LONDON, Feb. 12.-Telegrams from cor finental capitals and editorials in the London papers this morning reflect the renewal of uneasiness over the anticipated failure of the Algeciras conference on Moroccan reforms in consequence of the deadlock on the French and German contentions with regard to the question of police. A long Algeriras dispatch of a semi-official nature, published in Paris today, seems to foreshadow an abortive result. If not the actual rupture of the conference, and declares that lines have been reached beyond which

They are inclined to the view that Germany, having called the conference, cannot allow it to break down. The editorials decline in any case to believe that war could result even if the conference failed.

MIKKELSEN STARTS FOR NORTH Young Danish Explorer Will Endeavor to Ascertain Geography of Arctic Circle.

LONDON, Feb. 11.-(Special Cablegram to The Bee.)-Captain Mikkelsen, the young Danish explorer, has satled from England on an Arctic journey, which it is calculated will last two years. Before leaving the captain explained that the object of the forward fifty years ago to the effect that a chain of islands exists between Banksland, to the north of Cape Bathurst, in Arctic Canada, running to the westward and extending probably almost across Behring Straits, in the direction of the new Siberian islands.

If this theory is proved to be correct i will solve many of the most important questions connected with the Arctic problem. For instance, some authorities hold that the Eskimos formerly inhabiting the coasts of the Parry Archipeligo came across from Siberia by means of the chain of islands. Captain Mikkelsen will be accompanied by a Mr. Littingwell of Chicago, who is bearing half the cost of the expedition: Dr. Ditlevsen, a Danish geologist and writer, and an American doctor.

The dash from Banksland to the west yard will be made by the captain and Mr. Liffingwell, with forty dogs and a pony. Provisions for 140 days will be taken, and as the explorers go along they will kill heir pony and dogs for food.

This is iggeneral rights of other powers thus re- noring the Canaha market. It may not do so much damage in itself, but where will it end? What will stop the southern roads from making the same rate all along the ence at Algeofras gives its mandate to line at the smaller stations and ignoring France, it would be in the nature of a Omaha altogether? What will stop the southern roads from going into the state and making the same rates to the gulf as from Omaha? Where would Omaha's prestige as a grain market then be? Omaha should be made a basing point for all southern grain from this territory and the grain exchange should unite to see that the roads recognize Omaha. Kansas City already has all the advantage over Omaha on grain from the southern part of the state and the rates into the state are also better from Kansas City. The southern roads now come to Grand Island and have an immense advantage over Omaha on grain from that point, which all should admit is Omaha territory if any is.

The grain exchange is going to make fight for better rates on corn and oats to Texarkana and Little Rock. While the rate to the gulf is but 1 cent higher from Omaha than from Kansas City, the rate to Texarkana is 5 cents higher.

OMAHA MAN KILLED IN IOWA J. M. Welshans Struck by Train a Woodbine and Lives But a Short Time.

The body of J. M. Weishans, who was killed Saturday by a Northwestern train at Woodbine, Ia., was received here Sunday morning and taken to the residence of Mrs. Weishan's father, A. T. Ayers, 4027 Seward street. The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with burial at Prospect Hill cemetery. Mr. Welshans was 52 years old and was employed as a traveling CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS alesman by the Coal Hill Coal company of this city.

Mr. Welshans met his death in his eagerness to catch a train that would bring him to his family to spend the Sabbath day. First, in order to make time, it was necessary for him to catch a freight train out of Woodbine. As he started to cross a track to get the freight his foot slipped and before he could extricate himself from a catch in, the trackage a passenger train struck him. The leg, which was held secure, was torn from his body, his skull was fractured and he was otherwise injured. He survived but a little while.

Mr. Welshans was a brother of William J. Weishans, who with his family left Omaha something over two years ago for Southern California, where they now reside.

OMAHA, Feb. 19, 1966.

The wheat market continued to look very good to the bulls, though European cables showed a little weakening due to more favorable reports from india, yet the domestic situation did not brighten any. The cold weather continues throughout the winter-wheat belt and there is no hint of moisture. Shorts showed their apprehension by covering and May closed the day an eighth higher than yesterday, after a pretty level market all morning. The bulls continue to express great confidence in high prices, basing their hopes on damage to the winter wheat crop. May finished at $5\frac{1}{2}c. July at $4\frac{1}{2}c and $5\frac{1}{2}c. Corn was weak and managed to fall off about a fourth of a cest at the close, as OMAHA, Feb. 10, 1905.

