

FIELD WILL IS PROBATED

Eight Million Dollars Left in Trust for the Columbia Museum.

BUSINESS WILL BE CONTINUED

Seventeen Millions Distributed in Special Bequests and Balance of Estate Left in Trust for Grandchildren.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—By the will of the late Marshall Field, which was filed today in the probate court, the city of Chicago is made the beneficiary to the extent of $8,000,000, which is to be used for the endowment of the Field Columbian museum, now situated in Jackson park.

The entire bequest for a museum, however, is made upon the express condition that within six years from the date of the death of Mr. Field there shall be provided for the museum, without cost to it, lands which shall be satisfactory to the trustees as the site for the permanent home of the museum. If within the six years the site has not been provided the $8,000,000 is to revert to and become part of the residuary estate.

In addition to the sum left for the museum various bequests, aggregating $7,000,000, are made to relatives and friends of the testator. With these exceptions the entire estate is to be kept intact until one of the two sons of Marshall Field, Jr., shall have reached the age of 30 years. They are now 3 and 12 years of age respectively. Marshall Field, Jr., died on November 27, 1906, of a bullet wound accidentally inflicted while handling a revolver.

Three Executors Appointed.

The executors of the will are the Merchants Loan and Trust company, a bank in which Mr. Field held a great amount of stock; Chauncey Keen, an old friend of Mr. Fields, and Arthur B. Jones, who has for many years been Mr. Field's secretary and confidential man. In one instance the United States Trust company of New York is made trustee for a fund of $3,000,000; the Illinois Trust and Savings bank and the Northern Trust company, both of Chicago, are also included among the trustees, but the bulk of the estate is to be managed by the three trustees first mentioned.

The Business of Marshall Field & Co. Is to be Maintained as a Portion of the Residuary Estate.

The business of Marshall Field & Co. is to be maintained as a portion of the residuary estate. That portion of the will relating to it reads as follows: "My executors and residuary trustees are directed to recognize and promote the performance of any contract that may exist at my decease and may have been made by me for the continuance in the business of Marshall Field & Co., incorporated, or any part of its resources therein."

Document Carefully Drawn.

The will of Mr. Field is an extensive document, covering thirty-two typewritten pages and including with two codicils something over 12,000 words. It is drawn with the utmost care and it is difficult to imagine any contingency which may arise hereafter which has not been foreseen by Mr. Field. The will provides not only for the specific manner in which each bequest is to be paid, but states exactly what is to be done with the funds of any particular trust if the beneficiary shall die before or after his or her legal heirs. As an instance of the care with which the will is drawn in this particular it may be stated that the residuary estate, which is to be to the two grandsons of Mr. Field, is covered in all details of management and disposition down to the grand

FEAR FOR SELVES SUPREME

Afraid of Taking Their Own Medicine Lausten's Slayers Grave Protection.

BEG NOT TO BE RETURNED TO OMAHA

Pretend to Feel Certainty of Mob Violence Here and Want to Stay at the Penitentiary.

O'Hearn, Nelson, Angus and Warren, the youthful culprits held for the wanton murder of Nels Lausten, are trying to work themselves into a frenzy over the imaginary fear of summary treatment if returned to Omaha. They are still in the penitentiary at Lincoln.

Rather than be returned to Omaha the wretches have expressed a willingness to accept any sentence that may be imposed on them. Detectives Drummy, Douthett and Mitchell, who took the prisoners to the state penitentiary Tuesday, returned Wednesday morning and told of the fright manifested by their charges until Lincoln was reached. Angus was more scared than his companions. He, Warren and Nelson, were outspoken in their desire to stay at Lincoln rather than return to Omaha.

Time of Hearing Not Set. County Attorney Slaugh and Chief Donahue have not yet arranged for the time when the prisoners will be returned to Omaha for arraignment in police court. It is understood, however, the arraignment will not be made until after the Lausten funeral Thursday afternoon.

"I do not think the Danish brotherhood, the saloon men nor the people in general will countenance anything tending toward violence in this matter. We sent the prisoners away as a precautionary measure, as some hotheads might have started something, but would not have finished it. The police department was and is prepared to resist any demonstration in this matter. I feel sure any attempt to take the prisoners would result disastrously for those making the attempt. But I feel sure the general public is satisfied justice will be given the prisoners. The young outlaws are now in a state of much contrition and fear. They are realizing the terrible nature of their deeds."

All Charged With Murder. As before stated, the county attorney has filed in the police court complaints against the four outlaws. Each one is charged with murder in the first degree, murder while in act of robbery, and robbery.

A touching little incident in connection with the four culprits came to light Wednesday morning. Raymond Nelson told the story himself on the way to Lincoln. Nelson was discharged last Friday morning in police court on account of lack of identification by a complaining witness in a case of (ill) tapping. Nelson went straight to his home and was given a kindly talk by his mother. With her son's head resting on her lap, the mother prayed that her son might forsake the errors of his way and bring home to her a bright young man.

Good Boy in Bad Company. "Although it is nothing to boast of, Joe Warren, one of the young men charged with murder in the first degree, coming street as a good citizen, is a Rusville boy," observed State Senator Brees of Rusville at the Merchants hotel Tuesday. "His step-father was agent of the Indian supply depot at Rusville in 1890 and 1891. Joe seemed to be a good sort of boy, then, but was a good citizen. He left Rusville for South Omaha to work in the packing house."

Senator Brees is an advocate of the Charles Weston gubernatorial boom, though he says, while he meets the ex-auditor quite frequently, he has not heard him say we ought to run on the Weston ticket. It has been understood all along that Weston, whom the railroads speak favorably of as a candidate, is not doing much talking.

FISH FOR STATE'S STREAMS Half Million Brook and Rainbow Trout to be Planted by Officials.

State Fish Commissioner O'Brien and Game Warden Carter, together with the Merchants Wednesday and left Wednesday night for St. Paul to attend the annual meeting of the National Game and Fish Commissioners. An effort will be made at this meeting to formulate uniform state game laws, and to secure the better protection of both game and fish.

"We will plant about 500,000 brook and rainbow trout in the waters of northwest Nebraska in March," said Mr. O'Brien. "In the waters which are tributary to the Niobrara. Some time ago we tried to plant some fish in the southwestern part of the state, but we got no results, so we have practically discontinued. We were pleased with the success of our efforts in the little ponds around Cut Off lake and were able to save many thousand fish which otherwise would have been frozen."

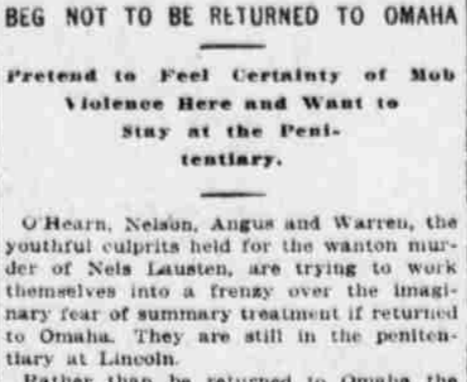

Keeper of Dirty Hotel. Nathan Schnitzer, proprietor of a rooming house at 112 North Tenth street, was convicted in police court Wednesday morning of maintaining an unclean lodging house. The arrest was made by Health Officer Woodbridge and a number of roomers at the Schnitzer place testified as to the conditions of the rooming house.

"The rooming house was very filthy and was a menace to public health. It was reported that a man named Lew Harris died at the Schnitzer place of consumption a few weeks ago and that the defendant did not fumigate and clean the place as provided for by law."
