

TILLMAN ADDRESSES SENATE

South Carolina Member Makes Sensational Attack on President.

SAYS EXECUTIVE IS USURPING POWER

He Urges Upper House to Take Steps to Preserve its Prerogatives Which, He Says, Are in Danger.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The recent forcible removal from the White House of Mrs. Minnie Morris was made the subject of emphatic denunciation by Mr. Tillman in the senate today.

The speech abounded in Mr. Tillman's peculiar expressions and was characterized by many and exceptionally personal allusions to the president and at times he went over what he regarded as the indignities to the lady, and his voice and eyes were full of tears when he declared in the face of protests from his fellow senators that he would demand an investigation of the White House incident.

The reference to the treatment of Mrs. Morris constituted the latter half of a speech based upon the senate's resolution making inquiry of the president concerning the status of our relations with the republic of Santo Domingo, and was used to illustrate his theory that the present administration is tending towards imperialism.

In the first part of the address he characterized the course of the United States in Santo Domingo as a great extension of the Monroe doctrine and said that if he pursued the policy would lead the country into many serious complications. He accused the president of putting the treaty into execution in the face of the senate's refusal to act, denouncing the senate as willing to submit subserviently to all that is asked of it and implored senators to show their independence and thus teach the executive a lesson and at the same time save the country.

With reference to the Morris occurrence he declared that the president had been derelict in failing to punish his subordinates for their course and quoted statements from persons said to have been witnesses to show that the proceeding had been inhuman. He informally presented

GRAIN MEN IN CONFERENCE

Annual Meeting of Farmers' Co-operative Grain and Elevator Association.

WATTLETS TALKS OF THE OMAHA MARKET

Has Added Two Cents Per Bushel to the Farm Value of All the Grain Produced in the State of Nebraska.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Jan. 17.—(Special Telegram.)—The Farmers' Co-operative Grain and Elevator association began its meeting here this afternoon and was addressed tonight by Gordon W. Wattlets of Omaha and Thomas A. Anderson of Kansas City. This afternoon James T. Brady gave a history of the work of the association. Mr. Anderson spoke on the evils affecting the co-operative exchange. The principal address was by Mr. Wattlets, who talked on the Omaha Grain exchange. He said in part: "When the proposition was made to establish a home market for grain in Nebraska, it met with my most earnest support. In its establishment I saw the opportunity to increase the value of the grain produced in Nebraska, and incidentally to increase the commerce of the city in which it lives. It is the purpose of the promoters of this exchange to compel the recognition of this market by the transportation companies and to get a readjustment of railroad rates on grain throughout the state, so that shipments to Omaha from other markets to other markets would be made for the same tariff as the through rate from place of origin to their market. We demanded that the sum of the two local rates should not exceed the through rate. This demand was refused by those who had been running to the east and west of Omaha, but on May 16, 1904, rates were reduced from 2 1/2 cents per bushel to 2 cents per bushel, and the proportional of the rate on grain to Chicago and other markets to Omaha was reduced from 18 cents to 15 cents per hundred, and the proportional from 15 cents to 12 cents per hundred. A similar reduction was made on other grains to Chicago and on all grains to other markets. The result was that the advantages in railroad rates alone, secured by the Omaha Grain exchange, have during the last season amounted to 10 cents per bushel on all the grain shipped from Nebraska.

Value of Elevators. But this has not been the only advantage of this exchange to the state. No less than ten terminal elevators have been added in course of construction. These elevators range from 1,000 bushels down to the 50,000 bushel capacity. Our terminal elevators are about 5,000,000 bushels, and this will soon be increased by the new elevators. The storage of large quantities of Nebraska grain at home makes it possible to sell to exporters or large consumers to better advantage than before we had a home market. It recently happened that purchasers came west of Chicago for grain. Since the Omaha Grain exchange was started, such purchases have been made from our grain merchants and rates direct from Omaha have been secured. In some cases these rates have been very advantageous to our farmers.

According to the government reports, issued by the Department of Agriculture, the average farm value of grain in Nebraska for 1905 was 28 cents per bushel, winter and spring wheat 34 cents, oats 22 cents, corn 20 cents, and sorghum 18 cents. We find that the farm value of corn for that year in Kansas was 28 cents or 8 cents over Nebraska; winter and spring wheat 39 cents or 5 cents over Nebraska; oats 20 cents, or 2 cents over Nebraska. For some years previous to 1905 a similar discrepancy existed between Nebraska and other western states. We find the Nebraska products do not receive the same treatment as such, as much for their grain by several cents per bushel as the producers of other states receive. This is due to the fact that the Nebraska market is not as well established as that of other states. The Nebraska market is not as well established as that of other states. The Nebraska market is not as well established as that of other states.

Mr. Johnk is silent, preferring to tell them to the farmers only and get his organization perfected before springing it on the public. Mr. Johnk was a member of the committee which framed the resolutions adopted by the Wichita convention, and it was one of the points in calling that convention. He is against the railroad's discriminating against shippers or giving rebates and he believes the way to fight them is to organize and go after them.

Grain Trust Not Dead. "If we are not careful, the grain dealers will continue to do business as a trust just the same as we have charged them with doing," said James T. Brady last night. "The attorney general has done a great work in his fight against the Grain Trust, but there is yet much work to be done. We will never get the trust clear out of business until we go after the foundation of the evil. The foundation is the railroads. There is where the real trouble is. They can give the rebates and they can discriminate against shippers, and until we can stop the railroads by some legal process, probably the anti-trust law, we will never get the Grain Trust out of existence. I feel sure that the grain men are still doing business as a trust, though under a different name from the card system which was exposed."

Senator Brady delivered an address before the independent elevator men this afternoon, in which he told of the work of the association.

It is stated that seven teams will follow the action of Manager Griffin. The major leagues have granted these requests.

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 17.—President Kavanaugh of the Southern league said tonight that the withdrawal of the Toledo club from the Class A alliance was what he had expected, and he supposed the reason for its existence was to obtain amendments to the drafting rules. He said that the Toledo club was adopted at Cincinnati, January 31. Having secured the amendments, the only thing left for the alliance to do was to dissolve.
