

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Vote Cast at Primary Election Overruled by Mayor, Clerk and Treasurer.

MAKE NO CHANGE IN UNOFFICIAL RESULTS

City Council Meets and, Contrary to Expectation, Takes No Action on City Hall Site or Regarding Sewer Bonds.

The mayor, clerk and treasurer met in the council chamber as the board authorized by the charter to canvass the primary election returns. The first duty required of them was to canvass the face of the returns; secondly, as a record had been made by P. J. Barrett and Thomas O'Connor, the board members, of the votes on the office to which they aspired. The reading of the face of the returns did not materially change the result, though there were several corrections. These did not cause any difference in those nominated. The largest discrepancy discovered was in the case of Frank Dwyer. It was found that he had been credited with forty votes too many. Still he had enough to win by a large plurality.

As soon as the face of the returns was canvassed the board took up the recount of the democratic ballots. This required all the afternoon. The result of the recount showed that Queenan had been credited with 15 votes too many, while Tom O'Connor had been given 12 too few. In place of 47 for Queenan the corrected figures should be 62, and the correction in O'Connor's case reads from 40 to 52. Most of this discrepancy was found in the First of the Sixth ward. In the recount of the vote between P. J. Barrett and W. H. Martin Barrett gained 1 vote, making the difference 15, instead of 16.

Committee Elected.

The following will constitute the central committee of the republican party, in the order in which they were elected:

E. E. Howe, John T. Shultz, John Larson, O. H. Leppin, J. M. Galloway, T. M. Conaway, C. B. Offerman, W. T. Slate, Frank Novak, Charles Cummings, Jay Laverty and F. A. Billinger.

The central committee newly elected took office last night. It met in H. C. Murphy's office and elected a permanent organization. Jay Laverty, chairman; Charles Offerman, secretary; T. M. Galloway, treasurer. The executive committee consisted of the above officers, with the addition of Otto H. Leppin and John T. Shultz. The headquarters will be in the Murphy block, meeting Tuesday evening.

The democratic committee is as follows: Richard Devany, John Russell, John Frank, J. P. Leppin, J. C. Carey, P. J. Walsh, Tim Sullivan, P. J. O'Connor, W. H. White, Joseph Hughes, W. H. Sloane, W. P. Corrigan.

This committee also met and organized. Only the temporary organization was effected last night, in which W. B. White was chosen chairman and Richard Devany secretary. There will be a later meeting to perfect the organization. This meeting of the democratic committee was a struggle for harmony, and it was a hard struggle in several cases. All of them talked favorably to the thing, but few could agree as to the plan. They did come to some sort of agreement as to the manner of raising funds for the campaign. The candidates for mayor, treasurer and tax commissioner will be assessed $10 each, the city attorney $15, the clerk $10 and each member of the council will be called upon to pay $5. It is planned to hire every available hall in town as to exclude the republicans from a place of meeting, though this will cause a laugh on the part of the republicans, who have been having regular meetings for the last month and have already secured promises for the rest of the campaign.

The closing act of the primary election, aside from the recount of the republican ballots in the contest cited, will be the thing of affidavits of expenses, which is required of all the candidates whether elected or not, and this includes the committees as well as the other officers.

City Council Proceedings.

There were no matters discussed in the city council other than the usual routine business. A crowd gathered on account of a rumor that the city hall site was to be brought up again, and there was some expectation that the sewer bonds would receive some attention. Nothing of this nature transpired, though Mr. Dwyer, one of the H. M. Christie was on hand in case the hall site needed attention. Among the budget of business was the presentation of the general bills for the month of February. The items were: General fund, $1,441.53; police, $67.35; fire, $164.03; building and plumbing, $29.56; light bills, $1,230; street repair, $601.99; total, $2,534.46.

A petition was presented for the grading of U street from Eighteenth to Twenty-fourth.

The treasurer recommended the transfer of funds from several improvement districts to others in the amount of $2,494.72. The bond and contract of Dan Hanson for the grading of Eighteenth street was approved by the council. The city attorney, a communication from the treasurer informed the council that there was due at the fiscal agency in New York interest to the amount of $2,423.02, and asked that a warrant be drawn on the interest fund to reimburse the treasurer for this amount, which had been forwarded.

The city sanitary inspector, Frank E. Jones, submitted his monthly report, from which it appeared that there were six new cases of scarlet fever, six of diphtheria and four of smallpox, of which one case was still under quarantine.

