JURORS GO INTO ARGUMENT

Mild Sensation Created Near Close of the Heide-Deright Damage Case.

ONE JUROR IS EXCUSED FROM SERVICE

Attorneys Parish and Haller Are Interrupted by Questions and Corrections While Presenting Their Case to Jury.

That was probably an unprecedented scene in a Douglas county court was witnessed Friday afternoon in Judge Kennedy's room. The judge had retired to prepare his instructions while the attorneys, Messrs. Parish and Haller, were making their arguments to the jury. The case was the damage suit of Henry F. Heide, a farmer, against J. J. Deright, for $5,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained by being run into by Deright's automobile while driving along a public road in June, 1904.

Apparently in their own minds some of the jurors had taken sides as the case developed, and the attorneys and a few spectators were brought to realize this fact. As a result of the incident one of the jurors, Mr. McCloud, was excused and the other seven were permitted, by agreement of the attorneys, to take the case. They had not reached a verdict at a late hour Friday night, and if they agree will present a sealed verdict this morning.

How the Trouble Started.

While Mr. Parish was talking for the defense first an Englishman, and then the man with the good old Scotch name corrected or criticized his remarks. The latter juror wanted to ask the lawyer some questions concerning a certain experiment he had made on the table, and Judge Kennedy was called in. He told the jury that he could only ask questions as to testimony, and that he must reserve discussion of the facts or the attorneys' arguments for the jury room. The juror sat down in disgust, but set his jaw with an expression which seemed to indicate that he certainly intended to discuss some things in the retirement of the jury room. Later he was relieved from duty.

Some of the jurors also took exception to an amount spent for repairs, as it was stated by Mr. Parish, and the latter admitted he might have been in error, correcting his figures accordingly.

Attorney Haller, while Mr. Parish was criticizing a certain witness, put in a decided objection, and Judge Kennedy was again called in. He sustained Parish's right to criticize, but Mr. Haller noted an exception.

Haller Gets a Bunch.

Later, when Mr. Haller himself was addressing the jury, he was corrected by several of the jurors as to the speed notches on the Deright automobile, and the correction gave him an opportunity to make some play on "these choot-choot machines that go like a streak; that's just what they do."

That there are several men on the jury who delight in a stiff controversy was apparent when a brass cap from the hind wheel of the automobile was passed among them. It was battered to some extent, and on this fact was based the claim that the wagon occupied by Heide had run into the automobile, instead of the latter running into the wagon. The jurymen commented together and shook their heads in a way that boded no good to somebody.

If You Fear Diphtheria Beware of a Cold.

The best authorities now agree that the chances for contracting diphtheria are greatly enhanced by colds. If the child has a cold it is much more likely to contract diphtheria. The same is true of any of the much dreaded catching diseases. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of these diseases, that is why one child will contract a disease, and another exposed at the same time will not take it. The one that takes it, as a rule, has a cold. Even slight colds are dangerous and should have prompt and intelligent attention. Whether for a child or an adult you can find no better preparation than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It can always be depended upon to effect a quick cure. There is no danger in giving it to children, as it contains no harmful drug.

Elks' Monthly Stag Party.

The regular monthly stag party of the Omaha lodge of Elks was given last night at the hall, Fifteenth and Farnam streets. It was in every way up to the high standard which this organization has set for itself. After refreshments had been served entertainment was provided by a party of performers from the Orpheum theater, who arrived after the close of the show here. Thus the time until midnight was filled to the limit with pleasing diversion.

Announcements of the Theaters.

The coming of "Ben Hur" to the Boyd theater on Monday evening for a short engagement has been the most important announcement made for the present season. The advance sale of seats has been large, indicating the great interest felt by the public in the splendid production which has become so well known throughout the length and breadth of the land. The star of Bethlehem and the three wise men in the desert is one of the most impressive tableaux ever presented, and its execution is being only by the tableaux of the vision of Ben Hur, showing the Mount of Olives and the healing of the lepers. Here the presence of the Master is indicated by a shaft of bright light, while the great throng massed on the mountain side sings "Hosanna." The other scenes in the play are equally impressive and realistic, while the acting company is very strong. The dates are Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and a matinee on Wednesday.

"The Girl with the Green Eyes," with Miss Lane in the role of Jenny Austen, will be the bill for the coming week at the Woodward, opening with a matinee on Sunday. The preparations for this play have been made most carefully and Director Sedley Brown expects to have a fine performance from the very first.

The excellent bill on at the Orpheum this week will be brought to a close today when matinee and night performances will be given. The curtain will rise at 8:15 sharp tonight. Next week beginning matinee Sunday the dainty comedienne, Lillian Burkhardt, and company will present "A Siren's Song," a delightfully humorous little comedy. The Esmeralda sisters and their four flower girls are a seductive "bunch" of demure with lively heels who know how to sing. Then there will be the Wilson trio, German dialect comedians; Fredo brothers, equilibrist; Lucy and Lucier in their eccentric comedy sketch called "The Fool's Errand"; Grace Jackson, lyric soprano; the Arcadia, premier knife and ash throwers, and entirely new kidnaping pictures.

High School Junior Hop.

A very delightful event of last evening was the annual junior hop given by the high school students at Chambers' academy. A good number were present. Waiters and heartily encored. The hall tastefully decorated with the class emblems and many charming cozy corners were provided. The successful management of this hop was in the hands of Messrs. Harry B. Pollard, Myron Buck and Frank M. Hoel.

DIVORAK WILL GET NO DIVORCE

Judge Svors Refuses His Petition and Orders Him to Pay His Wife Five Dollars a Month.

Judge Svors has denied a divorce to Joseph Divorak in his suit against his wife, and the latter also keeps control of the children. She is in possession of the homestead, and in addition the court orders Divorak to pay her $5 a month toward keeping up the taxes and the interest on a mortgage. Mrs. Divorak said she did not desire a divorce, only separation from bed and board.

Bank Practice in Nebraska.
J. T. Brannaman brought up the subject of bank exchange, objecting to the fact that country banks charge both exchange and collection fees on sight drafts and demand the latter before presentation of the drafts. Several agreed with the views of Mr. Brannaman, but Secretary Jones took the ground that the banks only properly remunerate themselves for the trouble of collection. L. M. Talmage of the United States National bank and Paul Kuhns of the First National said if cases are investigated wherein collection charges are demanded before presentation of the draft is made, it will be learned that the person on whom the draft is made has had credit in his home town.

J. H. Taylor of F. P. Kirkendall & Co. told of a peculiar case, illustrating the difficulty of collecting. An Iowa shoe firm owed the company a large bill and bankruptcy proceedings were begun. The firm, by special inducements to other creditors, managed to prevent certain bills from being presented and showed to the court that the assets were less than the liabilities. The bankruptcy case was dismissed and at-
