HONESTY IN BUSINESS ESSENTIAL

Ambition First Prerequisite and Second He Places Strennous Activity, Ability to Work Without Any Letup.

The Young Men's Christian association auditorium was well filled last night by young and middle-aged men who gathered to listen to the address of G. W. Wattles on the subject, "What Constitutes Success the Business World." The talk proved to be one of particular value, and many exresatons of satisfaction were heard after is close. It was one of the most success ful and instructive lectures ever offered at Young Men's Christian association. M: Vattles said, in part:

Before adding my answer to this question to the thousands that have been given before. I desire for a few moments to discussive in the clements essential to success in the order of their importance they are as follows: ambition, good health, good morals, courage and correct principles.

good morals, courage and correct principles.

I place ambition first, for without the desirs to succeed, success will never crown the efforts of any man. With ambition it matters not what the obstacles are, they will be overcome, nor what further attainments must be had, they will be acquired. Without the desire to succeed, work becomes irksome, and the individual soon decides not to pay the price of success, but rather to live a life of case.

The second slement I have named is or vital importance in the strenuous activity of the present times. The successful business man must know no limit to hours of continuous and ardent labor. To be able to stand the strain and successfully compete with his fellows, good health is all important.

Success cannot be obtained without the respect and confidence of business men. Corrant morals lead to corrupt methods, and these in turn to loss of business standing and credit. A young man often deceives himself with the thought that others do not know of his moral delinquencies, but there is one thing certain in this world, and that is that evil report travels with lightning speed, while good acts and correct living are taken as a matter of course. The business man who leads a corrupt moral life may think he is deceiving others, but he seldom does. Some years ago a merchant in Omaha applied to one of the banks for an extension of a loan. He was refused, and when he asked the reason wiry, the banker told him of some of his immoral practices. The merchant seemed surprised and said there must be some mistake, that these reports were not true. The banker answered that he might deceive lumeif in his denial, but that every other business man in Omaha knew of his disgraceful acts. cannot be obtained without the Honesty in Business.

Henesty in Business.

In the business world honesty is the only policy that leads to premanent success. A prominent and very wealthy man recently died at a hotel in New York City. He had during his lifetime accumulated a fortune of many millions. Early in his career he had served a term in prison. Later in life he had divorced the wife who had stood by him in his early trials. His name was connected with many scandals, and although he had succeeded in making money, his life was a failure. He had falled to take into account one of the most important elements of success in the business world.

There are battles fought in business each day which require courage as great as that displayed by soldiers on a bloody field. Mental courage is necessary in a high degree to stand against the allurements of friends, who plead for business favors, which would compromise you, if granted; to stand out against popular sentiment when all the world seems to have taken sudden fright; to fight on through long periods of panic and depression and never surrender, though the odds seem a thousand to one against you; such conflicts require courage.

But courage to act and do the duties of quire courage.

But courage to act and do the duties of the hour is equally important. To recognize the opportunity, to see clearly the correct course to pursue, requires knowledge of business affairs which is only acquired by industry and application, but when your the courage. industry and application, but when your line of action is made clear, the courage to act is equally necessary.

Standing on my desk is the welrd poem, "Opportunity." by the late John J. Ingalis. It has often been an inspiration which has urged me on to action, as I have realized that opportunity was at hand.

Correct Principles Necessary.

Correct Principles Necessary.

The next element I have named, necessary to success in the business world, is correct principles. A man may have ambition, good health, good morals and courage and still may fail for lack of ability to use correct business principles in his transactions. I hardly know how to illustrate what I mean better than to relate the advice that was given me many years ago by an old man, who had been successful in business, in reply to my question: "What must a man do to make money?" He gave the simple rule: "Buy when things are cheap, and seil when they are dear." I took his advice at the time as a joke, but as I have grown older and seen the wrecks of fortunes strewn along the way, the ravages of panic and depression and witnessed the loss of courage of the many and the wisdom of the few, I have come to believe that the application of the simple rule laid down by my aged friend had more to do with the philosophy of business success than any other rule I know.

The successful man in this world maps out his course and steers his business craft, often against the gale of popular sentiment, and does the opposite from what the multitude is doing. In other words, he applies to his business acts the rule of correct principles, and he succeeds.

