

UNION IS WORKER'S HOPE

MISS McDOWELL TALKS OF EXPERIENCE

University Settlement Worker Tells of Life Among the Poor People in Chicago's Packing House District.

Miss Mary McDowell, who for nearly twelve years has been prominently identified with the University Settlement work in the stock yards district at Chicago, said last evening in her talk at the First Congregational church, "With all the faults that labor union may have today, the only hope of labor is in organization, and that of both men and women." That was the last statement in the talk of this interesting woman, but it was delivered with much emphasis and force.

Miss McDowell's talk was the third number in the People's Institute course being given at the First Congregational church. The church was well filled and the speaker attentively listened to.

Trouble of the Workers.

"One of the greatest things we have to contend with in our work is that general illusion which induces the thousands who come to the packing house district from foreign shores. It is that illusion about getting on in America. They come from, in many instances, a 25-cent-a-day standard of living and see America as a 50-cent-a-day country. Many want to own a home soon after they settle here and they become anxious to keep up the payments on a small income by sending their wives to work and making the children help as soon as possible. The average weekly earnings of the packing house employee in our settlement is $7.40 per week. Thanks to our child labor law in Illinois, the packing house employees are not now employing children under 15 years of age.

"When myself and co-workers took hold of the work among the thousands of the great strike of 1904, a sort of hopeless dread hung over the community. Men were afraid to assemble and discuss social and labor questions for fear of being spied on; at least they imagined they were continually being watched. Unions were organized and much good was done along that line, although there is much yet to be done. I firmly believe the eight-hour day will come, even in this mechanical age.

"Generally speaking, our ideals are more for profit than for joy. Ruskin said: 'Wealth is life,' but many of us are so blinded with the dollar standard we are unable to see there is a great waste of human life in our economic system.

Woman in Club and Charity

Miss Mary McDowell in her address before the Woman's club Monday pictured the present army of working women as a procession, single file and three feet apart, extending from Chicago to Boston.

She estimated that the majority would average 18 years of age, and quoted some one's else estimate that the average time of their turn in these industries is eight years. A prominent labor leader recently estimated that there are 1,000,000 married women wage earners today outside of the home. Of these less than 600,000 are widows, the others having been forced into the industrial world by inadequate support from husbands. With such conflicting estimates from authorities it is little wonder that women are asking that the government furnish real statistics on this vital subject by making an official investigation.

Miss McDowell was not, by the way, the first to suggest that Omaha women might relieve their difficulties with domestic if they would adopt the plan of the New York and Boston women of making a detailed examination into both sides of the much-mooted "servant girl" question.

Miss McDowell was not the first, either, to suggest that an investigation of employment agencies would not only reveal some scandalous conditions, but would, if the experience in every other city where it has been done, count for anything toward a better class of women in domestic service and save many more from pitiable most awful. This is casting no reflection upon legitimate employment agencies. Those that will bear inspection can only profit by such an investigation.

The following, which serves to explain the aims of the National Council of Women, has just been issued:

To All Whom It May Concern: The annual executive meeting of the national council of the National Council of Women, held at the Hotel Hamilton, Chicago, Ill., April 1 to 6, inclusive, 1906.

In order that the program may be arranged. All reports must be typewritten and in duplicate.

Women of the national council, let us again come together with a full representation from every national society and local council, renewing our allegiance to and fulfilling the duties of the council. Ideal "The Many in One."

The national council consists of presidents and delegates from affiliated national societies, with the purpose of forming a better acquaintance and of strengthening the bonds of sympathy. A fuller cooperation and a greater homogeneity of aims and objects.

However much the methods of work may differ, or the lines of work diverge, we believe it is the duty of every woman to cooperate with women to educate and uplift the minds and benefit and brighten the lives of their members.

The national council promotes unity of thought and purpose among women workers of all classes, parties and creeds. It furthers the application of the golden rule to society, customs and laws. It studies and teaches those conditions which will soonest bring diffused education and good citizenship in our republic.

In scores of suffrage clubs over the land Monday was celebrated as the birthday of Abraham Lincoln and the text of the day in many of them was Lincoln's words: "I go for all sharing the privileges of the government who assist in bearing its burdens, by no means excluding the women."

The convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association opened at Baltimore last week one of the most largely attended meetings in the history of the organization. Nebraska was one of the five states coming in for mention as having made the greatest increase in membership.

FIRE RECORD.

Store at Wahoo.

WAHO, Neb., Feb. 12 (Special).—Fire was discovered in Kilian Brothers' department store last evening about 11:30. The fire department turned out promptly, but lack of water prevented them getting control of the fire for about an hour. A piano went crashing through from the second story, barely missing some of the parties carrying out goods. The clothing department of the store was almost ruined, but the rest of the store was separated from the fire by a brick wall and was not damaged. Dr. Todd's dental office was slightly damaged and a library and study room in the rear, where were the fire seems to have started. The hardware firm of Lehman and Weststrand was slightly damaged by water. The stocks of goods of both firms were fully insured. The building, which was owned by O. P. Steen, was insured for $10,000, which will probably cover his loss.

WORK IN SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Nebraska Association Open Convention at Trinity Methodist.

PLANS AND METHODS UNDER DEBATE

Experienced Workers Discuss the Best Means of Arousing Interest and Achieving Results that Are Permanent.

Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, at Twenty-first and Binney streets was well filled last night with enthusiastic Sunday school workers of the Nebraska State Sunday School association, who gathered to listen to the addresses by Prof. H. M. Steadley, secretary of the state association; Miss Marie Haines, state superintendent of primary work, and George G. Wallace, chairman of the state executive committee of the association.