Four new cases were authorized. The location of the sewerage system, 3, Thirty-fourth and T, Nineteenth and U and one in the center of the West L street viaduct.

The judges and clerks of election were allowed $5 each for their services during the recent primary election. They worked, on the average, twenty hours each, so were paid at the rate of $1.00 per hour. The total of this bill amounted to $540.

The council then adjourned to meet at the time of the next regular session, or March 15.

EASY TO GET A CROWD

People Who Mind Their Own Business Find Plenty to

But in.

The old German and his son had been walking up and down the sidewalk for the last half hour. With eyes glued to the ground, they poked around in the grass with sticks and finally they started to peck around the vacant lot, all the time eagerly searching for something.

Jimmy Sullivan had breathlessly watched them for the last ten minutes. He had just finished reading "Silent Sanders, King of the Sleuths," and it was evident to his 16-year-old brain that these two mysterious persons were searching for valuable papers or diamonds.

"What yer lookin' for?" the boy inquired. "Noddings," replied the German, nervously. "Noddings?"

This settled things in the lad's mind. It was surely some terrible secret or they would have told him. Just then Bob Keaton and some others of the "Gang" strolled by and Jimmy excitedly set forth his conclusions to seven avid youngsters. They were probably looking at a real murder!

"What yer huntin', mister?" asked Keaton, boldly.

The Teuton muttered to himself and glared at the youth. The boys exchanged significant glances and crowded around while the man and his son kept up their poking and tramping.

NEW ELEVATOR IS LOCATED

Nye-Schneider-Fowler Plant Will Stand on Stickney's Terminal.

CONTRACT SIGNED WITH GREAT WESTERN

Capacity of New Concern Will Be One Million Bushels—Two Railroads Adjust Their Trackage Differences.

A contract was signed in Omaha Thursday evening by the Chicago Great Western and the Nye-Schneider-Fowler Elevator company whereby the latter company is to construct a 1,000,000 bushel elevator on the grain terminal tracks near the independent elevator now in operation. This deal has been hanging fire for some time, awaiting the decision of the case in the federal court brought by the Great Western against the Union Pacific to compel that road to furnish good connection with the terminal company tracks.

President A. B. Stickney, vice president, L. S. Case and General Counsel Frank B. Kellogg of the Great Western were in the city in attendance on that case this week Wednesday, after the others, S. C. Stickney, vice president and general manager of the road, arrived in Omaha, as did also R. B. Schneider, Frank Fowler and Ray Nye, and a conference was held.

Amicable Settlement Made.

The case against the Union Pacific was settled out of court Wednesday after a long conference in the federal building between the officers of the Great Western and General Manager Mohler and John N. Baldwin, solicitor for the Union Pacific, whereby the Great Western secured the track concessions asked. When this matter was settled it was only short time before the grain company and the railroad company came to terms.

The Nye-Schneider-Fowler company owns about seventy-five elevators in Nebraska, mostly on the Northwestern road, and the establishment of terminals in this city is a great advantage to the Omaha Grain Elevator company. A man who is on the inside of the deal said:

"The new elevator company is under no obligations to any road and will come to Omaha with a free lance, prepared to do business with any road and all grain concerns."

BOY STARTS ON A LONG TRIP

Has Only Fifty Cents to Carry Him from Omaha to Rawlins, Wyoming.

Ralph Horner, aged 12 years, was picked up at the Union depot last night by Special Officer Simpson and sent to the police station. The lad was sent wandering aimlessly about the depot and on being questioned said he came from Cedar Rapids, Ia. Slight and slim even for his age, the little fellow was self-reliant and manly, causing much amusement at the station by his grown-up talk. He said his parents are dead and he had been making his home with his grandparents until two weeks ago, when he went to Rockwell City to visit an uncle. He then took it into his head to visit a brother at Rawlins, Wyo., and started out alone. Asked if he always had money enough for fare, he promptly replied: "O, I don't need any money for that. I never paid any railroad fare in all my life."

He pulled out a time card and showed the policeman where Rawlins is located and the route he has mapped out for himself. All the money he had was 50 cents, and this he turned over to Desk Sergeant Marshall for safe keeping until morning, asking to be called in time so he can start out at 8 o'clock. He was then led upstairs to the matron's department and put to bed.