The successful man must to a certain extent make of himself a business machine, which will not be influenced by popular clamor, nor by what others do, but which will carry out well laid plans, born of absolute and accurate knowledge of all the conditions which enter into his business affairs. This is an age of facts. Sentiment and successful man of affairs. I have sent may of those influences which will do not mean by this that a man should steel his life against any of those influences which build up character; which make the true man sensitive to the misfortunes of others. But in his everyday life he must act from knowledge, and when once his resolutions are made, he must carry forward his pians with the precision and considence of the mariner who steers

What Constitutes Success

What Constitutes success in the business world? I fear I have wandered from the subject at hand. I am aware that a different answer to this question would be given by almost every business man. Success is the attainment of things desired in this mercenary age the most common definition. I think, would be the acquirement of wealth. The masses are attracted by the sensational stories of our dally papers of the colossal wealth, in many cases suddenly acquired, by some of the prominent men in the business world, and while I have no sympathy with the tendency of the pross to stigmatize the acquisition of wealth, I should say that that alone does not constitute success in the business world.

The ambition to acquire a competency which will insure a man and those dependent upon him the comforts of life and the necessities of old age, is a laudable one. A man without this desire is lacking in some of the elements of good citizenship. The laborer on the streets, the farmer in the fields, the merchant, the manufacturer and the banker all work and plan and hope for the rewards at least of moderate wealth. When acquired by men of good principles it makes possible noble charities, it aids in the promotion of great enterprises, which build up and develop our country. The acquisition of wealth by issful means is a laudable ambition and often develops character, generosity and charity in men. It does not always bring happiness; in fact, the mere acquisition of wealth seldom does, but in its acquisition the business man generally learns the lessons of economy, frugality, integrity and charity, and if he learns these lessons well and applies his knowledge in the use of his wealth when acquired, he has reached the goal of success in the business world, in accordance with my ideas of its true definition.

No business man can be successful an-

in accordance with my ideas of its true definition.

No business man can be successful anless he holds the respect and esteem of his fellow citizens. To acquire these he must be honest, moral and particule. He must discharge his duties to his family, his neighbors and his fellow citizens. He must assist in the promotion of every public measure that will better the condition of his fellows. He must stand for good government and be ready with helping hand to assist the unfortunate, encourage the weak and console the bereaved. If he performs all these duties and acquires honestly a competency, whether it he large or small, he has reached success in the business world.

Major C. W. Penrose, the commanding officer, has received a letter from Major Portello, who is temporarily in command of the regiment, stating that General Baidwin expected the entire Twenty-fifth infantry to be stationed in Texas within a few weeks. Although there have been many previous rumors about changing stations this apparently is well founded. Considering that the Texans are so averse to colored troops and make trouble for them on every opportunity it seems queer that the regiment would be ordered back where it had so much trouble in 1900. It is a fact that at nearly every post in Texas where colored troops have been stationed they had continual trouble with the citizens, and it is believed that the conditions are worse today. There are plenty of other troops that could be sent to Texas and which would be welcomed by the Texas without sending a colored regiment that is so disliked.

Captain and Mrs. M. D. Cronin entertained on Tuesday night at cards.

The teamsters gave a dance in the gymnasium on Tuesday night. There were many guests from Valentine and the surrounding country.

The command was paid on Tuesday by Captain C. B. Sweezey.

Fort Riley.

FORT RILEY, Kan., Jan. 18.—(Special.)—
Bruce Dutcher, the civilian who was shot by Private William A. Pfannkuche, Troop A. Eleventh cavairy, last week, died last Friday, and Pfannkuche will have to stand trial for the crime of killing him. The preliminary trial occurred yesterday and he was bound over to the next session of the district court. His brother is here from Austin, Tex., and has engaged a firm of attorneys to defend him.

Post Commissary Sergeant Joseph Ziesing was relieved from duty here yesterday and left for New York City, where he will be assigned to duty on the army transport salling for the Philippines by the eastern route on February 1. He expects to be in the islands for about thirteen months.

The War department has issued orders directing Post Commissary Sergeant Emil H. Steiner, now at Walla Walla, Wash., to proceed to Fort Riley for duty with the training school for bakers and cooks. He will relieve Sergeant Edwin E. Lear, who is ordered to assume the duties relinquished by Sergeant Ziesing in the office of the post commissary.