The meeting was presided over by Rev. P. H. McDowell. After brief devotional services, Prof. Steadley gave a talk upon the teacher problem. He maintained that the first duty of the Sunday school teacher is to secure the friendship of the class, next to prepare by careful study to be able to instruct the class. "What you touch in people," he said, "is what comes to the surface. If you touch the good, the good comes, and if you touch the bad, the bad comes. It is a lamentable fact that but 50 per cent of the pupils of a Sunday school are active church workers. The fault lies with the method of instruction or rather the lack of instruction. The chief point is to interest the pupil in his work and adhere to the recitative feature exactly on the same plan that is observed in the public schools."

Primary Sunday School Work.

Miss Haines talked on the problem of primary work in the Sunday school. She said: "The all-absorbing question is, Where shall we place the primary grades? The general idea is that any place in the Sunday school room is good enough for them. While in truth we should exercise the same care in placing them with attractive surroundings as in the kindergarten and primary departments of our public schools.

"Who shall constitute the primary classes? The cradle roll is one of the most important departments of the Sunday school. For we should remember that when we place our hand on the head of a child we place it on the heart of the mother. The cradle roll is always feeding the primary class. Our primary ages should be from 3 to 5 years, after 9 the child should go into the junior grade.

"How shall we teach them? I still have faith in the old plan of memorizing scriptures. Verses. Once memorized they will never be forgotten. There should be two classes, one from 3 to 5, and the other from 6 to 9 years of age. Let it be so that we have but one short hour in the week to teach spiritual things? That hour is a most precious one, and every moment of it should be utilized to its sacred opportunity.

"What shall we teach is another of the vital questions of Sunday school work. Memorizing seems to be a most effective method. It gives the child a familiarity with the scriptures that will remain with it always."

Question Box Session.

Mr. Wallace suggested a question bureau, in which all present should participate. The questions were along the line of general Sunday school work; how to secure better attendance; how to interest parents in Sunday school work; and how to best interest children in the Sunday school. Prof. Steadley and Miss Haines gave the benefit of their observation and experience in these matters, as did the several superintendents of the Sunday schools of the city in attendance.

This afternoon session was held at Trinity church, Mrs. M. B. Copeland presiding. Mrs. P. M. Pritchard will speak upon "Some Methods of the Primary Teacher," and Miss Haines will speak upon "The Sunday School of the Future."

Rev. B. M. Higbee will preside at the Tuesday evening meeting, which will begin promptly at 7:30. Prof. Steadley will conduct a round table on Sunday school management. Miss Haines will make the closing address.

SPORTS OF A DAY.

DEMOGOST WINS CUBAN CUP

World's Speed King Earns Another Triumph in Havana.

HAVANA, Feb. 12.—Victor Demogost, the winner at Ormond, Fla., of the title of the world's speed king, earned another triumph today by winning the Cuban cup in the second annual international road race, the victory was gained in the same machine which, driven by Hemery, won the two great road events of last year, the Ardennes and the circuit in France and the Vanderbilt cup race on Long Island. It was the lightest machine in today's race, weighing only eighty-five pounds, the others being respectively ninety to 110.

Throughout all three of Demogost's competitors in today's main race were either stopped by accident or failed to finish within the time limit. Demogost's great speed was fairly sustained throughout, resulting in maintaining the reputation of the Cuban race as being among the world's fastest. Despite the drawbacks of three sharp corners in the town of Marianao and close crowding by the excited populace at the curving points he made in the first half of the race of sixty-one and a half miles an hour. The average miles per hour for the entire 217 miles was 35.7, which is a record for a four-day road race.

Lancia, as usual, made the most sensational race of the day. He was claimed, upward of seventy miles an hour, so fast that his riding partner, Battista, was thrown out of the saddle and Lancia suffered a fractured arm. Lancia then quit the race and conveyed a physician to the aid of the injured man.

Cedrine's machine overturned in the same vicinity on the first lap. Cedrine, who was injured internally, was conveyed to the city tonight, where it is reported he is recovering. The driver of the only other car which returned to the starting point, near Camp Columbia, failed to complete the round trip within the time limit. For the second half of the race Demogost's competitors were three local amateur racers. Demogost said he would not be pushed. However, he lost several minutes to the local boys and there was a time when he enabled him to pass the only one of his local competitors who had gotten ahead of him before the second village was out of sight. Throughout the remainder of the half Demogost's speed nearly equalled that of the local boys, but he was overtaken by an American, who with Demogost heightened the local interest and inspired the crowd of onlookers which greeted him when the winning car rounded the curve.

The winner of the minor race, which was only half the distance of the main event, was a San Jose, a Frenchman, who drove a thirty-horsepower automobile over the 104 miles in twelve minutes slower time than the winner of the main race. However, Demogost's delay at the start, the San Jose beat him, his nearest competitor, by nearly a minute. The Frenchman, a constant, finished half an hour later.

Both the winning Frenchmen were escorted by the police, near the box of President Palma and his family, and showered with congratulations. There will be two more races tomorrow. Results: Main race, 217 miles: Demogost, eighty-five miles, won, time: 6:05.30. Cedrine, ninety-horsepower, did not finish the first half within the time limit. Lancia, 104 miles, did not finish the first lap on account of accident. Minor race, 104 miles: Des Sansolo, thirty-horsepower, won, time: 2:04.32. Birk, thirty-horsepower, second, time: 2:14.22. Birk, thirty-horsepower, did not finish within the time limit.
