TRUANCY FROM HIGH SCHOOL

Matter Tests the Patience and Ingenuity of Principal Waterhouse.

SAYS HE HAS DONE BEST HE CAN

Does Not Admit School Management is Derelict; Says Possibly Parents Do Not Know the Facts.

Truancy from the high school by daughters of prominent families and the recent remarks by Principal Waterhouse before the Women's club about abuses on the methods employed to insure attendance, has caused the subject to be much discussed in public school circles. It is admitted young girls, attracted by parties, balls and entertainments of the social order, are absent from high school classes to a marked and increasing degree. The school authorities say reform must be worked by the parents unless considerable additional expense is sustained at the high school.

Principal Waterhouse feels he has done all he can with the office force and funds at his command.

Waterhouse States His Views.

He said:

"There must, of necessity from the large number of pupils in the high school, be many absences every day. Five per cent of the number attending would not be a unusual absentee list. I think, in a school attended from such distances as are found in Omaha. The total enrollment for the first term this year has been about 1,600, and the average attendance over 1,500. Five per cent of the latter would be seventy-five."

"It is evident the impression prevails that we should send notice each day to the parents of those absent. I wish it were possible to do this. Such a practice would tend materially to reduce the number of absences. No doubt in many cases trivial expenses would be denied and the pupils sent to school. Daily notification is not possible at present for several reasons. To look up the addresses of the parents of from seventy-five to 125 absentees, write the necessary notices and address the envelopes would require the work of an additional clerk in the office. The postage bill would be from $35 to $50 a year for the item alone.

Dereliction Not Admitted.

"I do not admit the high school management is derelict in its efforts to notify parents of absences. Under the practice of the whole school system we send notices to the parents when pupils have been absent three days and do not return on the fourth. Feeling this is not sufficient, for the reason that pupils might be showed enough to learn of the practice and tricky enough to remain out but one or two days at separated periods, we have twice during the term just closed sent notices to parents whose children have been absent four or more days up to the time of the notice, regardless of whether the days were scattered or consecutive. In addition to the double notice system there is a third notice to parents of attendance—that on the report cards sent home at the middle and close of each term.

"These things should be known to parents. It is possible many of them do not understand the system in use."

SALARY MATTER IN THE AIR

Question of Increase for Teachers Not Settled by the Special Committee.

Intimations are given out that the teachers committee of the Board of Education may not be ready to report on the teachers' salary increase matter at the regular board meeting next Monday night. One of the members said that personally he went through with committee conferences on the subject and had turned the matter over to his associates, after having made up his mind how he would vote.

"The opinions of the members of the committee are widely divergent," said he. "They run pretty well from one extreme to the other. It looks as though it will be a very hard matter to make a report."

The light he threw upon the present status of the subject under consideration and the attitude of the committee was confirmed by others. They did not want to talk further, however.

SCHNEIDER HAS THE SITE

Big Elevator Firm Decides on Omaha Location, but Keeps it from Public.

The site of the proposed Nye-Schneider-Fowler elevator has not been made public, but it is generally understood the question was settled some time ago and that the company has secured a location somewhere in the south part of the city. The firm wants access to several railroads, and it is said there are but about two places in Omaha which will meet the requirements. One of the few men in town who really knows what the elevator company is doing, said:

"It is true the site has been chosen. The reason the company does not make it public is that arrangements have to be made with several roads for trackage and this takes a long time. The company will not announce its plans until it has all trackage matters finally settled."

SALOON CASES ARE POSTPONED

Hearing Before District Court Goes Over Because of Other Business in the Way.

Hearing before Judge Sutton on the saloon license cases, as against the policy of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, went over to a future date, not yet agreed on. This was necessary because City Attorney Breen and his assistant, Mr. Herdman, are at present engaged before Judge Estlin in the arguments for judgment and a new trial in the alibi case. The city attorney does not expect to be at liberty until the end of the week, and at that time he will confer with Elmer E. Thomas as to a date for beginning the taking of evidence.

The Civic Federation attorney desires to take testimony in order to refute, if possible, some things set up in the formal answer of the commissioners as filed by Mr. Breen.

CHICAGO JOBBERS NOT HURT

Dry Goods Wholesalers in No Danger from Stickney Plan.

RATE COULD BE CUT WITHOUT INJURY

Fact is It Would Benefit Omaha, and There is Where the Rub Comes to Windy City Firms.

Omaha jobbers claim the assertion of the Chicago jobbers that President Stickney of the Great Western would not dare put in the reduced rate on dry goods to Missouri river points because it would discriminate against Chicago is unfounded. An Omaha jobber said:

"The rate to this section would not hurt the Chicago merchants in the least. Rates are made on a basis of Chicago and the Mississippi river, and if Mr. Stickney would reduce the rate to Missouri river points the seaboard it could only be done by also reducing the rate to the Chicago merchants just as well. The rate from Chicago on cotton piece goods is 50 cents from Chicago and 25 cents from the Missouri river, and the only way Mr. Stickney could reduce the rate would be by reducing these figures and standing all cuts himself unless some eastern line would join in with him, when all eastern lines would make the same rate and Chicago would still be on the same basis as it now is.

Work on the Cut-off.

Kilpatrick Bros., contractors, who are to build the Union Pacific cut-off from South Omaha to Lane, are going ahead with the work and making hay while the sun shines. R. J. Kilpatrick, head member of the firm, which has opened offices in Omaha to look after this work, said Monday:

"We are going right ahead with this work, which will require some heavy cuts. To do this work we will use six standard gauge locomotives, twelve narrow gauge locomotives and several steam shovels. We unloaded some of these locomotives recently at Seymour lake on the line of the Missouri Pacific and are to take them overland to the work a distance of three miles."

Omaha people who were driving near Seymour lake Sunday saw these locomotives being taken across the fields. The track was laid as the engines went along and it was also necessary to build a bridge across the Pappie.

Small Effect in Omaha.

The announced reduction by the Armour private refrigerator car lines on deciduous fruit rates from the coast east will have considerable effect on Omaha, although not as much as would appear on the surface. Omaha gets most of its apples from the south, the first coming from Georgia, then Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa and home products. One railroad man said probably 150 cars per year are stopped at Omaha from California. This cut has nothing to do with the freight rates, as it is simply a reduction of the special service furnished by the Armour car line in the way of cars and icing.

Forty-Four Miles Operating.

The Northwestern announces it has completed and has in operation forty-four miles of the new Casper line and is opening new stations as the work progresses. It also is announced that the present splendid weather continues for any length of time the road will be completed to the Wind River reservation for setting by the government in June. There was some talk at one time of postponing the opening until later in the season to give this road an opportunity to finish its track, so settlers could be hauled to the drafted, but the secretary is going right ahead preparing for the allotment at the specified time.

Railway Notes and Personal.

Special Agent Harris of the Northwestern has gone to Chicago.

Theodore Thomas, traveling freight agent of the Burlington out of Beatrice, has been