Second Lieutenant H. A. Meyer of the Thirteenth cavairy was relieved, and Second Lieutenant E. V. Armstrong of the Thirteenth cavairy detailed Wednesday as instructor in calisthenics in the cavairy subpost.

Five men of the Twenty-fourth infantry have been transferred to the Ninth cavairy instructor in calisthenics in the cavalry subpost.

Five men of the Twenty-fourth infantry have been transferred to the Ninth cavalry and ordered to this post for duty with the First squadron. These men have less than six months of service each, and as they do not intend to re-colist and the Twenty-fourth infantry is under orders to go to the Philippines the transfer was made.

Captain Leon S. Roudiez, post and constructing quartermaster, will next week go on leave of absence for about a month. The bakery savings for the last quarter of 1966 at Fort Riley amounted to 5,37.47, which amount was divided among the organizations serving at the post. The total was a little less than that for the previous quarter, which is accounted for by a decrease in the price of flour.

Captain John M. Sigworth, paymaster, came up from Kansas City Thursday evening and paid the men of this command on Friday. The members of the detachment of bakers and cooks were paid by check last Saturday.

The earthquake last Sunday evening badly frightened a number of people in this vicinity, but no material damage was done.

A circular has been issued by the com-of the Mediterranean and the Red sea in-stead of sailing from San Francisco. The clerk of the school of application for cavalry and Seid artilitery has just completed the installation of the card system of keeping the records of the school in his office and is enthusiastic in his advocacy of the plan.

with the handsome pressed brick from Coffeyville, Kan, and it is evident to anyone that eventually Fort Meade will be one of the most beautiful posts in the country.

The next building to be crected will be a fine large brick cavalry stable. G. F. Atkinson of Colorado Springs secured the contract for this structure and was here this week looking over the ground and arranging for the shipment of material. The plumbing in the stable will be installed by George A. Kees & Co., of St. Paul, Minn. New Year's day was enjoyed by the entire garrison. The old custom of receiving New Year's calls bids fair to be revived in the army, if not over the whole country. There were three receptions in the garrison on New Year's day. First in order came that of Major and Mrs. George K. Hunter at the noon hour. All of the officers in full dress, with the women appropriately gowned, appeared in their quarters and participated in a most sumptuous breakfast. Next came the reception at 3:30 at the quarters of Major and Mrs. George H. Sands, which was equally well attended and enjoyed by all. Last, but by no means least, was the reception by Major and Mrs. B. H. Cheever, which lasted from 4 till 6, and it was voted by all that three receptions in one day sufficed for the complete enjoyment of everyone.

The entire garrison has become enthusiastic over basket ball. Two games are played in the post gymnasimu on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of every week.

On Wednesday, January 3, Troop A defeated Troop E with a score of 14 to 12 at basket ball, and the hospital corps succeeded in defeating Troop B.

In the game played between Troops D and G on January 1 there was a discussion in regard to the score, so that the game had to be replayed on Friday evening, January 5. It was an exciting game and never before in the symnasium was more enthusiasm exhibited. The game finished with a score of 23 to 17 in Troop D's favor. On the same evening Troop C won in their game with Troop F.

Monday evening, January 8, an exceedingly interesting and well played game was that between Troops D and B. At the end of the first half the score was 15 to 12 in favor of Troop B. It looked as though D, the star team in the post, was going to lose a game, but they fought hard in the second half and outplayed the B team, finishing with a score of 25 to 20. The same evening Troop G was beaten by Troop E with a score of 27 to 13.

Tuesday evening, January 9, a post-poned game was played between H troop and the hospital corps, H troop winning. Wednesday evening, January 10, F troop forfeited the gams to Troop H and Troop E defeated Troop C's team.

Thursday evening, January 4, the enlisted men of the garrison gave a dance in the post gymnasium. A great number from Sturgis attended and a pleasant evening was spent by everyone.

Friday evening Major and Mrs. B. H. Cheever entertained a number of friends. "Five hundred" was played and the prizes were won by Captain and Mrs. Heiberg. Saturday evening, January 5, the regular weekly officers' hop was held in the post hall. As always, it was very pleasant.

