

BANKS INDEX OF GOOD TIMES

Financial Statements Show Over Six Million Gain in Yearly Deposit.

REPORT MADE TO THE COMPTROLLER

Increase is More Than Twenty Per Cent and Indicates General Advancement in All Lines of Business of State.

Table showing deposits of Omaha national banks for March 1906 and April 1906, with increases in deposits, loans, and discounts.

Statements of the Omaha national banks issued for the close of business April 6 at the call of the comptroller of the currency show the encouraging increase of $4,192,279.70 in deposits over those of March 14, 1906.

In making a comparison with the statement of January 29, 1906, an increase is shown in deposits of $23,546.67 and an increase in loans and discounts of $1,485,229.70.

The showing over the 1905 statements is one that ought to make everybody feel good, said William E. Rhodes, assistant cashier of the United States National bank.

Total deposits are not an indication of local conditions for their volume fluctuates widely as the country banks need money.

The condition of Omaha's business is shown more clearly by the individual deposits, which were approximately $14,718,000 at the call of March 14, 1906, and $19,486,000 at the call of April 6, 1906.

Comparison of Calls. Table showing comparison of call of April 6, 1906, with the corresponding call of 1905, March 14, and with the call of January 29, 1906.

DEPOSITS. Table showing deposits for April 6, 1906, compared with 1905, March 14, and January 29, 1906.

LOANS AND DISCOUNTS. Table showing loans and discounts for April 6, 1906, compared with 1905, March 14, and January 29, 1906.

CASH AND SIGHT EXCHANGE. Table showing cash and sight exchange for April 6, 1906, compared with 1905, March 14, and January 29, 1906.

TOTAL RESOURCES. Table showing total resources for April 6, 1906, compared with 1905, March 14, and January 29, 1906.

No figures are given for 1905 for the United States National, for the reason that it did not exist in its present identity at the time of the March call. It was organized in May by the consolidation of the United States National, United National and Commercial National.

POLICE ON THE WATER WAGON

Members of Department Climb in When They Reach Hudson's Touching Appeal.

A temperance crusade is on in the police department. While it is no secret that several of the patrolmen, detectives and officers of the force have been total abstainers for years, others are now falling in line and are shunning the golden elixir of life.

The upshot of the present agitation among the ranks was caused by a little heart-to-heart note written by Patrolman Hudson to the younger members of the force in particular and all his comrades in general.

Intemperance cuts down youth in its vigor, maimed in its strength and old age in its weakness. It betrays the dearest mother, extinguishes affection, blights confidence and brings mourning age to its grave.

Patrolman Hudson's note was left on Captain Mostyn's desk and was read to the three shifts of patrolmen, as well as to the squad of detectives.

"There is no question that the best men on the force are those who do not drink," stated Chief of Police Donahue. "While I

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL

DREAMS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private life, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise sick women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T. C. Willadsen of Manning, Ia. She writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady, and spent lots of money in medicines, but it all failed to do me any good. I had female trouble and would daily have fainting spells, bearing-down pains, and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote to you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions just what to do, and also commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. If it were not for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

has nothing to say about a man who can take one drink and stop at that, yet it cannot be gained that the man who takes one drink will take the second time only and the third some other time. I only hope all my men would abstain totally from intoxicating drink.

There is a great demand for men who at all times have clear brains and their wits about them, and the police department is no exception to the rule.

Announcements of the Theater. Commencing next Sunday matinee at the Regent theater as a special attraction, Nat M. Willis, the well known comedian, in "The Duke of Duluth," which is an operatic farce, written and staged under the personal direction of the author, George H. Broadhead, who has become widely known through his successful farces, "Why Smith Left Home," "The Wrong Mr. Wright," etc.

Chauncy Olcott will be seen at a matinee and evening performance at the Boyd theater today, presenting his season's success, "Edmund Burke." This will end the activity of the Boyd for the current week, but next week will usher in another season of splendid entertainment at the theater, beginning with Channing Pollock's hit, "The Little Grey Lady," which is being produced under the direction of Mr. James K. Hackett.

The Burwood is seeing large attendance this week, "Dr. Bill" proving an immense hit. The members of the Woodward Stock company have a special aptitude for this class of play and are making the piece go with a snap. The next matinee will be on Thursday afternoon.

