

FONTELLES BIND BY OATH

Exact Political Mortgage of Any Candidate Accepting Their Support.

VICTIM MUST SIGN PLEDGE BEFORE TAKING

After Taking He Must Resign Himself to Dictation of Club and Hand Over the Coin.

Difficulties encountered by the Fontanelle club in getting desirable men to accept its endorsements for municipal offices are explained in the extraordinary articles which applicants are required to sign. The pledges required bear out all the charges made to the effect that the club is nothing more or less than an iron-clad political machine, designed solely to help its controllers into office and to gain a monopoly of salaries paid by the county and city government. To be a Fontanelle candidate the applicant must promise four things: To be an active member of the club. To advocate the propaganda of the organization. To prefer club members in the distribution of patronage. To have no financial dealings in the campaign except through the club.

Dangers of a Cold and How to Avoid Them.

More fatalities have their origin in or result from a cold than from any other cause. This fact alone should make people more careful as there is no danger whatever from a cold when it is properly treated in the beginning. For many years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been recognized as the most prompt and effective medicine in use for this disease. It acts on nature's plan, loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition.

Announcements of the Theaters.

In "The Heroic Comic Club" Israel Zangwill has provided a new figure in comedy. It is altogether an original conceit and is worked out in a way that is both plausible and delicious from a comedy point of view. While employed as a nurse girl during the day, the heroine finds time to engage as a music hall singer at night, and eventually abandons the nursery for the stage. The comic element arises from this dual existence, and the pertinacity of a manager who figures all the way through the action of the play. The company, headed by Nellie Besant and Richard Carroll, will present this delightful comedy at the Boyd theater on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of the present week, with a matinee on Saturday.

LIGHT BIDS. ARE TOO HIGH

Council Thus Decides and Will Ask for Re-advertisement of Proposals.

PRINTING CONTRACTS MUST AWAIT

Nothing Will Be Done Just Now Since Union Firms are Justified from Looking After Their Interests.

The city council in general committee session Monday afternoon decided to re-advertise for bids for lighting the outlying districts, considering the price submitted for gasoline lamps. A year's time, high specifications will be prepared with a view to obtaining proposals for incandescent lighting as well as gas and gasoline. The printing contract matter came up again, but was not settled. Attorney Connel, representing the Typographical union, said that the injunction forbidding the striking printers from doing many things was in force, he had advised them to take no part in the controversy before the council. Many members of the union were present, but in view of the injunction had nothing to say. Mr. Connel said that under the terms of the injunction the union printing firms were barred from entering into the competition. The council agreed to take no decisive action either in rejecting the bids or awarding the contract until opportunity is given for the modification of the injunction and a hearing to both sides.

Printing Bids to Wait.

President Zinnman and Councilman Dyllal were in favor of rejecting the bids and calling for new ones, but were satisfied with the attitude of their colleagues not to take action when the tabulated figures are submitted at the council meeting tonight.

Room for Juvenile Court.

The city council has agreed to grant the officers of the juvenile court the use of a second small room on the fourth floor of the city hall. The additional office was requested in order to secure privacy in conferring with persons regarding testimony and with a view of protecting young girls necessarily present from hearing some of the tales of immorality that have to be rehearsed.

CHRISTIAN IX IS DEAD

As a great shock to her, as apparently there had been no previous intimation of any indisposition.

Sympathy from Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—By direction of the president Secretary Root today sent a cablegram to the American minister at Copenhagen for transmission to the Danish government expressing the deepest sympathy of this country at the demise of King Christian.

Mourning in St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 28.—The imperial court, which was emerging from the deep lethargy into which it had been plunged since the outbreak of the war, was thrown into mourning today by the death of King Christian. The emperor had again been participating in formal functions, which had been entirely suspended during the acute period of the international troubles. His majesty was to have given a dinner January 31 to the chiefs of mission, to which Ambassador Meyer had been invited, but this function will undoubtedly be canceled.

KING DID GOOD FOR THE WORLD

Promoted Peace by Securing Inter-marriage of Royal Houses.