The same evening Captain and Mrs. Heiberg gave a dinner. Their guests were Captain and Mrs. Cole. Major and Mrs. McCulloch and Lieutenant and Mrs. Read.

Thursday evening, January 4, Lieutenant and Mrs. Jones entertained at dinner. Those present were Captain and Mrs. Heiberg, Major and Mrs. Cheever, Mrs. Lieutenant and Mrs. Read and Mrs. Karnes, Lieutenant and Mrs. Read and Mrs. Karnes, Lieutenant and Mrs. Read and Mrs. Cheever, Mrs. Sands.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Lott, Major and Mrs. McCulloch and Mrs. Lott, Major and Mrs. Wednesday afternoon, January 10, the Ladies' Card club met with Mrs. Cheever. The prizes were won by Mrs. McCulloch and Mrs. Turner.

OMAHA HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Considerable activity was manifest at the high school during the last week, after the holiday rest.

It is noticeable that the end of the first term is near at hand by the redoubled energy displayed by the pupils in their application to their studies.

It is generally regretted throughout the entire school that Miss Mabel Christle has been forced to resign her position as monitor in the library of the high school on account of lil health. Miss Bertha Phillippi will be her successor when the resignation is effective, which will be at the opening of the new term.

The camp fund, which this year was to be raised entirely by contributions from the cadets themselves, has not yet grown sufficiently to lend encouragement to the hope of ultimate success. Thus far only about twenty-five cadets have turned in their periodical contributions to this fund. When it is recalled that 300 at least have gone to camp in former years the prospects are not at all bright.

It is rumored about the school that the examinations, which are to take place during the week commencing January 22, will be conducted somewhat differently than formerly. The proposed plan is that examinations in the various subjects taught will be grouped as to the nature of the subject under especially specified periods. This will change the order of classes entirely.

This will change the order of classes entirely.

Although no word to that effect has yet reached the high school officially, it is understood that the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution is soon to offer its annual gold medal prize for the best essay written on a tuple pertaining to the United States in its infancy. It has been thought likely that Benjamin Franklin, the typical American statesman, will be the subject of the essay.

Principal A. H. Waterhouse has definitely decided that he will conduct classes in parliamentry is immediately after the examinations.

Before adjournment the society devoted some time to the practice of parliamentary law. The meeting of the German society on Wednesday afternoon last was an enjoyable one. The first number was three proverbs by Buckeri told by Mamie Sweeney, Ethel Pratt and Mary English. The second number was a song, entitled. "Sandmenchen." by the German chorus. As a third number Dorette Levy recited. "Die Beiden Schwestern bei der Rose," by Voss. Irma Weideman, Chara Nielsen, Bertha Neef, Edna Wilkie and Rose Ruzieke told each a German proverb. A one act play was then presented in closing, entitled. "Die Strenge Tante."

The meeting of the Lininger Travel club was a delightful and instructive one. Miss J. Wallace save a stereopticon lecture on "Early Britain." Many interesting views were pictured upon the canvas, which Miss Wallace explained carefully, as she herself while touring in Europe had taken the photographs shown.

During the holidays the Elaine society had a pleasant social gathering at the home of Gretchen McConnell Many former members were in attendance.

The Francis Willard society program was an interesting one. Nellie Mitchell rendered creditably a piano solo, "Festival Hall." An original story. "Alley's Visit to Uncle John." was told by Helen Ostrom. Grace Stenberg and Bertha Neef rendered skilfully a plano duet. "Gertle's Gallop." A progressive story, "A Village Incident," was then told by Lillan Carlsson and Ella Zabel. Edna Wilke followed with an amusing recitation, "Entertaining Her Big Slater's Beau." A creditable vocal solo, "When the Sunset Turns the Ocean Biue to Gold." was rendered by Grace Stenberg. In closing Effe Parker recited an original poem, "A Weicome Christmas."

The program rendered by the Priscilla Alden society had the usual high quality of former meetings. Elva Parks gave a helpful essay on "No Backward Steps." "Dusk to Dusk" was the title of an original story by Marie Erwin. Elsie Hadfield recited oreditably "What's the Use?" Verna Hayes retold a story, "Having Fun with European Guides." "A Grumbling Old Woman" was the title of an amusing recitation by Elizabeth Murdock. An original poem, "In the Year 1993," by Blanche Marshall was well presented. In closing Mary McCague read, "Ye Puritan Chronicle."

