orn and Oats Show Unusual Strength for Saturday-Material Increase in Wheat Visible Supply Expected Monday.

Colder weather tonight and tomorrow night, complaint from Kansas and Ne-braska respecting from Kansas and Ne-braska respecting the winter wheat crop and the prospects of a material decrease in the visible supply for the week gave concerted shorts. Minrogn tone and disafully as strong as the Control of the week gave the wheat market and no over-sold condition is presumed to exist there. The bullish features in the domestic situation offset the large Australian shipments and easier continental cables. Sentiment underwent considerable change. Flour stocks the first of the month were 19,000 barriels less than for the corresponding period a year ago and about the same as on the first of January. Clearances were quite liberal at half a million.

A Chicago trader says: "The east probably will be in the market for oats again soon, particularly if the market here holds firm. The recent sudden increase in the supply of cars east piled up a lot of oats at function points through that section. These have now disappeared, but new buying has been checked by the weakness shown in the western markets.

Trading in provisions was exceedingly active and the market showed unusual strength A 55 to sdvance in the price of live logs was the chief cause of the strong market, but in addition to packers, commission houses were active buyers. At the close May pork was up 35 to at $14575, tard was up 75 to at $7.74 Ribs were 125 higher at $5.867.935.

HOGS There was a fair run or hogs here for a Saturday, although the receipts were in no means large, still they were somewhat in excess of previous Saturdays of recent date. Under the influence of encouraging reports from all selling points, coupled with a good local demand, the nurket opened about so higher. The early sales were on the basis of $5.52½ for good hogs. This urice secured the bulk of the receipts, with some of the better hogs selling as high as $5.55 and on up to $1.57½ for choice loads. The early market was quite active at the advance noted above and the high bulk of the receipts changed hands in good season. Some of the heaviest buyers, however, were still following bear tactics, so that after the more largent orders were filled the market became less brisk and the feeling a little easier.

The course of values this week has been almost steadily upward. The week started out with values a shade higher, with a slight reaction on Tuesday, followed by a good stiff advance on Wednesday and a slight reaction the day after and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the higher than the close of last week and the h week, there was comparatively little doing on the sheep market, not enough in fact to call it a market. This has been a week to call it a market. This compts the total of extremely light sheep recents the total being less than half what it was for the being less than half what it was than half previous week and a little ne-e than half the receipts of a year ago. This light run has been due entirely to the efforts of commission men and newspapers to keep down the receipts at this point on account of the limited demand. Had all other markets followed the receipts are the second of the limited demand. mission men and newspapers to keep down the receipts at this point on account of the limited demand. Had all other markets followed the same policy prices for the week would unquestionably have been maintained, but in spite of the fact that the eastern mutton market was badly demoralized shipments of sheep and lambs were encouraged at some points, with the result that those markets broke and carried down with them the markets at other points. The decline for the week at South Omaha amounts to 10000c, some kinds showing more loss than others. In spite of this seemingly heavy loss prices at this point have ranged higher comparatively than at any other simply because the receipts being light here the market has been in a good, healthy condition.

Sheepmen do not anticipate any improvement in the market so long as the demand for mutton is so light in the large eastern consuming centers. Cold weather would have a tendency to stimulate the demand for mutton and might be followed by a radical improvement in the sheep and lamb market. This means that the market just at present is largely under the influence of weather conditions, and so fat as can be seen there is no other apparent reason for the present weakness in values.

and When They Are

The age at which drunkenness is established was investigated by Dr. Charles L. Dama and his conclusions, being based upon some thousands of cases, are not only of great scientific value, but have a practical application as well. Briefly it might be said that inebriety usually begins be-fore 20 years of age and if a man has not indulged to excess before he is 25 he is not likely to do so later. There are so few who begin excessive drinking between 20 and 40 years of age that one who has reached the age of 50 without excesses is almost surely safe. Dans stated that no cases arise after to years of age. There is a popular idea. no doubt, that numerous cases do arise after to but it is not at all unlikely that Weol Market.

COUNTRY CALENDAR We are very fortunate in being able to arrange with the publishers of these well known magazines to offer their publications at this sensational price. It is an opportunity not often presented. Never before has a publisher been able to make so liberal an offer on exclusive high grade and high priced magazines.

You ask how is this offer possible if the three magazines have a fixed value and are not like the commodities usually offered at bargain prices.

THE EXPLANATION

It is well known to everyone in business that in fixing a selling price there must be added to the manufacturing cost the cost of mar-keting. The cost of marketing a magazine is a big item, and these three publishing houses decided to unify their efforts to get new read-ers, making one organization do the work, and divide the cost of marketing by three. That is why you can buy these magazines, that at the needs of every home, for nearly half price.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY FARMER

This is a magazine designed for every member of the farm home Special articles on subjects of the greatest interest are printed each week. These are written by men of national reputation and cover a field so diversified as to embrace during the year all branches of farm activity and life. Frank G. Carpenter's "Letters of Travel" and William Jennings Bryan's "Around the World Letters" appear in no other agricultural paper. Either one of these features are worth the price of a year's subscription. No other farm paper maintains so many regular departments, such as Feeding, Live Stock, Veterinary, Dairy, Poultry, Crops, Farm Devices, Orchard and Garden, with four pages devoted to the women, young folks and children. Each of these de-partments is edited by a practical editor and not by a theorist.
