BENSON PROMISED SUPPORT

informed by Broatch and Some of His Lieutenants of Their Co-Operation in Election.

W. J. Broatch has called up E. A. Benson over the telephone and told him he would have his support in the election cor test. Thursday Jim Allan, Bob Houghton and Charley Youngers, three of Broatch's most prominent lieutenants, lunched with Mr. Benson and promised their unswerving allegiance during the campaign.

Chairman Cowell, it is understood, will call the new republican city committee together Saturday afternoon for the purpose of organizing. The Benson leaders are anxious to have a chairman, who will be acceptable to all of the factions and James H. Adams, assistant city attorney during Moores second term, is the man | most frequently mentioned. W. G. Shriver, a real estate man, has been talked of, also, A. H. Burnett is not regarded a probable candidate in this connection, as he has been too closely identified with the Fontanelle faction.

HENNINGS GETS OUT SOON Will Turn Over His Office to Fink and Engage in Private Business.

City Treasurer Hennings says he will turn over the office to County Treasurer Funk probably within a few days or as soon as his afforneys say the the time is at hand. He does not propose to make any resistance to the proceeding. The charter provides he shall serve out his term and subject to duties imposed by the mayor and council, but he may resign as soon as he has transferred the books and cash to the county treasurer. Of this he is not certain. He is making arrangements to return to private business, but is not ready to make any announcements at present.

IDEALISM OF THE CHRIST

Subject of Christian Science Lecture by Rev. Arthur B. Vosburgh.

SPEAKER FROM ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

Relterates Fact that Mary Baker's Discovery of the Science Came About Through Her Own Healing.

"The Idealism of Jesus" was the subject of an address on Christian science by Rev. Arthur R. Vesburgh, C. S. B. of Rochester, N. Y., at the Boyd theater last night. Rev. Mr. Vosburgh is a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship of the First Church of Christ (Scientist) Boston.

Taking up the kingdom of heaven as the first part of his subject, the speaker said:

Jesus came to establish a kingdom—a kingdom which He called the kingdom of heaven, or the kingdom of God. In this kingdom there is to be no place for evil; in it there will be found no sorrow, no sickness, no sin, no death. It presents the very acme of possible or conceivable good. Its ideal is so high that it has seemed to be beyond any possibility of present or prospective attainment, and because of this it has come to be held that the entrance to this kingdom is beyond the grave, that it is a paradise which we must die to reach.

But Jesus' assurance is that this kingdom of heaven is "at hand." John the Baptist's message was that "The kingdom of heaven is at hand." and Jesus has taught His followers to pray: "Thy kingdom come; thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven." We cannot conceive that Jesus woul teach His believers to pray for what never would be and in the nature of things never could be attained, and we are assured that this kingdom of heaven is to be established upon earth among men.

Discovery and Discoverer.

It is a matter of common knowledge that Mary Baker Eddy is the discoverer of Christian Science, and that this discovery came about through her own bealing. But all her previous experience had been preparing her for this revealing, and her healing—to quote her own words—was only 'the falling apple" which led her "to the discovery of how to be well" herself and "how to make others so." (Retrospection and Introspection.) Following this, during three years of retirement, by carnest seeking, by devoted study of the scriptures, by practical demonstration of the truth already gained, she reached a definite understanding of the divine science which interprets and demonstrates Christianity. In this science nothing is added to or taken from the Christian ideal, but rather is that ideal made possible and practicable.

It is evident that Jesus' point of view Discovery and Discoverer.

but rather is that ideal made possible and practicable.

It is evident that Jesus' point of view was totally different from that of the world. Consider this man who turned water into wine, who walked the wave, who healed the sick and raised the dead, and who finally passed hence, not through the gateway of death, but through the unfolding portals of eternal life. What would God's universe seem to us to be could we secure His insight and gain His point of view? Real Power Back of Miracles.

Real Power Back of Miracles.