The basket ball game between the high school and the Bennetts was witnessed by a large crowd last evening at the Young Men's Christian affaciation. The high school team was composed of Hall, Clark, Webster, Thomas and Neville; the Bennetts were represented by Griffith, Grau, Hasen, Duncan and Snow. The game was a strenuous one throughout. The first haif was all to 18 in favor of the Bennetts. The high school did very well against the odds of the more experienced team of the Bennetts. Clark did some very good throwing on fouls. Hasen was by far the Bennett team's best player.

Woman's Relief Corps.

Circular letter No. 1, recently issued from the office of Mrs. Eliza J. Crisier, national patriotic instructor of the Woman's Relief corps, contains many suggestions for patriotic observance, particularly as applies to the public schools. The circular says:

"The Woman's Relief corps was organized not only to assist the Grand Army of the Republic in its noble work of caring for afflicted comrades and their dependent ones, but also 'to inculcate lessons of patriotism and love of country among our children and in the communities in which we live. While we are proud of the grand results attained our work is not finished. Each year new teachers and new pupils enter our schools, and thousands of foreigners land upon our shores who know little or nothing of our government or its institutions. How important then it is that this part of our work be not neglected. Interest the children; tell them something of the price paid for our flag and the country it represents. Impress upon their minds the sacred trust reposed in them for its care and preservation.

"The Star-Spangled Banner' has been adopted as the national anthem, and soldiers and sallors are required to stand at 'attention' while it is being played. With the co-operation of the teachers we can inculcate the same reverence in the pupils of the public schools. There should be a more thorough teaching of the constitution and Declaration of Independence and more sing-ing of patriotic songs.

"Legal holidays and flag days should be

Declaration of Independence and more singing of patriotic songs.

"Legal holidays and flag days should be observed with appropriate programs, which need not be lengthy but something, if only reading by the teacher, impressing upon the mind of the pupil the significance of the day. Secure the co-operation of state and county superintendents and trustees, which will greately facilitate your work. Urge the organization of bands of mercy; through them children will be taught kindness to dumb animals, and that humanity and patriotism is bravery, while cruelty is cowardice.

dumb animals, and that humanity and patriotism is bravery, while cruelty is cowardice.

"Urge that national and department patriotic instructors, as far as possible, visit summer schools, teachers' institutes and district meetings and distribute patriotic literature and patriotic primera."

Business and pleasure were successfully combined Friday evening, January 12, George B. Crook post No. 88, Grand Army of the Republic, and Woman's Relief corps installed officers in their hall, Twenty-fourth and Ames avenue. Mrs. Harriet Wilcox of Omaha, department president of the Woman's Relief corps, acted as installing officer and with grace and dignity installed the following officers: President. Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hull; senior vice president. Mrs. Charlotte Gordon; secretary, Mrs. Addie Hough; treasurer, Mrs. Margaret Jenkins; chaplain, Mrs. Rose Cassidy; conductor, Mrs. Allene Hall; assistant conductor Mrs Grace Carruthers; guard, Mrs. Annie Watson; assistant suard, Miss Susie Shofelt; press correspondent, Mrs. Cellina Stephens; patriotic instructor, Miss Geneva West; musician, Miss Cornella Butler; color bearers, Mrs. Lizzie Bugh, Mrs. Carolyn Pearson. At the close of the installation service Mrs. Wilcox was presented with a magnificent bonquet of rozes. Following the installation of the officers of the post the women served substantial refreshments. Music on violin and plano by the talented members of the Morris family added much to the pleasure. An informal social was enjoyed by all.

Omaha Seymour Camp No. 16 on last Wednesday evening entertained the officers and members of South Omaha Camp No. 21 and initiated a number of candidates. During the social session the Giec club entertained the camp with a number of selections. The Troubadour Amusement company will appear on the evening of January 24, at which time will be given an entertainment lasting an hour and a half, to be followed by a dance, for which music will be furnished by the Troubadours. The Giec club will meet at 7.20 next Wednesday evening for practice. Prof. Kratz is still adding voices to the chorus, and desires to recruit it up to at least fifty. It is the intention of the camp to make this ciub a feature of Omaha musical circles.

