Improvers Have a Merry Time With a Mixed Lot of Speakers.

DAVIDSON ON PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF OMAHA

Superintendent Tells How Parents Can Help Raise the Standard by Requiring Better Behavior from Children.

The meeting place of the West Leavenworth Improvement club at Forty-eighth and Farnam streets was too small to hold the attendance comfortably last night at a session held for the dual purpose of self-congratulation on the betterments secured and to entreat the members with vigor in prosecuting work still to be accomplished.

A great variety of entertainment, ranging all the way from oratory of the highest order through mimicry and music to clowns, beer and sandwiches, enlivened the evening and it was an exceedingly pleasant crowd of citizens that went home just the evening side of midnight.

Politicians were there in plenty, but the discussion of their trade was tabooed and broken in one case only—that of Frank Dunlop, who pleaded so excessively with droll stories and character studies that he was recalled, compelled to perform another stunt and was labeled the democratic nominee for the council from the Fifth ward.

How to Help the Schools.

Superintendent Davidson of the public schools made the principal address of the evening. He pleaded for sympathy and appreciation of teachers' work by parents and co-operation by instituting the spirit of obedience in children. He said:

These gatherings are of great value from many points of view. You come here to feel the spirit of growth and enterprise and carry on the uplift in the community. With reference to the public school system of Omaha, our present business is the improvement of that system. You are deeply interested in the cause of education because the public schools of this city are what they stand for represent the largest and broadest thought which men and women have.

There was never any idea spread abroad more erroneous than that the public schools are an expense, for if they mean anything at all they mean an investment. The greater the amount of culture and intelligence in Omaha, the more the city will grow in a material sense and the city will improve in proportion to its advancement first in this way. I firmly believe every dollar spent on the schools of Omaha is an investment which pays a larger percentage than any other single investment made from one year's end to another. The public school system is the backbone which has raised the mass of the people to a higher level than that occupied by the leaders half a century ago.

Some Others Who Spoke.

J. W. Eiler presided over the meeting, remarking incidentally that anything the club wants now it can get and that no political candidate can hope to get any votes in the southwest part of the city unless he comes out and gives the club a chance to look him over. Somewhat in the nature of sequence to this act Judge Eiler called upon E. A. Benson, who sat near, to make a speech.

Mr. Benson lauded the organization in the superlative and told a bunch of stories and made his getaway under cover of music supplied on the mandolin and banjo by the brothers McIntosh, who played "The Angel's Serenade."

City Comptroller Lobeck was introduced as a "good thing to look at." Judge Eiler being determined to carry out to the letter the wish of the club, he announced for the meeting. After the comptroller had squared himself with his friends by assuming to pose as a beauty he ascended into the clouds of prosperity and altruism and remained there seven minutes. Descending, he told the club to help public officers and newspaper reporters rather than to cuss them.

Somewhat facetiously the presiding officer introduced County Commissioner W. G. Ure by saying he would talk of "things to eat." Mr. Ure blushed, said the club is badly crowded and launched off into a defense of his action on the club feeding matter.

Dunlop Sees a Hit.

The orchestra softly played "Tus Rastus Johnson Brown" and Frank Dunlop made his way to the platform amid loud cheers. He had his audience at his feet in two minutes and kept them there until he rang down the curtain on his vaudeville show.

After which Fred McIntosh gave a distinguished imitation of how a down south dandy plays the banjo in exuberant moments.

In response to a question from Judge Eiler as to what is going to be done about macadamizing Leavenworth street from Thirty-seventh to Forty-eighth this evening, County Commissioner Kennard said it was up to the park board; that the county commissioners would provide the money, but the board would spend it. Carrying the matter to the park board, L. N. Gordon, member of that body, spoke very hopefully regarding the matter, saying that in all probability the work will be done this year and clear to Elmwood park.

What Caused Laughter.

County Commissioner Solomon stated he came to hear what was wanted and not to talk inconsiderately. He was introduced as a "newly elected politician." He was followed by Fred McIntosh in a painstaking sketch of a "newly elected politician." The merriment provided by this coincidence was checked by the reading of a letter from Ed P. Smith, democratic mayoralty candidate, saying business engagements kept him from being present. Music followed, the selection being "If You Ain't Got No Money You Needn't Come Round."

George D. Rice of the Board of Education made a few remarks and was followed by City Clerk Elsbourn and Councilmen Dyball and Huntington in the same capacity.

Others who were present and did not speak were Councilmen Schroeder, Evans and Trotter. Mr. Schroeder made the club happy by sending out 20 cigars.

Governor Boyd Improving.