The out market remained about the same; dull and weak. The closing prices were: May, 30%c; July, 25%c, and September, 25%c.

in the wheat market and the closing prices were almost at the highest point of the day. Compared with vesterday's final quotations, however, the close today showed very little change. Corn was down 15614c. Oats were practically unchanged. Provisions were 1126 124c lower.

During the early part of the session the market was inclined to be weak and there was considerable selling by pit traders. An early dispatch from Liverpool quoted the market as being off 3d to 4d because of rain in the drouth stricken portion of India. Another depressing influence was the absence of extreme cold weather in the winter wheat belt of the United States. Primary receipts were liberal, but their effect was offset by a decidedly strong tone to the market for each wheat in the northwest and southwest. Reports from Kansas City elaming a fair export business in flour stimulated demand late in the day. The high Hall Burdick will have charge of the funeral services. The feature of trading in corn was seiling by a prominent commission house, but the volume of general business was small. News of the day favored lower prices and the tone of the market was easy. Local receipts were in excess of estimates, weather throughout the corn belt continued favorable for grading and a slight decline was reported on the Liverpool market. May opened 1461/40 lower at 435/6/431/40 and throughout the day held within these figures. Final quotations were at 43/6/441/40. Local receipts were 286 cars, with 25 of contract grade.

CATTLE—It is rather monotonous to be compelled to repeat every Saturday the statement that there are no fresh receipts of consequence and no market, but such was the case today, and such is the case every Saturday, the last day of the week having become, to all intents and purposes, a holiday so far as the cattle trade is concerned. The few cattle here sold at prices nominally steady with yesterday.

Receipts of cattle this week show a slight gain over the previous week and an increase Receipts of cattle this week show a slight gain over the previous week and an increase of 2,000 head as compared with a year ago. In other words, there has been a good lineral run of cattle this week. During the first three days the tendency of values was steadily downward. Beef steers were quoted weak to 10c lower on Monday and lower again on Tuesday. In addition to being lower the trade on those days was slow, and to that extent at least unsatisfactory. Commencing with Wednesday the market began looking upward and prices became a little stronger each day until the market began looking upward and prices became a little stronger each day until the close of the week. In fact, Wednesday's market was generally quoted as 16c higher. Thursday's market strong to a little higher and Friday's market close to 16c higher. At the close of the week it is safe to quote the best corn-fed cattle 159720c higher, with other grades as much as 16g1f higher. A feature "the trade that has been especially plusing to sellers is the increased activity manifested during the last half of the week.

activity manifested during the last half of the week.

During the early part of the week the market on cows and helfers eased off somewhat in sympathy with the decline on fat caltle, but later on the loss was recovered, so that good to choice grades of fat cows and helfers closed the week lealled higher. The common to medium grades have not been very much sought after and are now no more than steady with the close of last week—in fact, some would say that they are if anything a little lower.

Stockers and feeders have been in good demand every day this week, with good, strong prices prevailing all the time. This has been due largely to the fact that the supply of such cattle has been small, while there has been a good country demand. While no marked advances have taken place any day there has been a gradual firming up in values, so that at the present time it is safe to say that the best grades are as much as foc higher than one week ago.

HOGS—The early market did not look particularly encouraging, as buyers seemed to be rather weak and were not inclined to pay any more mency than yesterday, in spite of the fact that receipts were very light, even for a Saturday. In consequence the early market was a little slow, but it soon became apparers that there was a very fair demand, and under this influence the market became a shade higher than yesterday and the hogs were practically all disposed of before 10 o'clock in the forencon. The advance appeared to be very largely on the light and medium grades of hogs, such as sold mostly at $5.55555; yesterday. The bulk of all the hogs brought $5.765.73%, with quite a sprinking at $5.75 and comparatively nothing below $5.70. As will be noted from the sales below. $5.72% was the popular price. It will be remembered that yesterday the bulk of the hogs sold at $5.674.25.73%.

Today's advance carries the market to the high point of the year and the week closed 17%c higher than the close of the previous week. The hogs sold today on an average of 20c higher than on the first day of the month.

Quakers Employ Paster.

RICHMOND, Ind., Feb. 11.—Employment of a regular pastor by the East Main Street Friends church of this city today marks an epoch in the history of the conservative orthodox Quakers. He is the first regularly employed pastor in the history of the church, which always has been opposed, to a hired minister, and marks the taking on of modern religious methods, as the local congregation is one of the most influential in America.