Alpha Camp No. 1 at its last regular meeting initiated eight new candidates and received eight new applications. After the initiation the meeting was given over to speech making, singing and smoking, the cigars being at the expense of the newly elected officers. This camp will not meet Tuesday evening next. January 18, as the hall has been given over to Alpha Grove for a mask bail. The officers will be present, however, to obligate new members and deliver their certificates.

At the meeting of January 3 it is expected that a class of twenty-five will be present for initiation. Alpha Camp is moving right along, and the increasing membership indicates that interest in the camp and order is not waning.

J. C. Root circle No. 54 will meet in regular session Wednesday evening, January 17. After the meeting a social hour will be observed, to which all members and friends are invited. A feature of the evening will be the presence of "Buster Brown and his dog Tige." Refreshments will also be served later in the evening.

Poplar Grove, auxiliary to United States camp No. 229. Woodmen of the World, gave a very enjoyable and largely attended high five party and social at Praternal hall, Fourteenth and Douglas streets, during the past week.

Indications that Unusual Number of Bills Will Be Introduced. -

NUMBER OF THEM OF IMPORTANT NATURE

Cases of Hasing Reported from State College at Ames and President Storms Says the Practice Must Be Stopped.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Jan. 13 .- (Special.) -- Claims that there will be few bills introduced at this session of the legislature and that the session will be short do not seem to be borne out in fact when the comparison is made with the last session. Heretofore there have been few, bills introduced early in the session. Usually there are not more than four or five in either house the first week. At the last session there were a less number of bills introduced at the end of the second week in both houses than there have been this year at the end of the first week There are now twentyseven bills that have been introduced in the house and but one week passed and on only two days of that week were bills introduced. For years ago there were no bills the first week and but fifty-eight at the end of the second full week. Two years ago only twenty-eight had been inproduced by January 28. In the senate two years ago at the end of the second week there were but twenty-seven bills and there are now twenty-nine bills in the senate. These facts, coupled with the fact that much of the legislation at this session is of the greatest importance and will be debated at great length, is causing legislators to freely predict that the session will be the full length of twelve weeks.

Hazing at State College. Information of a hazing at the State Colege of Agriculture reached Des Moines today. According to the information the hazings have occurred during the short course of three weeks which is held for the enefit of farmers over the state who are mable to attend for the entire year. The report is that one of the short course or 'Shorthorn" students was captured and taken to the bridge over the Northwestern railroad and tied to the bridge and made to believe that he was tied to the railroad track and allowed to listen to the approach of a train. President Storms was communicated with today by telephone and lenied that the student hazed was just reovering from appendicitis, as was alleged ut admitted that students had been hazed Dr. Storms asserts that the practice will be broken up at once and the guilty stutents properly punished. The names of

he students who conducted the hazing and f those hazed could not be ascertained. Major Rathbun Out for Governor. BOONE, Ia., Jan. 13.-(Special Telegram.) About noon today the hardware store of Alva Nelson at Mackey, a little village fifteen miles northeast of Boone, blown to pieces by a terrific explosion and the proprietor killed. No one was in or about the building when the explosion happened except Mr. Nelson. Nelson was breathing his last when M. M. Smith, who was in his greeery store a short distance away, arrived, and consequently the cause of the explosion and circumstances surrounding it are not known. The building. rhich was a frame structure, was literally blown to kindling wood and the explosion was heard for miles. When the explosion occurred Mr. Nelson was getting ready to go hunting. He had had his dinner, and taken his gun to the store and gone to the rear of the building to get his ammunition, and in the rear were kept gasoline and some dynamite. The body was badly mangled by the force of the explosion, though the face was not much disfigured. It is supposed that dynamite was the explosive that caused the terrible accident, for Mr. Nelson was in the habit of carrying it in stock for blasting purposes,

LIQUOR DEALER HAS SCHEME Wise Will Be Given Opportunity to

Explain at Onawa. ONAWA, In., Jan. 13.-(Special.)-Among the indictments returned yesterday was one against Bill Wise, for selling liquor to Indians. Wise is proprietor of "Wise's Fur House," etc., situated on "Rabbit island," nearly opposite the old mission on the reservation in Nebraska, which camp was forced to move to when the assessor of Lincoln township, Monena county, Iowa got after the owner of the mand to have the liquor mulct tax enforced. Three Omaha Indians were the main witnesses before the grand jury against Wise, one of whom was he noted Jeremiah Parker, who was menioned a short time ago as having traded his fur coat to Wise for whisky while on a visit to his camp. Wise had a novel scheme for selling liquor to the Omaha Indians. He olds a government license as a wholesaler. He has a sidepartner known as "Skatz," which may not be very supportion, but he holds a retail suor license just the same.

