DENVER, Jan. 24.—Joe Sorenson, 1442 North Twentieth Street, Omaha: Call at Clancy's office and sign my name to letter there to be published as requested. J. H. FONDA, Oxford.

William TenEyck Fonda, is as follows: OMAHA, Jan. 25.—To the Editor of The Bee: You published under date of January E3 a copy of Senator Burkett's letter ad-dressed to employes of the Union Pacific Railroad company who had writeen him on the subject of rate legislation. the same publicity as his recent communi-cation. In the first place, for his information, de-pire to say that the Hrotherhood of Loco-motive Engineers, having a membership of $2,000, and the Order of Railway Conductors, with an equal membership, and their kin-dred organizations, have canvassed the situation carefully-and we hope intelli-gently-as the best legal talent available has been employed to guide us. Therefore, we cannot submit to the imputation from any source that we are not informed or that we do not know our best interests; neither will we submit to the insinuations fre-quently advanced that we are coerced. The organization to which I have the honor of belonging has never been susceptible to such influences; we have the reputation of in-dependence.

Individually I would like to ask Senator Burkett one or two questions: Does not the United States pay the high-

We ask a plain living, good schooling for our child-ren, to stand well with our fellow men and our God at the final. We analyze this ques-tion with the same deliberation and cool-ness required to safely handle our engines. If you are with those who are willing to make any sacrifice to attain their ambi-tions, frantically striving for wealth, re-gardless of methods, prostituing the wel-fare of the whole people, or any part of them, to their own selfish ends, you are not representing the class of whom God made so many. In a bulletin which he will shortly issue State Chemist Redfern will tell something about various kinds of jellies he has analyzed. Five brands which he has in his office now and which were sold for jelly manufactured from fruit, contain not a suspicion of fruit, but are made of glucose, starch and coloring. Recently the chemist received some candy from Beatrice for analysis. The candy had been sold to the unsuspecting public of the Gage county town as pure cream candy. The analysis showed it to have been made principally of paraffin with some flavoring. One young boy who had bought some o it, after chewing it awhile discovered some chewing gum in his mouth. Dr. Brash, secretary to the Board of Health, was told of the incident and had the candy analyzed. The chewing gum was paraffin.
