tain point in legal proceedings to be started by the National Liquor Dealers' association in an attempt to overthrow the temperance legislation enacted during the session just closed. The statement was made today by Attorney Dudley Wayne of the Brewers' exchange of this city. The attacking brief will consist of allegations that Lieutenant Governor Harris suppressed a free and full discussion in the senate when he declared the Aikin bill passed, and the local option bill by its provisions prevents free expression by the elective franchise. The protesting brief will be an attack or overything accomplished by the legislature, including the Cincinnati investigating committee and the appropriation bills. Mr. Wayne claims that the adoption last fail of the constitutional amendment providing for the election of all state officers in even numbered years operated to extend the term of the last session members and there should be an election in 1996, the present session, according to his statement, having no standing. The validity of the election of officers in every county and even the administration of Governor Pattison will be involved. DEATH RECORD.