For what must have been Jesus' understanding of the real power that lies back of chemical activity and chemical affinity, when He turned water into wine, and what must have been His relation to the elements and forces about Him when He stilled the storm and walked upon the waves? What must have been the conception of the real nature of Life of one who could heal the sick and raise the dead? And what was His understanding of the law of Mind when with a spoken word or an unuttered thought He restored the lunatic and demoniac to rational poise and power? All these experiences point to only one conclusion—that the Master understood that the government of the universe is constituted in spiritual power and spiritual law. But this is only snother way of saying that the universe in its real nature is spifitual and not material, and here Christian Science takes its stand. This science holds that every object in God's creation is an expression of God's thought; that when the scriptures say that the "worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear," we are to understand that the real substance of what has been made is God's thought and that we shall under-Christian Science has won the conviction of its followers because it has brought practical proof. It is not merely a philoso-Christian Science has won the conviction of its followers because it has brought practical proof. It is not merely a philosophy bringing more or less plausible and beautiful theories; it is not merely another creed supported by more or less convincing quotations of the scriptures; it is a doctrine that proves its faith by its work. Every Christian Scientist has had multiplied experiences of its power in healing sickness, in destroying sin, in bringing harmony out of discord, in proving that good can overcome evil in every experience of life. Christian Science is in its strictest sense scientific, because it has for its foundation a present practical experience whose rational interpretation reveals a divine principle and a spiritual law that can be practically verified.

In following this line of light the Christian Scientist has acknowledged that "As adherents of truth we take the inspired word of the Bible as our sufficient guide to eternal life." (Science and Health, page 47.) Hand in hand with the Bible—not as supplementing its meaning—is the text book of Christian Science. "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures." whose author is Rev. Mary Baker Eddy. The Christian Scientist has increasing and unreserved confidence in these two books, because he has thus far proven them safe guides upon the way and this gives him assurance that they will be safe guides to the end. He believes that the light which their message has brought, with its witness of unfolding health, harmony, holiness, will grow brighter and brighter unto the perfect day. He brings his supreme allegiance, which is his reasonable service, to the Christian that Jesus taught and demonstrated is to be established the kingdom of heaven on earth, and who through evil report and good report has stood faithful and obedient to the heavenly vision in declaring the truth as she has received it.

OUR LETTER BOX.

OMAHA, April 6.-To the Editor of The Bee: As it will be impossible to see all my friends sooner to thank them for standing by me in the recent "mixup" for the city council, I desire in this public manner to express my appreciation of the support of my neighbors and acquaintances all over the city. Through their loyalty I was able to carry my home precinct, and the Twelfth ward, in which I live, and the second place in the vote at large.

These were carried in the face of a most bitter struggle in which deceif, lies and beld last fall and under the same rules. slander were resorted to by unprincipled men who were paid for practicing and circulating them out of a large campaign slush fund raised for that purpose from their names with a petition signed by well known sources. These were only too successful in parts of the city where I am not known. JARED J. SMITH.

HELD UP IN OMAHA. Pedestrians passing along Seventeenth street at the north edge of the business district in the past few days have noticed a little girl, scarcely 9 years old, poorly lagreed to approvice and carrying a tin dishpan filled with articles apparently from a grocery. The passerby is accosted with:

"You haven't seen anything of two pennies, have you?"

Two little inquiring eyes with mournful expression picture mutely to the stranger a serious time for the child when she arrives home and confesses her carelessness.

"Did you lose two cents?" asks the passerby sympathizingly.

"Yes," sighs the sorrowful little girl as she continues digging in the snow with the toe of her torn shoes.

Invariably the stranger, touched with appeal, opens up his heart and his pocketbook and compensates her several times over for her loss. over for her loss.

Then the little girl trudges on a block or so until her sympathizer is out of sight, then she solemnly confides her loss to the next good samaritan.

ENEMY OF THE PRIMARY LAW

Burgess Thinks it Breeds Corruption and Therefore Prefers Old Convention System.

Secretary Burgess of the Board of Education does not think the Dodge primary law has proven a good thing.

"The result the first time it was tried in Omaha politics shows a candidate has no chance for election unless he is backed by a strong organization or has been in office and is widely and favorably known. I think its practice will result in building up some of the worst machines of the Tam many hall type ever known in Omaha When the next primary rolls around you will see air-tight organizations in the field capable of exerting concentrated power and capable of collecting huge amounts of money. I prefer the old convention system and believe it is more representative and less likely to promote corrupt politics.