At his home Friday morning the condition of former Governor James E. Boyd was described as improving. He has been confined to the house for several weeks and has not yet been able to get out on the streets in comfort, but it is thought the time will be short.

CENTRAL LABOR UNION MEETS

Visiting Leaders Address the Body on Labor Topics and Committees Are Named.

C. O. Pratt of Chicago, chairman of the international board of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electrical Railway Employees of America, and Collins Lovely of St. Louis, president of the International Boot and Shoe Workers' union, delivered brief addresses before the Omaha Central Labor union. Friday evening on topics pertaining to their respective crafts.

Mr. Pratt said the organization of street railway men is very prosperous throughout the country and that he is very much encouraged by the outlook for a more effective organization at Omaha and Council Bluffs.

The subject of convict labor and how vitally it comes into competition with our labor throughout the entire country was the theme of Mr. Lovely's talk. The speaker has been making a careful investigation of the convict labor conditions throughout the south, the eastern and middle western states and gave a comparative illustration of the methods adopted in the several localities. He favored a duplication of the convict labor law of New York, which had been in successful operation for ten years past and provides that prisoners made goods in that state should not be sold outside the state and that only such goods as are used by the state should be made in the prisons. He urged an effective means of nullifying convict-made goods to refuse to purchase any manufactured article not made by union labor.

The following delegates were admitted as members of the central body: F. W. Leventine, W. H. Adkins, Jr., Orin Standfield from Omaha Musical union, Cope, Panosky, Schrotter from Omaha Printing Pressmen's union, John Hagstrom, journeyman horse shoers' union.

The special committee appointed to visit the city council in connection with the bids for city printing now before that body was ordered continued.

The following standing committees were announced for the ensuing year:

Law—A. Ellis, typographical union; chairman, E. R. Baum, barbers' union; Christian, stationary engineers' union; Young, plumbers' union; Hall, blacksmiths' union.

Home Industry and Union Label—Cogan, horsehoers' union; Baker, barbers' union; Gibler, waiters' union.

Religious—Vardlaw, laundry workers' union; Michelson, street railway employees' union; J. Anderson, structural iron workers' union.

Sanitation—G. Jones, brewery workers' union; Geismann, cigar makers' union; Greenwald, waiters' union; Bushy, well employees' union; Shirley, stationary firemen's union.

A communication was received from the Brooklyn, N. Y., Federation of Labor asking that the Omaha Central Labor union contribute to the fund for the purchase of a burial plot and monument to the late John Swinton, whose body has lain unburied for four years past in the vault in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn.

The communication was laid over until another meeting.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Candidates for Precinct Committee Coming in On the Home Stretch.

COLORED MAN A CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

W. J. Ford First Man of His Race to Offer Himself for This Office in the History of South Omaha.

With the approach of the last day of filing there was quite an increase of candidates, most of which were for committees from the various parties. It now appears all the parties will be completely represented in this respect. Besides the filings for committee there were several other candidates. Among them was a colored candidate for mayor of South Omaha. This was W. J. Ford, of Twenty-ninth and R streets. Without doubt this is the first time in the history of the city that a man of color has been a candidate for this office. He files on the republican ticket. It is known that the republican club known as the South Omaha Citizens' club, composed of 28 colored voters, met Thursday night in their rooms and endorsed W. P. Adkins for the office of mayor. Nothing was hinted there of a candidate from among their number. Samuel S. Fullerton filed as a democrat for the office of councilman in the Sixth ward. Herman W. Swanbach, republican, filed as councilman in the Third ward. James H. Chadwick, socialist, filed for the office of city attorney, Fred Garson, democrat, filed for the council in the Fourth ward. A. E. Lucas, socialist, became a candidate for the council in the Sixth. Rasmus Larson withdrew as a republican candidate in the Second ward. He is a democrat. A socialist candidate for the office of tax commissioner.

The Kosciusko Republican club will meet again tonight at Tom Kozlowski's hall, Twenty-seventh and J streets. President Trubanski made the statement that he intended to have the club determine on the entire ticket which would be supported by the organization at the primaries. The other republican clubs of the city have not progressed as far as to determine on candidates, except perhaps for mayor, W. P. Adkins. The Good Government club met last Thursday night. It is likely that the club will meet each Thursday night during the campaign.

Preparing for Damage Case.

The city attorney is preparing for the damage case against the city in which John Burke seeks to recover for injuries which he claims to have received while filling an excavation and while in the employ of the city. It is said that he fell in the excavation in some manner and was hurt. The case will be begun in the district court Monday.

