Attorney General Asks Supreme Court to blinding snow, naturally noticed the light Interpret Anti-Trust Law Decision.

REHEARING IN WOODMAN CASE ASKED

Governor and Land Commissioner Enton of Divergent Opinion as to Who is the Boss of Capitol Building,

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, March 17 .- (Special.)-The supreme court has been asked to express itself unequivocally on the legality of the Nebraska anti-trust laws, or, in other words, explain the opinion it handed down in the "grain case" some weeks ago.

The attorneys for the state, Attorney General Brown, John J. Sullivan and Jefferia & Howell make this request in a brief filed in the case this afternoon. The attorneys hold the opinion was not dednite in its decision and further, the syllabus and the body of the opinion were at vari-

The brief contains the following discussion of the opinion and the action of the court:

The body of the opinion until just before its close applies the rule stated to the several anti-trust acts which the defendants were accused of violating, and impliedly if not expressly holds that the acts are all valid save a portion of the Gondring act and the Loomis act of 1897. The opinion proceeding further says:

"It is not necessary in this case to determine which of the penalties imposed for violation of the criminal provisions of these statutes are applicable in case of criminal proceedings, or whether or not the 1897 law repealed by implication the act of 1857, or whether the Loomis act of 1897 is unconstitutional, as claimed by some of the defendants, or whether the Junkin act repealed both the 1897 and 1897 acts."

The last quotation is at such variance.

some of the defendants, or whether the Junkin act repealed both the 187 and 187 acts."

The last quotation is at such variance with the syllabus quoted and the import of the body of the opinion that we respectfully urge the opinion should be modified so as to express a clear and consistent conclusion on the subject.

The condition of affairs presented by this case is peculiar. Five different anti-trust laws are upon the statute books of this state. No one of them refers to any of the others, and they were passed at different times. All if them provide penalties. These penalties were ensited for the public good. The legislature intended that they should be used in repressing the trust evil, and certainly they ought to be used, and used freely for that purpose. But in the present chaotic condition of our statutes relating to trusts, who can say in advance of a decision of this court what penalties are enforceable? The question ought to be decided and, having been exhaustively discussed by all parties, it ought, we think, in the interest of public good requires it. The questions argued were large questions. They concerned the welfare of the whole people and we respectfully submit that the state had a right to expect from this court—one of its own agencies—an unequivocal determination of them. The propriety and public utility of such a decision is beyond question. Before the decision in this case was rendered, criminal prosecutions under the anti-trust statutes were of doubtful propriety; they are even more doubtful now. The decision does not clarify; it obscures.

Brown is Not Satisfied.

Attorney General Brown this afternoon Brown is Not Satisfied.

Attorney General Brown this afternoon filed with the supreme court a brief in support of his motion for a rehearing in the case wherein Governor Mickey, as chairman of the State Board of Equalization. sought by mandamus to compel the county clerk of Douglas county to include the April 1, and would sail from New York value of the reserve fund of the Woodmen | April 14. of the World and the Woodmen Circle in the assessment of the property of the orders. The court held mandamus was not the proper procedure, though it did not pass upon the question of the assessment of the reserve fund. The legal department contends mandamus was the proper procedure, though it did not pass upon the question of the assessment of the reserve fund. The legal department contends mandamus was the proper procedure by which to compel an officer to do his duty, eral Brown says in conclusion: This is certainly the correct rule and has often been invoked and applied in this state. If it is now abandoned capricious and unworthy taxing officers will impose intolerable burdens on the state and make the collection of revenue next to impossi-

The janitor reported to Eaton and the lights were not turned on. Today, however, gas was turned on full blast and the halls were as light as could be expected under the circumstances. Whether a conference was held on the matter cannot be verified.

Douglas Man Must Be Shown. Auditor Searle received a letter this morning from a party in Douglas county who had sent in a voucher for a grey wolf bounty which the auditor had turned down. The letter desired to know of the auditor by what authority he went behind the voucher, and as the slayer of the wolf had satisfied the county clerk he demanded to know what business it was of the auditor. In the meantime the auditor has made arrangements with a local tannery to get hold of a grey wolf scalp to keep on exhibition in his office for comparison with those alleged grey wolf scalps likely to be Judge Raper was appointed by Governor Mickey to fill a vacancy and will likely be a candidate for election this fall.

Dorgan Says Coal Will Be Scarce. John Dorgan of the Whitebreast Coal company this morning told the members of the State Board of Purchase and Supplies coal would shortly be a scarce commodity and suggested that if the board did not have sufficient on hand at the various state institutions, it had better get busy at once and do some more buying.

The contract to furnish the institutions with coal for the present quarter expires April 1 and Mr. Dorgan told the board that after that date coal might be hard to get at any price. The board, acting upon the suggestion, promptly ordered the state superintendents to prepare for an emergency and hustle in all the coal their bins would hold and if it could not be secured at the present contract price to pay a little more for it. Dorgan told the board he had been notified that coal would be hard to get very shortly, as the strike in the east seemed to be almost certain.
