It took the other people a long time to realize what had happened, but they finally dispersed to their homes to spread the news of the dramatic incident they had witnessed.

Mulligan was taken suddenly ill several days ago, and on Monday it seemed that life was extinct. The cause of the almost fatal trance is not known.

Baby Brown's Growing Fortune. John Nicholas Brown of Providence, N. H., on his sixth birthday, is the possessor of $11,000,000, of which $7,000,000 was added to the fortune of this precocious child since he was three months old. And the hardest work little John Nicholas Brown did for this $7,000,000 at first was to take his bottle regularly and industriously and somewhat later to romp about the nursery. John Nicholas Brown, when 3 months old, was left $4,000,000 by his father, John Nicholas Brown. At the age of 2 years haby Brown had increased his little legacy to 8,182,000. Yet baby Brown is a royal spender. He employs a small army of servants, maintains an establishment Newport and another in New York, and so manages to get rid of about $50,000 a year. Still his money keeps on piling up, notwithstanding his lavish expenditure himself. At the age of 4 years his 34.-205,000 had grown to $6,745,000, and on his

The power is generated by the Ontario Power company, which has a series of forebays at the first line of breakers in the rapids above the Horseshoe falls. From the most forebay the water is conducted in a big steel pipe re-enforced by concrete just below the surface of the Canadian park and poured through penstocks into the Niagara gorge just below the falls.

One such pipe line and the power house t supplies are built. The company can construct two other pipes and enlarge its power house to correspond. This would give the Ontario Power company a development of 250,000 horsepower, making it the largest power plant either constructed or planned in the world

The power thus generated is used partly in Canada, but the greater part is sent on ables across the Niagara gorge, four miles below the falls, to the American side, where it is sold in bulk to the Ningara, Lockport & Ontario Power company, an allied concern. From this point the American trans-

Saving Ningara Falls.

Some Canadians do not take kindly to the movement to prevent further spoliation of Ningara Falis for power purposes. They are inclined to mock the project for an international agreement, such as President Roosevelt recommends. A correspondent at Ottawa writes that you may almost hear the laugh raised north of the line from Hallfax to Vancouver at the anti-desecration protest. The idea of anyone south of the line taking steps to prevent 'Turther desecration," now there is no mers power worth speaking of to be had on the United States side, is a little more than the average Canadian can stand with any show of gravity.

Electricity from Garbage Crematory. A year ago the city of New York found ing intolerable. It was being charged excessive rates for both gas and electric lights, and there was small hope of relief from the gas and electric light companies, because there was no competition. The service itself was far from satisfactory, and in the opinion of the city officials the only hope for relief must come from the city itself.

The first practical step taken in the ditablishment of an incinerator underneath said: the new Williamsburg bridge, connecting New York and Brooklyn. This was established by the department of street cleans ing, for the double purpose of disposing of its waste rubbish and of also generating an electrical current to light that bridge. The plant was put in operation some months ago. It destroys daily 1,660 cubic yards of waste, and in this destruction desvlops an energy equivalent to 400-horse 150 kilowatta of electricity.

The result is the generation of a current which is more than sufficient to light all of the immense double-decked bridge structure. The former cost of lighting the bridge was $30,000 per annum, while the total cost of the incinerator was but $53,584. The labor charges for running the plant cost the city nothing, because privilege of picking and strimming on the belt conveyor, which the city rents out. more than pays the fotal expense of the incinerator, including the wages of the men therein employed. It is estimated, therefore, that the city saves $75 a day in the final disposition of 1,000 cubic yards of waste and $80 a day in the value of the light produced, as against a charge of $11 day interest on the original cost of the

A Consolation Prize.

A Pittsburg widower, while away from home on a business trip, met and married a lady who, though famed for her goodness of heart, would be spoken of even by her friends as "plain." The man believed that she would be a kind mother to his two children, however, and as she was also possessed of a fair amount of this world's goods, was not inclined to expect the beauty of the peach in a potato. After his marriage he telegraphed to the eldest of the children, a girl of 15:

"Have won a prize. Am married. Will When the bride and groom arrived the children were watching at the door, and at sight of their future mother gave a little gasp of consternation.

The second child, a boy, nudged his sister and whispered:

"Go fishing?" 'You, sir.' "Did you catch anything?"

"One little perch." "Ha! ha! ha! that's what I expected. Well, good night," said the employer.

"John, how could you sit there and tell stories in that bold way?" asked the bookkeeper's wife after the visitor had gone 'You know we caught over twenty fish weighing over five pounds each, and the biggest weighed nearly eleven pounds." "My dear wife," replied John soothingly, 'you don't think I would have my new employer think I was a liar at the begin-