City Electrician Waldemar Michaelssen, a native of Denmark, said: "King Christian the grandfather of Europe. With the aid of his wife, the late Queen Louise, a very capable woman, he succeeded in intermarrying many of the royal houses of Europe. This feat was perhaps his greatest triumph, for it has been an important factor in maintaining peace and harmony. His services in this respect to the world are far greater than appears at first thought. Denmark for years has been the vacation ground of many of the ruling heads of European nations, the king and queen of Greece, the prince and princess of Wales, now the king and queen of England, and the duke and duchess of Cumberland. I have never seen a more impressive sight of the kind. The men were resident uniforms and the women jewels without number. The theater always was crowded to the capacity at such times, but the prices were never raised so much as a penny. "The relief and pleasure that some of these crowned heads took in going to Denmark can be seen by the abandon with which they applied themselves to a childish game of tag in the parks of Frederiksberg castle, meaning the castle of peace, near Copenhagen. I saw the royal personages I have mentioned doing just that thing and apparently enjoying it to the full extent. "King Christian was much loved and respected by his subjects. He was not considered by them a brilliant man, but one of solid, substantial virtues. He ruled close to the wishes of his people and had the ability to pick cabinet members in harmony with the wishes of the people. His reign was a long, peaceful and prosperous one and his private life was unblemished by scandal. "Personally I think the world has lost a great and good man in King Christian. I doubt if any king of modern times had so warm a place in the hearts of his subjects. While on state occasions he drove in magnificent equipages, he much preferred to walk alone in the streets, attired as a simple gentleman. This was a common practice with him. He invariably tipped his hat to whoever saluted him, and the smallest and meanest urban never failed to receive recognition if he saluted his sovereign. "As a resident of Copenhagen I saw the king many times, the last instance being during my visit there about three years ago. I remember seeing the king coming in off the sea from some bathing place, running up to a carriage, jumping in with the celerity and speed of a trained gymnast in full bloom of youth, and driving away. He was a fine figure of a man physically and his magnificent physique is striking in his descendants. "The sorrow of the people of Denmark over King Christian's death will be general."

LINDSEY, FRIEND OF BOYS

Denver's Noted Judge of Juvenile Court Visits Omaha.

CHIEF SPEAKER AT CHURCH CLUB DINNER

How to Reach a Boy's Heart and How to Keep Him from Being a Criminal Made Plain.

Judge Ben H. Lindsey of the juvenile court of Denver talked on "The Juvenile Court" last night at the Paxton hotel before 150 members of the Nebraska Church club at the club's annual banquet. Judge Lindsey was the guest of the evening. His talk was mainly of methods used in dealing with boys in the court at Denver, and he told how the court sought to instill hope, confidence, pride and love of fair dealing in the youthful heart, and how the boys were made to feel that the court was with them and not against them, as they seemed to think was always the case with the criminal courts. They were made to feel that they were young men, to know that they were to be given a chance to prove that they were men, and to realize that the court had just as much confidence in their manhood as though they had never been delinquent.

Boys May Be Trained.

Such treatment almost never failed of the result desired, said Judge Lindsey. It instilled such a feeling of pride in the boys that they could be trusted to go alone to a place of detention. Out of 50 boys Judge Lindsey had sent to detention houses or reformatories in the last five years, all of whom had been sent without an officer, only one ran away, and he returned to court the next morning to say that he believed he could get there if he took a fresh start and were sent by another road. The train which carried him had run past his home in the outskirts of Denver, the place where he played with the kids, and he could not resist the temptation to jump off the second time he tried he reached his destination. Another boy the judge told of whom he had sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. This boy was sent alone to the prison, 250 miles away, and the chief of police of Denver made a bet of $5 that he would walk to the prison, and had literally forced his way into the penitentiary, for the armed guards who walked the wall furnished their rifles and would not let him until he had made a long explanation, which they could scarcely credit.

Criminal Courts and Boys.

In regard to the criminal courts, Judge Lindsey said: "It is no right to correct these erring children unless the state is prepared to correct them. And yet it does, with dire results. 'Lay, sneak, cheat, steal all you can, but don't get caught.' is taught by every police judge in the country under the criminal law.

Little for Police Board

Annual Report of Chief of Police Donahue Filed, but Not Acted on by the Board.

The regular meeting of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners last night was of short duration, there being little business to be disposed of. The only matter of importance was the annual report of Chief of Police Donahue. It was a lengthy document, and for that reason was not read to the members, but was taken away by some of them after adjournment to be looked over at leisure. A drugist's permit was issued to J. H. Merchant, 1601 Howard street, and a liquor license to Henry Rohlf, 1907 S. Capitol avenue.

AT LEAST TWO GOT DRINK

Couple of Women Land Load of Liquor Despite the Lid Sunday.

That the lid worked loose to some extent in Omaha Sunday was evidenced from the court records, which showed that one woman came from Council Bluffs to Omaha and picking up considerable of the liquor of life and a stranger found herself in possession of $50 worth of diamonds when she awoke in an east Farnam street hotel Monday morning. The other woman accumulated such a quantity going to a funeral she had to be taken out of the carriage.

Workman Injured by Fall.

In attempting to make way for a workman with a wheelbarrow, M. E. Burk, 42 South Eleventh street, stepped backward into the elevator shaft of the new W. S. building on Grand street where he was employed, at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He fell from the second floor and struck a ledge which lay across the opening of the shaft on the first floor, breaking it as he received several bruises, and then continued his downward plunge to the basement, where Police Sergeant Morgan found him. He was taken to the hospital, where he is now recovering from his injuries.

Supervision of Insurance.

B. H. Robison, president of the Bankers Reserve Life company, is in St. Louis attending a conference of executive officers of life insurance companies. It is probable a permanent organization will be effected at St. Louis. The subject of discussion at the meeting probably will be the proposed question of federal supervision of life insurance companies. The meeting will proceed from St. Louis to Chicago, where another insurance meeting is to be held February 1, at which the governors of the several states, auditors and insurance superintendents are expected to vote on the proposed federal supervision and other features of the present insurance discussion.
