MONDAY-Mr. and Mrs. Edward Porter Peck, a musicale; Mrs. D. J. O'Brien en-tertain the Kountze Place Luncheon club; Creighton seniors' hop: Omaha Guards hop; Miss Jensen and Mrs. Todd, a card

TUESDAY - Kilpatrick-Mixter wedding; Mrs. Daiton Risley, a luncheon to the South Side Whist club; Mr. and Mrs. John Walwork entertain the Hanscom Park Card club; Mrs. Jensen and Mrs. Todd, a card party; Mystic club card party.

The two remaining days before Ash Wednesday are not as promising as one might expect, considering that it will be forty long days-and nights-before the fashionable set will be privileged to be gay again. However, there are a few things down for Monday and Tuesday, but after that, the post or the telephone is the only hope, for, of course, everybody is not going to keep Lent.

'Two of last year's disbanded card clubs were reorganized last week, preliminary to the Lenten season, and from now on, bridge and the theater promise to be standbys. Of course the luncheon is permissable; it can't very well be otherwise, for some sort of noonday meal is necessary and it is no sin to ask one's friends to one's board occasionally. And, of course, a few blossoms are expected on the table, especially in spring, and if one puts on one's better table linen and an afternoon gown-why, it is no more than is due to one's guests. And that is the way, and the how of the Lenten luncheon

Weddings and Engagements.

The marriage of Miss Gertrude Clarke, daughter of Henry T. Clarke, to M. T. Whitall of Worcester, Mass. will take place early in June. Miss Clarke is very well known socially, though the greater part of the past few years she has spent in the east and abroad. Mr. Whitall is interested in one of the large carpet manufactories of Worcester, where he has a handsome home. Immediately after their wedding they will go abroad for the summor. sues the following message to club women in this month's Bulletin: Many letters are received after this sort in substance: "I have just been elected president of my club. I desire to do my best and to make an ideal head. Will you not give me some advice that will help me to realize my ambitions" It is not to be supposed that the president of the General Federation knows how to be a wise leader. It is only to be hoped for her, as for all who are in responsible posi-tions. Yet there are some lessons learned by observation which may be a bit of help. Dooley, in describing a noted western sena-tor, said this: "Hennessy, he, naming the senator, he's the by for me. He's always fixed in his opinyuns, but he aln't at all stuborn about 'em." This is a splendid recipe for making a good president. Another one is illustrated by a story which used to be told by an old Scatch minister. He was a Baptist by be-lief, and for forty years was the beloved and honored head of a church in a small town 'in New England. It was at a period when doctrinal spirit ran high, when intoi-erance and bigotry prevailed, yet so gentle was his reign, so cheery and hopeful his personality, that every denomination in the city loved him. He preached for all, mar-ried, baptized and buried for every one alike, if the need came. At last a quarrel arose in the state association of his own church. At a convention called to consider the matter passion ran riot, angry words were uttered, friends became enemies, and a terrible schism seemed imminent. Finally it was suggested that they should ask the old Scotchman how he had managed for forty years to carry his flock with no mur-mur of diversed points and as her is a subwith a few fitting remarks, presenting in A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. behalf of the club a beautiful jeweled comb Arthur Crittenden Smith last Sunday. to the president, Mrs. J. Mrs. Charles Kountze is in Chicago for Mr. and Mrs. George F. Abbott enterfew days. She will visit Miss Mildred Lomax, who is still in the hospital, convalescing from a recent operation, but who expects to return to Omaha the last of the week. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marple and small daughter sailed from Manila January 26 en route for home via the Suez canal. They are due at Barcelona, Spain, some time this week, but will spend some time on the continent before returning to this country, and are not expected in Omaha until April.

Mrs. Frank Colpetzer, Mrs. Thomas Orr, old Scotchman how he had managed for forty years to carry his flock with no mur-mur of dissension or trouble, and so he was called. Mrs. Joel Stewart and Mrs. John Baldwin went to Chicago last week to particlpate in the mid-winter whist tournawas called. "It's ay sae simple, Brithers." said the old man, as he stood modestly before the assembly, gazing into their flushed faces and angry eyes. "It's ay sae simple. When my people doo weel, I say, 'Weel dune.' but when they do ill, I say naething at all aboot it." The wisset club president is sympathetic but not partisan, is resource-ful, but not dictatorial; has courage, pa-tience, good humor, and, above all, never allows the dutles of her position to keep her awake o' nights. Several letters have been received asking concerning the committee on resolutions ment held at the Auditorium Thursday, JUDGE FAWCETT THE ORATOR Omnha Man to Assist in Dedication of Wisconsin Monument on Shiloh Field.

Judge Jacob Fawcett has been specially honored by being invited to deliver the oration of the day at the dedication of the Wisconsin monument erected on the battlefield of Shiloh. The Wisconsin regiments which participated in the battle of Shiloh suffered heavily in that engagement, and the state several years ago appropriated the money to crect a monument to