At the Orpheum this week full houses are the rule. The bill on has a number of comedy features that create genuine enthusiasm, and the four Piccolo midgets seem to amuse everybody. These little men are very remarkable performers, that which they accomplish being almost beyond belief. As acrobats they are the peers of the leading headliners and show themselves to be versatile with other accomplishments.

The Burwood business shows no abatement and last week the factory sent out close to 1,700 machines, exceeding all previous shipping records.

For the last seven months overtime has been necessary at the Illinois plant to meet the demands for new models. The state of the typewriter industry is a very sure index of general business conditions and everything points to 1906 as the banner year of the premier writing machine which works outwards, outwards and outwards all others.

A Good Word for Omaha. The Omaha National bank is sending to its correspondents a neatly printed statement of its condition on April 6.

This statement shows not only the satisfactory condition of the bank, but is unique in that there is absolutely nothing on the cover to indicate that it is issued by the Omaha National bank or that it is a bank statement.

They are availing themselves of the opportunity, too frequently ignored by Omaha business houses, to tell their correspondents of Omaha's prosperity.

A few figures are given relating to the volume of Omaha's business and these figures, it is safe to say, would surprise a large proportion of the citizens of Omaha. The practice of advertising Omaha at every opportunity cannot be commended too strongly, and the Omaha National bank is to be congratulated on its present method of issuing its statement.

TEAMS INCREASE ZEAL AND RESULTS

Donations for Building Are Coming from as Far South as Mexico and West as California.

Two $1,000-subscriptions from Mrs. W. W. Marsh and "A Friend," $200 from General John C. Cowin, $50 from A. C. Turner, a former secretary of the Central Union of Men's Christian Association and now stationed in Mexico, and three smaller subscriptions from former Omaha girls now living in California were among the encouraging contributions to the Young Women's Christian association building fund Tuesday.

The teams have redoubled their efforts which have resulted in some change on the team list. Miss Crandall's team has moved up from the foot and Young Hood's team, still at the head, has raised over $2,000.

The siren whistle that promised to announce every additional $1,000 is still out of use, but it is hoped it will be in working order by the middle of the week. The women of the Presbyterian church are making elaborate preparations to serve a hot 50-cent dinner Friday from 11:30 to 1:30 in the church parlors at Seventeenth and Dodge streets and are diligently spreading the fact among the business men and women who take the noon meal down town, that the proceeds of the dinner go to the Young Women's Christian association.

WORK ON THAT MOTOR ROAD Construction at This End Will Begin at Once, Says Peter E. Her.

"Work will be begun on the Omaha, Lincoln & Beatrice railroad at this end at once and all the forces of the road will be utilized in building from this end," said P. E. Her at his office Tuesday morning. "Mr. Herd is now letting contracts for the grading and it is planned to work from this end as fast as possible. We have ten and a half miles already built from the other end and will concentrate our forces at this end, so as to be completed as far as Dream City, at least, by July 1."

Mr. Robinson of Akron, O., one of the financial backers of the road, has been in the city for some time and has asked the street railway company for terms for the use of the tracks of that company from some point to the center of the city. Mr. Robinson has said these terms were satisfactory, but is not yet in a position to sign a contract.

This company bought considerable land west of South Omaha for right-of-way purposes, but the exact route of the road has never been announced. The company which is to build the amusement enterprise at Dream City on the site of Barry Mills has spent considerable time and money in promoting the scheme, but little has been heard of it late.

CARMEN FOR EXCLUSION ACT

Street Railway Union Petitions Senators and Kennedy Not to Alter Law Excluding Chinese.

At the meeting of the Street Railway Employees union Tuesday a resolution was passed condemning any tampering with the Chinese exclusion act as it now exists. A copy of the resolution was sent to Senators Millard and Burkett and to Congressmen Kennedy.

By the association heretofore named I am instructed to forward to you the following resolutions:

Whereas, There is now pending in the congress of the United States, House Bill 1267, otherwise known as the Foster bill, which proposes to modify the present Chinese exclusion act and to open the way to the importation of Chinese, which means in the end not only the lowering of our standard of living, but the bringing of our civilization.

Therefore, on the part of Division 28 of the City of Omaha, we hereby request you as our representative in congress to oppose any such measure and to insist upon the maintenance of the present Chinese exclusion act and the strict carrying out of the same by the government of the United States.

INDIAN LIQUOR CASES ON TAB

Several Important Trials of the Law Docketed Before the Federal Court.

