Protection for Property. Right here, let us recognize this fact:
Lincoln's party has always stood, and now stands, for the fullest protection to all property interests. It has never been the policy of his party, and I hope it never will be, to destroy the security and the protection that the government guarantees to all property, whether it be valued at it or $100,000,000. No man who is sincere in his respect for the rights of others would ever advocate a policy which would endanger the security of any class of property.

property.

Other questions he never got away from the American people recognize the great the slavery question. Lincoln with one West Harrison street.

Fred Thomsen, upon the recommendation of the architect in charge, was allowed the architect in charge, was allowed the courage to invest their money and devote their brains to spanning the tract for the plumbing and steam heating tract for the plumbing and steam heating of the new fire hall.

Several changes were made in the list of judges and clerks for the special election.

The city attorney was instructed to draft an ordinance for the laying of the permanagement of the rights to which those properties are entitled under the law.

On the other hand, it must be rememan ordinance for the laying of the permanent sidewalks on the north side of H street from Sixteenth to Twentieth street.

The city engineer was instructed to establish a grade for W street from Railroad avenue to Fifteenth street.

The most important bit of business of the evening was the letting of the contracts for the laying of the permanent sidewalks for the year. There were but two bids submitted. The lowest was that of, Gus Hamel, which was θ_2 cents lower. the communities, the townships, and the per cent on the total stock issue. This is the situation and development of railroad properties today in this country.

Right to Regulate. It is hard to understand how anybody acquainted with these facts can deny to the general government the right to supervise the rates which these gigantic public service corporations should be permitted to charge for services. Independently of all statute, the common law is and always has been that public service charges must be been that public service charges must be reasonable reasonable.

Let me say to you that in my judgment there exists no sound or valid excuse for the war that is being forced upon the people of this country by the managers of these great corporations. The public is asking but justice, and when these railroad managers deny the right of the government to protect the public against the injury and wrong of an extortionate rate when one is found to exist, they provoke public alarm and invite public condemna-

In this fight there is no neutral ground. Every private citizen and every public officer must stand up and be counted either for or against the power of the government to deal with all men alike. He must answer the roll call in one army or the other. The proposition in principle is not a new one. It was embodied in the doctrine of equal rights—the doctrine that Lincoln stood for—the doctrine that Roosevelt stands for, and that is the doctrine the people will stand for until it is permanently written in the law of the land.

For the greater part of the last threequarters of a century Lincoln's influence on American public life has been felt in ever increasing measure. It was reflected in his contemporaries and those who have followed him in the presidency make no concalment of their lasting obligation to him.
In government of the people, by the people and for the people rests our salvation.
Dangers beset us on every hand when we stray away from that ideal. Every condition that disturbs us can be tended by it.

Mr. Cortelyou quoted from the words of Lincoln, McKinley and Hay, regarding public matters, and in this consection said: From these leaders who died in that faith we turn to its living embodiment—Theodore Roosevelt. He cherishes the same traditions, he is actuated by the same high ideals. He is fighting, as they fought the battles of good citizenship. By every consideration of levelty, by recognition of

EXERCISES WASHINGTON

Tributes from Vice President Pairbanks and Speaker Cannon. WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.-Anniversary exercises of the birthday of Lincoln, under the auspices of two patriotic associations were held in Washington tonight at the Congregational church under the auspices of Burnside post, No. 8, of the department of the Potomac of the Grand Army of the Republic. Addresses were made by Representative Graff of Illinois, Rev. H. N. Couden, chaptain of the house of representatives, and others,

He was, indeed, one of the gentlest and yet one of the mightlest of statesmen. What would American history be without Abraham Lincoln?"

You ask me for a tribute to that great son of Illinois, whose works shed luster upon the whole country and all civilaza-tion.

Speaker Cannon wrote in part:

But who of the living can add anything to the luster of this name which stands next to that of Washington? None. Admiral Schley in his letter declared that so long as this nation is true to that which Lincoln taught, it will never drift away from the moorings laid by the fathers of the republic. "Few men in high place." he wrote, "heard the heart beats of people so distinctly as he did and few will live in their love more profoundly.

offerings At the same time there was a very active demand and everything in sight changed hands in a very short time at prices that were fully steady with the close of last week. Some, in fact, were calling it a steady to strong market. This was all the more remarkable in view of the fact that Chicago was reporting a very large run and a decline of 10glic, while nearly all other selling points were reported as weak to lower.

Good lambs sold as high as 57, with good yearlings at 26. The Gibson old wethers which were very good sold at 25.90 and his ewes at 25.40. This is the highest price paid for ewes since the break in the market.

Shippers can see for themselves the short-sightedness of flooding the Chicago market. With moderate receipts at South Omaha the market here was in a most satisfactory condition from start to finish, with prices steady to strong. On the other hand, with a great big run at Chicago, the market there according to first reports broke badly, which will have more or less influence on all other markets during the balance of the week. Nothing is gained by avoiding the river markets and shipping to Chicago.
