NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

KLOPP IS AGAIN IN COURT

Secures Temporary Injunction Preventing City from Acting Under Resolution.

FIGHT OVER THE ELECTION PRINTING

Tom Klopp Wants City to Be Compelled to Buy Stationary and Other Supplies from His Firm.

At the request of the Klopp & Bartlett company Judge Troup of the district court has issued a temporary order restraining the city from advertising for bids for primary and general election supplies, including the printing of ballots and poll books, as directed by a resolution adopted by the city council Tuesday night.

The injunction is directed to the city clerk, mayor and members of the council and forbids the publication of the advertisement, the receiving or considering of proposals under it or the signing of the contract by the mayor. Hearing upon the questions involved is set for Friday morning at 9:45 o'clock before Judge Troup.

The litigation is an out-cropping of the printers' lockout. Observing that the contract which the Klopp & Bartlett company holds for city printing does not include the printing of ballots or supplying poll books, the union printers, inspired by union printing houses, proceeded to bring a resolution calling for advertisements for proposals before the city council, where it was adopted unanimously.

Get Contract After Fight.
The Klopp & Bartlett company captured the general contract after a hard fight carried on by the printers and union firms before the council. A clause of the contract provides that the city "may" buy printing and stationery not specified from the contractors at the market price, but does not make this obligatory. According to the opinion of Assistant City Attorney Herdman, the council had a perfect right to advertise for the printing and election supplies as it attempted to do.

The contention of the plaintiffs is they possess the contract for furnishing "supplies," otherwise different kinds of stationery, beyond any question, and that when the city attempts to re-advertise for this class of goods it usurps the contract agreement. The firm admits it has no agreement for printing the ballots or furnishing the poll books.

A city official said:
"So far as I can see, in case the Klopp & Bartlett company wins the case, all the council will have to do is order bids for printing the ballots and for the poll books will be to authorize an advertisement, dropping the word 'supplies.' This, done, I do not believe any proceedings can block the arrangement."

GULF MILLION BUSHELS LEAD

Southern Exports Get Most of Grain Which Leaves Omaha for Export.

An interesting page in the annual report of the Omaha Grain exchange is that showing the disposition of the grain handled at this point. The total amount of grain received at Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs in 1905 was 34,522,300 bushels and consisted of 6,515,250 bushels of wheat, 15,771,300 bushels of corn and 3,240,000 bushels of oats, rye and barley. Out of the total 34,500,000 bushels were distributed as follows: To Chicago and Milwaukee, 2,592,000 bushels; to St. Louis, 2,344,000 bushels; to Minneapolis and St. Paul, 1,521,000 bushels; to Illinois, 34,000 bushels; in Wisconsin, 113,000 bushels; to the middle states, 1,471,000 bushels; to the seaboard, 2,541,000 bushels; to the southeastern states and the Mississippi valley, 2,578,000 bushels; for export via Atlantic, 5,500,000 bushels; for export via Gulf, 6,507,000 bushels; to various interior points, 2,424,000 bushels.

This statement shows that the gulf has the advantage of a little more than 1,000,000 bushels in the matter of export grain from Omaha.

NO ACTION YET BY COUNCIL

Moving of Woodmen Headquarters Still a Matter of Doubt.

EXECUTIVE BOARD NOT ALL ARRIVED

Mr. Root Himself Now Says Definite Decision Must Await Deliberation of These Officers from Abroad.

"No action will be taken in the matter of moving the Woodmen of the World headquarters until after all these delegations which are now coming to Omaha have been given a hearing," said J. C. Root, sovereign commander of the order, Wednesday afternoon. "The executive council met this morning with all the members present, except N. H. Blaney of Missouri, but an adjournment was immediately taken out of respect to the memory of L. G. Blair, member of the finance committee, who died last month.

"Numerous telegrams are coming in since the announcement of the decision of the order to move and I have here telegrams from the governor of Indiana, the mayor of Indianapolis and the secretary of the Commercial club of that same town, all urging the clubs of Indiana. The governor writes that fraternal orders are exempt from taxation in that state. Delegations are already here from Quincy, Sioux City and Cedar Rapids and delegations are on the way from San Antonio and Paris, Tex. Mayor Lennon of Little Rock is also enroute with a delegation.

Not Optional with Council.

"This matter is not optional with the executive council, as the governor camp, at the annual meeting held last May in Chattanooga, ordered the executive council to move the headquarters from Omaha if this tax is imposed upon. The position taken is that the state of Nebraska has not the right to demand a tax from the money which belong to members of other states. These trust funds are held for the benefit of all the members of the order, and a very small percentage of them reside in Nebraska.

"Some have expressed the opinion we are acting hastily in this matter, that we ought to wait for the decision of the supreme court. The amount at stake, however, is too large, and we are apprehensive of the result. Our case is similar to the Highlander case at Aurora. This decision has not been handed down, although it was to have been announced at the opening of court, and now court will not convene again until April 1, which will be too late for us."

A belief still exists in Omaha the Woodmen will remain in Omaha for some time to come. Excitement over Mr. Root's previous statement that the order had definitely decided to move is considerably abated now by the statement that nothing yet has been decided upon.

When the executive council of the Woodmen of the World met Wednesday afternoon several delegations were present to submit claims for the new location of the headquarters. Omaha was first given a hearing, the speakers being J. L. Kaley, W. W. Slabaugh, E. Rosewater, Luther Drake and Victor Caldwell.

Mr. Rosewater advised the order not to retreat too hastily before a gun was fired, as it was not certain the supreme court would decide against it such bodies sometimes being known to have been influenced by public opinion which was evidently all in favor of the Woodmen remaining in Omaha.

Omaha is mid-continent and the most desirable place for headquarters for a fraternal organization," added Mr. Rosewater, "and I, for one, think the courts and the legislature would be disposed to do what is right in the matter.

"If the railroads had paid their just taxes the Board of Equalization would not have been forced to sue straight as judgment on the tax on the reserve fund of this order, but I think public opinion will be able to adjust all things right."

Quincy and Council Bluffs.
John A. Steinback, mayor of Quincy, was present and claimed his town as the Hartford of the west and the only place in the country for a fraternal society headquarters.

Victor Bender of Council Bluffs also addressed the council and said that the people of Council Bluffs would do all in their power to have the headquarters held in Omaha, but if it was decided a change was necessary his town would like to be heard from.

After listening to the speakers the council went into executive session. The council will be called together again this morning at 9:30.

Judge Lattimore with a delegation from Fort Worth arrived during the afternoon. Telegrams still continue to pour into Mr. Root's office seeking information concerning the proposed move.

It was announced no decision would be reached in the matter until all had been heard from. Sioux City and Cedar Rapids will be given a hearing this morning.

The lumber business of the railroads is quite heavy in spite of the continual rises in the price of material. Shippers from California and Oregon are sending large quantities to this section even before it is sold. A shipper will bill fifty cars of lumber to the Missouri river and then when the route his agents will see the same and it will be diverted at this point to points east.
