

All Pure Beer Not Good Beer

Some Large Brewers Claim Purity and Sterilization and little else.

We Guarantee Purity, Sterilization and Excellence of Materials.

Superiority of Quality is the Test.

MOST beer, no matter by whom brewed, is clean, pure and sterilized.

These primary conditions prevail in nearly all breweries. Many pure, clean beers, however, are not good beers.

*****

Clean, pure beer may be made from almost any cereal—and may be aged and sterilized, but it will not necessarily be good beer.

CORN OR OTHER CHEAP MATERIALS WILL NOT MAKE GOOD BEER.

The maximum of Quality is not there.

The brewers of Corn-made beer can and do justly claim purity, cleanliness and freedom from germs.

BUT THEY CANNOT JUSTLY CLAIM QUALITY.

*****

Science and experience have proved that good beer MUST contain two essential ingredients—HOPS and BARLEY, and for pale beer a small percentage of rice.

But it is much cheaper to use Corn-Grits as a substitute for Barley-Malt.

This is why some of the large brewers use Corn—it costs less.

*****

We use those materials which are recognized in the science of brewing as the essential elements for a really healthful, palatable, honest and superior beer; and of these only the very best, regardless of cost.

Not a grain of corn ever enters our brewery in any manner or for any purpose.

Our precautions for pure, clean and perfectly sterilized beer are unequalled.

*****

Our storing capacity of 600,000 barrels, exceeding that of any two other breweries in the world, enables us to lager (age) our beer from four to five months.

For these reasons

Budweiser

The King of All Beers

must and does command a higher price than any other beer, and has a greater sale than all other bottled beers.

STATE FAIR ANNOUNCEMENT

Seven Thousand Dollars Added to Last Year's Premium List.

NEW LAW MAKES SCARCITY OF TEACHERS

Members of State Board of Assessment Are Preparing to Give Testimony in the Railroad Tax Case Coming Up Soon.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, March 15.—(Special.)—Secretary Mellor of the State Board of Agriculture this morning issued his advance announcement of the state fair, to be held in Lincoln September 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7, August 31 and September 1 and 2 are set apart for preparation days. In the announcement it is stated that the increase in premiums over last year is $7,000. During the last year $25,000 was spent in permanent improvements. The indications are the fair this year will be better than ever in the history of the state, as the work of preparation is far in excess of any previous year and the number of those who expect to make exhibits being larger than ever before.

The announcement issued by Mr. Mellor has this to say regarding the county collective exhibits:

Lot 1—To the county agricultural society exhibiting in the name of the society the best display of agricultural products of any county and all kinds.

For this class the sum of $1,000 is possible. This will be pro-rated among all competitors scoring over 500 points in a possible 1,000. The value of scoring points will be determined upon the number above 500.

By this mode of distribution or pro-rating all competitors scoring above 500 points will obtain something.

Provided that all premiums awarded in this class shall be paid in full without any discount.

To any county's collective exhibit embracing not less than one carload, and not less varieties as named and enumerated in the schedule provided in the state fair premium list for Class O, and covering not less than fifty feet of shelf space and ten by twenty feet wall space, to the satisfaction of the board of managers, will be guaranteed $500 in cash premiums, provided the exhibit scores 500 points. Explanatory: If they win only $50 in the competition, they will receive the sum of $100, the board will make up the deficiency to $50. This will insure all exhibitors the sum of $100 in any event. If they win none of the competitive premiums the $50 will be paid, provided the foregoing stipulations are complied with.

Remember, no premium is awarded to an exhibit scoring less than 500 points.

Pool Hall Proprietor Arrested.

The recent agitation against pool halls in Lincoln, against which a number of ministers and others have resolved has resulted in the arrest of Joe Oppenheimer, owner of a pool hall, on a charge of allowing minors to play in his place of business. The trial probably will come off Monday. Since the arrest of the pool hall man it is learned one of the boys had a written permit from his father to play, while the other was brought up to the pool hall by his father, who later came for him in a buggy. Some time ago a number of boys arrested for breaking into stores and other buildings told the police they had planned their robberies in the pool hall. Mayor Brown at once instructed the police to keep a strict watch on these places and should any boys be caught playing, the place was to be closed. Later the ministers and others have taken up the fight against the pool halls and the council has been asked to pass an ordinance prohibiting them.

Tax Case Appealed.

Ben S. Baker, attorney for Ruhrbrough Bros., owners of a business college at Omaha, has filed a brief in the supreme court contending that part of their building at Omaha, used exclusively for a business college, should be exempt from taxes.

This is the decision of the lower court, the county having appealed. A portion of the new building is rented to a typewriter firm, and another portion for other purposes. The attorney contends only the portions rented and not used by the business college is taxable.

Makes School Teachers Scarce.

The new school law which goes into effect September 1, 1907, is, according to school authorities, liable to create a dearth of school teachers in Nebraska who are able to comply with its provisions. The law provides all high school teachers shall have had at least a three years' college course besides a first grade certificate. Recently the state superintendent has received a number of letters from school boards asking him to recommend teachers who are qualified to come up to the requirements of the law and who are able to earn a salary such a teacher should be paid. Today Superintendent McBrien received a letter from the secretary of the School board at Auburn, asking him to recommend a $109 man. The board at its last meeting increased the salary of the superintendent to $1,300 a year and it then deferred electing the superintendent until it can receive more applications. Those who file applications between now and the first Monday in April will be considered, and from among them the superintendent will be selected.

While building for business purposes in the downtown districts is going along at a lively clip it is not altogether unknown in some of the outlying portions of the city.