The trial docket of the United States district court for the May term will include a large number Indian liquor cases, in which indictments will be tried for introducing liquor onto the Indian reservation, providing the United States supreme court will deny the application for a writ of habeas corpus in the James Lincoln case.

In this case the question of concurrent jurisdiction arises between the federal and state courts. Lincoln was indicted for taking liquor onto the Indian reservation, and by the government it is claimed that this is in violation of the guardianship and trusteeship laws of the government as bearing upon the case of the Indians. The attorneys for Lincoln hold the opposite view, and base their contention upon the Brewer decision, which gives to Indian allottees of lands the rights of any other citizen and the right to exercise the common functions of a citizen, including the right to absorb as much liquor as he can hold, as well as to absorb it at any point he may feel disposed, be it on an Indian reservation or otherwise.

Lincoln was tried and convicted under the indictment charging him with introducing liquor onto the reservation, and an appeal at once was taken to the United States supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus, and the hearing on this application will be held April 19, at Washington, the interests of the government being looked after by the Department of Justice, and those of the Indian by Thomas L. Sloan. Upon the decision of the supreme court in this case will hinge the disposition of the several cases now pending in the United States district court at Omaha, either for trial or dismissal.

COMPANY IN OLD LOCATION

Opening of New Building Gives Omaha Finest Piano House in West.

Well Known Manufacturer Gives His Views on Success of Schmolzer & Mueller Company.

After a lapse of nearly a year, during which their beautiful piano house has been in the course of erection, the Schmolzer & Mueller Piano company is again at their old address, 1311-1313 Farnam street. Nebraska, and especially Omaha, should be justly proud of this firm for, although it is one of the oldest, having been established since 1860, it is the most progressive and has done more for Omaha in a musical way and contributed more to the progress of the city than most other firms. Their elegant new building being a long last example of this latter statement.

The building stands on a lot 44x132 and is five stories in height, being constructed of brown pressed brick and the interior finished in the most pleasing style. All the interior woodwork is of hard wood, stained green and highly polished, giving a very elaborate effect. There are two elevators, one freight and one passenger. Two show windows face Farnam street, each large enough to accommodate half a dozen pianos. The general store room occupies the entire first floor while the second floor is devoted to an auditorium, wherein music teachers may have an opportunity to give recitals. This feature is a novelty in the piano business and a great advantage to the public.

The third floor is divided into music parlors, elegantly arranged, in which the choicest makes of pianos, which this company represents are displayed. On the next floor parlors are provided, in which the Aeolian and Pianola are displayed and patrons may try their perforated music rolls here before making a purchase. The top floor will be the factory rooms, in which will be manufactured their own make of pianos for sale at this Omaha store, and also their branches in South Omaha, Council Bluffs, Sioux City and Lincoln.

The entire building is so well lighted that stock may be shown as well in the evening as during the day.

Famous Manufacturer Talks. Mr. J. V. Steger, the manufacturer of the famous Steger piano, passed through Omaha Tuesday, and stopped to see Mr. Schmolzer and his building. In speaking of the latter he pronounced it the most complete and largest institution of its kind in the entire west and was emphatic in his statement that Omaha people should be proud of the institution.

Mr. Steger said: "I knew Billy Schmolzer when we were both boys in Southern Germany. I left Schmolzer in Berlin when I was 17 years of age and came to America, eventually drifting to Chicago. Having a practical education in the piano line I engaged in the piano business and today am one of the biggest manufacturers of pianos and ship my product to all parts of the world and have in my employ 2,800 people. A number of years ago I bought Steger, Ill., now a prosperous town of several thousand inhabitants. When Mr. Schmolzer has accomplished by honest methods and a good business head you all know, but it isn't generally known that he came to this country a total stranger with but a few cents in his pockets."

Consumption is a Germ Disease. How Can It Start with a Cold? This is a reasonable question and one that must arise to the mind of almost everyone when the claim is made that consumption starts with a cold. The cold simply prepares the system for the reception and development of germs of that disease, that would not otherwise have found lodgement in it.

They are most likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. That is why a cold should never be neglected. The longer it hangs on the greater the danger. As a quick cure for colds Chamberlain's Cough Remedy can always be relied upon. Its remarkable cures have won for it a world wide reputation and an immense sale. It is pleasant and safe to take.