St. Martin's church has established another mission. A building has been rented at Twentieth and Union streets and several houses will be built there. Work from tomorrow afternoon. ## GREETING TO DR. HYDE

Bishop Scannell's Hearty Commendation of the Gaelic Revival Movement.

Dr. Rev. Richard Scannell, bishop of Omaha, heartily endorses and explains the purpose of the Gaelic revival and tenders an advance greeting to Dr. Douglas Hyde, its leading spirit, through the editorial columns of The True Voice. In part he says:

There are few subjects of study more interesting to the scholar than that which has to do with the revival of the Gaelic tongue. Let the Gaelic tongue cease to be spoken and the Irish race, as a race distinct from other races, with its own genius, its own characteristics and its own mode of thought—will have ceased to exist.

The next few years will be the crucial period for the Gaelic tongue. If the present movement continues to grow and gather force it will carry along with it the revival of the Gaelic tongue. But to accomplish this high purpose there will be needed the support of the "Children of the Gael" at home and abroad, and for that support Dr. Hyde will appeal next Thursday evening.

In general of these things that come under the name of ethnology, of languages, and of the history of the Gaelic people, which is the instrument by which a race thinks and acts and leaves its impress on the world, is the language of the Gael. It is the language of the Gaelic people, which is the instrument by which a race thinks and acts and leaves its impress on the world, is the language of the Gael.

SAVED BABY LYON'S LIFE

Untold Suffering and Constant Misery—Awful Sight From that Dreadful Complaint, Infantile Eczema—Commenced at Top of his Head and Covered Entire Body.

MOTHER PRAISES CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Our baby had that dreadful complaint, Infantile Eczema, which afflicted him for several months, commencing at the top of his head, and at last covering his whole body. His sufferings were untold and constant misery, in fact, there was nothing we would not have done to have given him relief. The family doctor seemed to be wholly incapable of coping with the case, and after various experiments of his, which resulted in no benefit to the child, we sent to Mazon, Ill., to a druggist and got a full set of the Cuticura Remedies and applied as per directions, and he began to improve immediately, and in about three or four days began to show a brighter spirit and really laughed, for the first time in a year. In about ninety days he was fully recovered, with the exception of a rough skin, which is gradually disappearing, and eventually will be replaced by a healthy one."

"Praise for the Cuticura Remedies has always been our greatest pleasure, and there is nothing too good that we could say in their favor, for they certainly saved our baby's life, for he was the most awful sight that I ever beheld, prior to the treatment of the Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. Mabelle Lyon, 1826 Appleton Ave., Parsons, Kan., July 18, 1905."

RECEPTION AT THE STATION

Omaha Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic Greet Their National President.

Mrs. L. R. Foote, national president of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, with her secretary, Mrs. Ross, both of Denver, were given a reception at the Burlington depot Friday afternoon. The party was met by a reception committee consisting of the president of the Nebraska department, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, three past presidents of the department and the president and past president of Garfield Circle No. 11 of Omaha, with a number of other local members of the order. Mrs. Foote was presented with bouquets of roses and carnations by the department and local officers.

The stay of the party in the city was necessarily very brief, as Mrs. Foote and Mrs. Ross were en route to Minneapolis to arrange for the meeting of the national convention of the order to be held there in August next, at which time a formal reception will be tendered her. In speaking of the growth of the order during the past few months Mrs. Foote said twenty-one new circles have been organized since September up to January 1, and several new circles organized during the month of January, though all the reports are not in. The financial condition of the order is the best in its history and the membership is rapidly increasing, particularly in the west. It is expected that there will be a much larger attendance of delegates at the Minneapolis convention than at any convention since the order has been organized.

The regular meeting of Garfield Circle No. 11 will be held Monday evening at the new hall in the Rohrbough block, Nineteenth and Farnam. The new president will announce the standing committees for the ensuing year.

Home Pianos

Omaha is a "City of Homes."

Home influence and the home spirit predominate here. There are few great rows of tenement houses such as are found in other cities. We are a home-loving people.

No single influence contributes more, perhaps, to the home atmosphere than music.

No other organization has so extended this influence in Omaha as our piano store. Its phenomenal growth is its own explanation and reason for its existence. The Hospe one-price-no-commission plan was needed, else it would have never succeeded so remarkably. It has not only brought the best pianos in the world within the reach of the majority, but it has brought good pianos within reach of everybody.

There are few families that cannot afford a new Cramer Piano at $190, or a new Irving Piano at $210, or a new Wesser Piano at $235. And few people that cannot conveniently pay $6 a month and thereby soon own one of these special values in Pianos.
