acting chief engineer; William H. Hill and J. Waldo Smith, now chief engineer of the new municipal water commission—New York Herald.

Medieval Politics. Finley Acker, one of the leaders of reform in Philadelphia, said the other day...

"From time immemorial there has been room for reformation in town councils. In a medieval German town it says that the parish council of a small village met one evening to discuss certain improvements in the water supply. In this debate the town's one watchman entered the room...

quietly, placed in a corner his lantern and opened and sat down to listen to the argument. Suddenly a councilman turned to him fiercely.

"Fritz, he cried, 'what are you doing here? Who is to watch that nothing is stolen in the village?'"

"Fritz, with an easy smile, answered: 'Who is there to steal? We are all here.'" —New York Tribune.
