SENATORS DISCUSS RATE BILL

Extended Speeches by Messrs. McCreary, and Heyburn.

TEXAS MAN REPLIES TO CRITICS

He contends that Congress has Absolute Right to Prescribe Limitations of Courts It Creates.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—There were three speeches on the railroad rate bill in the senate today. Messrs. McCreary, Bailey and Heyburn were the orators. Mr. McCreary announced his determination to vote for the bill, whether amended or not.

Mr. Heyburn advocated a review provision, but expressed the opinion that even if it were omitted no person could be deprived of his right of admission to the courts.

The senate today adopted a resolution, by Mr. Handshew, directing the secretary of the interior to furnish on the first Monday in December, 1906, the names of persons and firms or corporations who have relinquished to the United States land in the vicinity of forest reservations.

Mr. McCreary was the first speaker on the house railroad rate bill. The measure was called up by Mr. Tillman at 12:05 o'clock. Notice was given by Mr. Bailey that he would speak on the bill, following Mr. McCreary.

The right of the interstate commerce commission to fix railroad rates was defended by Mr. McCreary and he argued that the rate fixed should remain in effect unless reversed by the court of review. He did not agree with the belief of some that the bill was unconstitutional.

Mr. Bailey States His Position. Reading from an account of the democratic senator's luncheon at the home of Mr. Newlands yesterday, published in a Washington paper today, Mr. Bailey said that the criticism of his bill was the exact opposite of what had taken place. The report referred to said that a majority of those present were against his proposed amendment. He then proceeded with a legal discussion of his position and declared that he had been upheld in his contention by the supreme court of the United States.

More than a dozen decisions from the fourth Dallas to the 16th United States, he said, proved the power of congress to control the jurisdiction of the equity procedure as well as the legal proceedings in the federal courts. Mr. Bailey said especially stress upon the contention that congress may prescribe the jurisdiction of the subordinate courts, which it creates. Mr. Bailey declared that all he was contending for was to have the rates fixed by the commission stand until finally adjudicated by the court, because he believed it might be assumed that any rate established by that body would be more just than the rates of the railroad companies, the one distinguished and the other interested.

"I appeal to you to say which is more apt to be right. If you give your voice to that which I believe is wrong, I demand the interest of the people that it stands until a final decree to the contrary is recorded."

"Are we to understand that the senator favors a final review by the courts?" Mr. Aldrich asked.

"I do," replied Mr. Bailey. "I have never seen of the bill which I would like to have done by the courts of the country in any person, corporate or otherwise. I favor a fair and impartial proceeding. What I contend for is that the courts should not have the power to set aside findings without thorough inquiry."

He said that he did not have confidence in all the judges on the federal bench.

Mr. Heyburn expressed confidence that the present effort would result in legislation to fix rates, but said it was necessary to pursue measures that would stand the tests of the courts. He did not believe that any of the commission could be made final because Mr. Bailey had demanded the interest of all people, but he saw no objection to the insertion of a provision for the review by the courts of the findings of the commission.

He declared that the existing

More Fees for Attending Court.

Forest Fires Controlled. BELLINGHAM, Wash., March 19.—Forest fires that yesterday destroyed the village and mill at Northwood, leaving thirty families destitute, and threatened the town of Lynden, were cleared under control today. A large force of men battled with the flames last night until Lynden was quit of danger.

THE EASY OIL. Scott's Emulsion is "the easy oil"—easy to take, easy in action. Its use insures deliverance from the griping and nauseating sensation peculiar to the raw oil. Nobody who has any regard for the stomach thinks of taking cod liver oil in the old way when Scott's Emulsion is to be had.

It is equally certain that no one whose health is properly regarded will accept a cheap emulsion or alcoholic substitute for Scott's Emulsion. It fulfills every mission of cod liver oil and more.

Minor Matters at Capital. The senate today passed Senator Burkett's bill appropriating $5,000 for a fish culture station in Nebraska, the location of which is left to the commissioner of fisheries.

Representative Burke today introduced a bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Missouri river between Walworth and Dewey counties, S. D. The proposed bridge is to be constructed by the state of Nebraska.

THIRTY CARS OF HEATERS

Trial of Radiators Coming in One Shipment on the Eve of Spring.

On the eve of spring, the last day of the calendar season of winter, the American Radiator company will bring into Omaha a trial of radiators, thirty-five cars.

The trial of radiators, thirty-five cars, this gigantic shipment comes from the manufacturing plant at Litchfield, Ill., one of its best plants. The trial is on the Washburn and, if making schedule time will reach Omaha sometime this afternoon.

Within the last year or two Omaha has developed into one of the big centers of the west in the distribution of this line of goods, being only one of the many lines along which it has made great progress as a wholesale center.

The trade of the American Radiator company attained such proportions as to necessitate the building of larger quarters, and with the general tide of expansion the company erected a large structure on South Tenth street, which it occupies exclusively.

Jimmy Fixed It. A persevering youth had called several times at the home of a young lady, to be met each time with a "not at home." Upon one occasion he has seen her go in just before he reached the gate. His ring was answered by her small brother. "Jimmy, I'd like to see your sister," the determined young man said. "She ain't at home," Jimmy said, surveying him disdainfully. "But I just saw her come in," the youth protested. "Can't help that. Tell you what I'll do, though," Jimmy said, condescendingly. "You give me your pack of cigarettes, and I'll send her down."

"You are too young to smoke, Jimmy." "Do I get 'em?" Jimmy said, aggressively, half closing the door. "Here they are," was the conciliating reply, and the box was handed over. Leaving the visitor seated in the parlor, Jimmy disappeared, to return in a few minutes. "She'll be down soon," he said. "How did you work that, Jimmy?" the youth inquired. "The boy surveyed him with an amused grin. "Aw, I told her it was the fellow who's engaged to her," he said—Harper's Weekly.
