

PLEAS FOR HOSPITAL FUND

Appeals for Aid Are Made in All Local Methodist Churches.

CLERGY AND LAITY JOIN IN THE MOVE

Hundred and Sixty Thousand Dollars Must Soon Be Completed to Insure Generous Gift of Dr. Jones.

The Methodist churches of Omaha gave over the services Sunday to work in the campaign of the new hospital fund, the progress for which, with a goal of $160,000, is now in full swing.

Subscriptions were asked and received at some of the churches and other voluntary contributions in substantial sums were made. At the Trinity church, where no formal collection was taken, $300 was voluntarily offered, and it is expected that $200 more will be forthcoming from this congregation.

The Seward street church has taken up the work of soliciting by dividing the parish into districts, each in the hands of a competent leader.

Christ's Mission on Earth. One of the most interesting talks was that by Mrs. J. J. McLaughlin, superintendent of the hospital and Deaconess' home, in the morning at the Hanson Park church.

"Christ came to earth for three great purposes—to preach, to teach and to help the sick and suffering. To be a genuine Christian a person must be interested actively in all three of these things.

"The Good Samaritan stands out as a great example. We are bidden to go and do likewise and we should try to fulfill the command.

"We can scarcely realize that eighteen years ago there were only two hospital buildings in the entire United States. Our church had almost wholly neglected one of the great purposes for which Christ came.

Hospital Here Fifteen Years. "In Omaha Methodists have had a hospital for nearly fifteen years. It is only within the last few months that we have let the public know anything of what we have endeavored to do for the sick and suffering, that have known them in advance, we never would have been able to face.

Seeing is Knowing. To understand the real conditions one must come to the hospital and investigate it for himself. We are able to take good care of the patients, but only by the hardest kind of work and putting up with many inconveniences and hardships. One-third of the hospital does not receive one penny for the services rendered.

Other Places and Speakers. At the First church the pastor, Rev. E. Combie Smith, and United States District Attorney Goss spoke in the morning.

PROBLEM IN THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

Greatest One Is to Secure the Proper Teacher. The Sunday school institute which is being conducted in Omaha under the direction of the Nebraska Sunday School union...

"The greatest problem of the Sunday school is the teacher problem," said Prof. Steidley, "and two things must be considered, one the recognition of God's right to choose his own teachers and the second the demand that a teacher once called shall prepare himself for the work.

"No one has a right to be a Sunday school teacher unless he or she is prompted by the heart to work for God. God should have a word in the choice. We want to place a time when one who accepts the place in the Sunday school will do so only after deliberate thought.

"The teacher has not finished his work when he has finished the day's lesson, but must become acquainted with his pupils. There are five first facts for a Sunday school teacher and these are represented by the word 'first'.

REACTION OF TRUST RULE

Verdict in Crowe Case Thus Viewed by Rev. John Williams.

RICH AND POOR WEIGHED, NOT EVIDENCE

Father Williams Declares No Honest, Unprejudiced Jury Could So Decide, Yet Cudahy and Trusts Are Blameable.

"In my judgment no twelve honest, unprejudiced men, bound by their oath to render a true verdict according to the law and the evidence, could have brought in the verdict that the jury in this case rendered," declared Rev. John Williams, pastor of St. Barnabas Episcopal church, in his address to the congregation yesterday morning, referring to the outcome of the Pat Crowe case.

"Had the jurors considered the evidence alone; had their minds been free from every consideration save the one from which the verdict that the jury in this case rendered," declared Rev. John Williams, pastor of St. Barnabas Episcopal church, in his address to the congregation yesterday morning, referring to the outcome of the Pat Crowe case.

"The verdict in the Crowe case is a verdict of acquittal. It is a verdict that says that a man who has committed a crime and who has been found guilty of it, is to go free because he is rich and powerful and because he has powerful friends.

Reasoning of the Jury. "That was none of the jury's business. It is true, they were not called upon to determine whether Crowe or Cudahy was the greater criminal. The latter's guilt of violation of law is yet judicially undetermined.

ROBERT F. HODGIN IS DEAD

Proprietor of Omaha Trade Exhibit Succumbs to Long Fight with Bright's Disease.

R. F. Hodgin died at his home, 407 Lafayette avenue, at 4:30 p. m. Sunday of Bright's disease. His funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday from the residence and he will be buried in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Robert Fremont Hodgin was born July 9, 1857, at Bartlett, O. Reaching his majority he engaged in the tailoring business with his late brother, F. L. Hodgin, at Chester Hill, O. He moved to Gladbrook, Ia., in 1884 and for some time was associated with his brother in the clothing business at Des Moines.

Hodgin was married twice, the first time in his native state and the second time in Iowa. He was the father of four children, Thomas E., a traveling man out of Omaha; and three daughters, 16, 12 and 4 years of age, respectively. Charles E. Ady, general agent of the National Life Insurance company, who has known Mr. Hodgin for twenty years, and other intimate friends speak of him as a most devoted father and husband.

Mr. Hodgin had been a sufferer from Bright's disease for a long time, Saturday, February 3, after having rallied from a bad spell, he went from his home to his office at Fifteenth and Howard streets. But that was his last time downtown or away from home. He went to bed the next day and never arose.
