in which the milk, water or food is suspected of being impure, or of causing disease, the department will have the same investigated.

Pertaining to Milk Supply.

Pertaining to Milk Supply.

The agration in regard to milk, which in large measure was instrumental in bring-ing about the consummation of our wishes for a laboratory, will receive due attention. ing about the consummation of our wishes for a laboratory, will receive due attention. It will be our aim through frequent and careful examination to keep it pure, i. e., make it conform to a high standard. But I must ask you not to expect too much at once, and not to criticise too quickly. What the standard purity of milk should be is not difficult to say, but what we have a right to ask, just now in Omaha, is, as I see my duty. I am to improve the milk sold to the public, and this shall be done. But I am not unmindful of the fact that the standard must be a gradually ascending one, if we are not to commit great injustice. Our standard must not be so drastic as to defeat the purpose of the framers of the ordinance. What we shall aim to do is to educate the dairyman how to produce a clean, wholesome article, but we must give them time to learn. We cannot with justice place our standard so high that only a few in the business can conform to it, and thus give these few a monopoly of the milk business. Besides, with the enormous demands made for cream by our great creamery industries, there is a great temptation for dairymen to sell direct to them, so that one industry is already threatening another.

The department does not feel that it is

The department does not feel that it is in its province to take sides on this question. If a city is to be furnished pure milk it must be produced in the vicinity. Therefore, we shall endeavor to drive no one out fore, we shall endeavor to drive no one out of the business, but rather to encourage the production of a better and purer product all found.

When the time is ripe for demanding a high fixed standard the same will be promulgated and rigidly enforced. But until that time I ask your assistance in explaining this matter to the public.

In regard to the amount of cream in milk, and the absence from it of adulterants and preservatives, the city ordinances are sufficient and will be upheld.

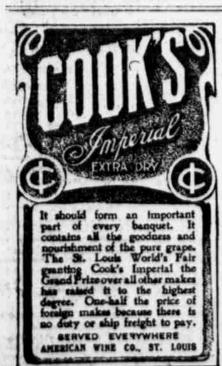

I have purposely not included in this report our statistical data for the year—it would consume too much of your time towould consume too nutch of your time to-night, and will appear later in printed form. It shall be my effort this year, more than ever, to bring the health department in closer touch with the profession, and if you will work with me to this end vast mutual benefits will result, as you all will concede.

"People have a mistaken idea of that part of Canada. They look on it as a frigid wilderness, but much is not the case. Edmonton, the capital of Alberta, is a town of about 11,000 people and is a modern city in every respect. CHICAGO, Jan. 9.-Any differences that may have existed among the various minor base ball leagues which compose the Naional Association of Professional Base Ball clubs were amicably adjusted at the annual neeting here today of the controlling organization. Eighteen associations out of a total of twenty-six which go to make up the parent body were represented at the meeting, and although there was considerable rivalry over the naming of a new executive board there was no evidence of a split in the organization, which it was said was probable should the members of a certain faction be defeated for re-election. This faction, which was headed by George Tebeau of the American association and Griffiths of the Eastern league, were only able to muster two and a half votes out of the eighteen cast and their places on the executive board were filled by new members. Tebeau and Griffiths, who it was declared prior to the meeting would secede from the organization should they be defeated, after the meeting had adjourned tonight expressed their entire satisfaction with the makeup of the committee and said they would abide by its decisions in every

Crimson Graduates Outline Scheme for Reforming Foot Ball.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 9.—Recommendations regarding changes in foot ball rules were completed today by the special committee appointed by the athletic association of Harvard graduates and will be submitted tomorrow to the athletic committee of the university. It is expected that the committee will authorize Coach William T. Reid, jr., to present the views as those which Harvard holds officially regarding foot ball at the meeting of the rules committee to be held in New York Friday night. The suggestions provide for three officials on the field; linesmen to watch off-side play; instant disqualification for rough play; a team to play five minutes without a substitute; a player disqualified twice to be barred for the season; no blocking except by body; no interference with a punter, and a standing committee to select officials.

Further recommendations: The ball to be placed with the points toward the goals and no player to stand ahead of the points; increasing the distance to be gained in three downs from five to ten yards; permitting the ball to be passed in any direction when the play is between the twenty-five yard lines, provided the player has not advanced beyond the line of serimmage; no punt out for a try at goal; increasing the distance between the goal posts to twenty-five feet; no interference with a free kick; a fair catch to be indicated by the holding up of hand; no movement by players until the ball is put in play except by one man, and, finally, that not more than three men besides the man receiving the ball shall be less than five yards behind the line unless outside the position occupied by the outside man in the line.