Wise sells to "Skatz." "Skatz" sells to the WORK FOR THE LEGISLATORS Wise sells to "Skatz." "Skatz" sells to the as Lawson's, but Bill Wise, who has had nany years' experience in trying to evade the penalties of the mulct law, said it was bound to work. He will be given an opportunity to explain the system before the Judge of the district court as soon as the sheriff can arrest him. Wise was in On awa several days this week, but when the Indians appeared as witnesses he made a get-a-way and has not yet been located. The liquor sales to Indians have been very demoralising the last few months and the two last murders of Indians on the Omaha reservation are said to be directly the result of Wise's whisky, and his system not likely to pan out on a trial in court

Testies for Defense. DES MOINES, Jan. 13.-Dr. Hews of Rockwell City, testifying for the defense in the case of Mrs. Josiah Pratt, on trial for the alleged murder of her husband last June, made the positive assertion on the witness stand today that Pratt did not die of arsenteal poisoning administered by Mrs. Pratt or anyone else, but that death was due to a complication of dis-BRES. Upon cross-examination Dr. Hews falled to name any disease having symptoms similar to those of arsenical poisoning. Dr Hews attended Pratt prior to his death and his tentimony will have great weight with the jury.

DEATH RECORD.

Moses K. Armstrong. BIOUX FALLS, S. D., Jan. 13.—(Special.)— Moses K Armstrong, whose death has just been announced from Albert Les. Minn. played a prominent part in the early days. of Dakota territory, of which he was a pioneer. He served in congress as a representative of the territory in 1870, notwothstanding that he was a democrat. There was a split in the republican party, the respective factions being represented by Judge Gideon C. Moody, one of the first United States senators after the admission of South Dakota, but now dead, and Judge W. W. Brockings, who was one of the early justices of the supreme court of the territory Miss Maggie Quinn. Miss Maggie Quinn, aged 40 years, daugh-ter of the late John Quinn, a pioneer of the middle west, died at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at St. Joseph's hospital after an iliness of but a few days from peritonitia. She was a resident of Elkhorn, where the funeral will be held as soon as arrangements can be made. Several brothers and sisters, as well as the mother, survive her: The family is well known throughout the county, the parents having come here in the '50s and remained ever since. H. O. Hagans. H. O. Hagans, proprietor of a saloon at 312 South Fifteenth street, died Saturday morning at his home, 2227 Miami street, after five days' illness with asthma. Teacher. So many parents of young children do not realize the danger from croup until they have had the experience of one severe case in their own home. To be awakened in the middle of the night by the peculiar Creston interurban, will appear before the rough cough and find their little one sufthe croup and nothing in the house with which to relieve it is a lesson never to be forgotten. A good remedy at hand is of incalculable value in a time like this and nothing better can be obtained than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It has been thoroughly tested in hundreds of cases and not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the first symptoms appear it will prevent the attack. The fact that this remedy contains no narcotics makes it perfectly safe to give to the children.

ORCHARD'S PRELIMINARY TRIAL Much Evidence that Tends to Connect Miner with the Murder of

CALDWELL, Idaho, Jan. 13 .- At the prelminary hearing of Harry Orchard, alias Hogan, charged with the murder of ex-Governor Steunenberg, Orchard was identifled by Sheriff Bell and a deputy from Cripple Creek, Colo., as a man wanted in Colorado in connection with the blowing up of eleven nonunion miners at Independence station. Other witnesses testified that Orchard had frequently walked to the Steunenberg home from Caldwell; that he had plaster of paris in his room at the hotel and kept a towel over the keyhole of the door. He was shown to have been in Nampa the day before the explosion carrying a heavy valise, which mysteriously disappeared. The hearing, which was be-
